The lack of schools in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia one or two decades ago is causing a need for more police, social and relief agencies in California, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Washington today.

The question becomes not one of whether we can afford federal aid to education, but one of whether we can afford doing without it.

ufacturers, and job opportunities might also evolve for those who are interested.

Another very important item on the conference agenda will be the organization of a national association of designers and models. The purpose of this organization, among other things, will be to integrate Negro designers and models into all phases of the fashion world and to present for them a united force whenever and wherever needed. Designers and models from all over the country responded enthusiastically to the call of the Council in this new endeavor for civil and human rights.

Poems Of The Week

MY PLANS

When I grow up
To be a man
I'll search the town over
And do what I can.

I'll go to the zoo
Whenever I choose
I'll walk in the mud
In brand new shoes.

I'll go to the circus
Two days straight
I'll sleep in the morning
And stay up late.

A LITTLE TREE

I know where there's a little tree
Down in the valley where no one can see
Where the wind blows and the sun shines
It's partly green and the other is brown.

It shades all summer and shades all fall
But instead it never gets bald
The top is always covered with brown
Where the animals find a place to lie down.

BY M. L. HARRINGTON

National 4-H Club week was marked by the members of the Junior 4-H Club of the Johnsonville School with an interesting meeting on Tuesday, March 8.

The leaders present at the meeting were Miss M. N. Brown and Miss M. L. Harrington.

The president, Lee Speed, was in charge of the meeting. A program was arranged by the chairman of the program committee, Betty Brinkley. The topics for discussion were: (1) What I can do to enjoy a pleasant evening at home.

(2) What I have made in my 4-H Club to add to the comfort and happiness of my family.

Eighty-six members were present at the meeting.

SCHOOL PATRON — E. C. Jones, one of the most faithful, if not the first, school patron of Caswell County Schools. He is one of Caswell's most prosperous "new" thinking farmers. For Caswell School, he has been the man "beside the road."

From its inception Mr. Jones as strained, bolstered and pulled for Caswell School. His personal truck brought the first H. S. pupils to school . . . and continued to do so for two years. When patrons decided to purchase a school bus to be operated by the state, he donated his truck as down payment. Now president of the Caswell Credit Union, Mr. Jones has served as president of the PTA for years.

On his 200 acre farm near Milton, N. C., he and his sons, Isaiah, E. C. Jones, Jr., and David Jones combine good hard common sense with the newer farming methods that are constantly being introduced and a fruitful fusion results.

CHICAGO WOMAN REACHES CENTURY

CHICAGO (ANP) — Mrs. Indiana Donaldson observed her 100 birthday March 10 in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Rucker. She is one of the few Negroes a century old who have never been in slavery.

Mrs. Donaldson was born of free parents in Davison County, Tenn. She has lived in Chicago 35 years. The other daughter, Mrs. James H. Granberry, held a dinner party and presented her mother with 100 red roses on a birthday cake.

Mrs. Donaldson said she lived so long because of "just good, clean living. I never drank any hard liquor or smoked," she said.

MY ELEPHANT

Here comes my elephant
Swaying along.
With lots of children
All singing a song.

His legs are like leather
Making him wobble about,
He can root up a tree
With his great long snout.

With big great big head
And his big long ears,
He can learn to be good
In a hundred years.

RESIDENT COUNSELOR — Mrs. Ecatrice Broy Josey was recently appointed Resident Counselor for the students of the new Jones Hall at Jacksen College, Jackson, Miss., according to President Jacob L. Reddix. Dr. Harry H. Jones, in whose honor the hall is named, is a graduate of the college and is now serving as a missionary in Liberia, West Africa. — (ANP)

ITS GOTTA GO!

Quicker starting and smoother engine performance in zero weather is assued by a new anti-freeze now in production. The fluid prevents ice from forming in automotive fuel lines. Tests show that it can prevent freezing of as much as 10 ounces of water in 15 gallons of gasoline at temperatures as low as 30 degrees below zero.

GOODBYE, PADLOCK!

Tight fitting refrigerator doors is the aim of a new invention which features permanent magnets in the door frame. The magnets are installed opposite soft-iron armatures inside the sealing gasket. As the door handle is operated, the magnets rotate, which loosens their hold on the armatures.

UNBURNABLE FABRIC — New nylon home furnishing fabrics are available through interior and Co., win approval of New York City Fire Department's Bureau of Standards and Appeals as non-combustible and re-resistant to flash fires. Above, Lt. Alfred E. Gleason (left) inspector, applies flame to a damask. Other Schumacher all-nylon fabrics are available through interior decorations and new patterns are constantly being added to the line.

30 STATES STUDY ANTI-BIAS BILLS

NEW YORK (ANP) — Legislatures in 30 states have measures under consideration which would prohibit by law discrimination against any person on religious, moral or social issues, it was learned here last week. Among the unusually large and varied number of bills before current state legislatures are recommendations of at least 10 governors for enactment of new and stronger laws aimed at racial or religious bias.

Recently the Phoenix Ministerial association endorsed a bill in the Arizona house which provides that facilities of all restaurants, barber shops, public conveyances, theaters and other places of public accommodations and amusement be made available to all persons, regardless of race, color, class or creed. In addition, the association approved a bill which would outlaw segregation of elementary school children by race, class and or creed. A similar measure was passed last week in the Indiana legislature.

On the FEPC front, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oregon and West Virginia legislatures have proposals for the enactment of anti-bias in employment measures. The New York legislators have several anti-bias bills under consideration which would ban bias by fire and casualty-insurance firms and revise and implement existing laws barring discrimination public accommodations.

Among other states getting into the anti-discrimination fight are California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Utah.
