MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS.
$22 TO $900.
For sale by Wm. H. Green

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861.—Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.

Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition with all makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

PIANOS,
GRAND & UPRIGHT.

Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim for their pianos, that they are superior to all others. They recognize the high excellence achieved by other leading makers in the art of piano building, but still claim superiority. This they attribute solely to the remarkable improvement introduced by them in the year 1882, and now known as the "Mason & Hamlin Piano Stringer," by the use of which is secured the greatest possible purity and refinement of tone, together with greatly increased capacity for standing in tune, and other important advantages.

A circular, containing testimonials from three hundred purchasers, musicians and tuners, sent, together with descriptive catalogue, to any applicant.

Pianos and Organs sold for cash or easy payments; also rented.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1888.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C., as second-class matter.

Dr. George Williamson Smith, President of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., is a cool-headed, clear-minded man, in perfect health. It has been his habit during the past winter to walk every evening from his house across a part of the college grounds to his study in Seabury Hall. His footsteps have been dogged by a shadow, and on arriving at his study he would find the figure of a heavily draped female seated on his sofa. His pet dog showed so much terror at the nightly returning apparition that Dr. Smith was finally obliged to give up his visits to his study. He has sent an account of his experience to the American Society for Psychical Research. Not every college president would give up visiting his study for the sake of a pet dog.

New York is going to have another fireproof play house. The partly burned Union Square Theatre is to be razed to the foundation, and an entirely new structure put up in accordance with the strict law concerning the building of theatres. There will be an open space on every side of the reconstructed theatre, the vestibule will extend across the whole width of the building, and there are to be twenty exits, with an aggregate width of one hundred and forty-seven feet. All this will be good news for nervous theatre-goers. A theatre constructed on such principles, and provided with electric lights and means for flooding the stage at a second's notice in case of fire, will be as safe as a building can be made, and no one need hesitate to patronize it through fear of being caught in a fiery furnace.

A time-table of travel and mail service in Central Africa shows that there is not yet cause for serious apprehension as to the fate of Mr. Stanley and his companions. The last letter from Emin Pasha reached London on April 9, and was dated at Wadelai, August 16, 1887. Consequently, it had been seven months and twenty-three days in transit. It was not expected that Mr. Stanley would reach Wadelai before October, and in such a country there are countless chances of delay that might, without threatening the safety of the expedition, prolong the journey by several weeks. Nor is it to be supposed that tidings of Mr. Stanley's arrival will or can be transmitted to us more speedily than Emin Pasha's correspondence has been. Therefore, taking October 1 as the earliest date at which Mr. Stanley could have reached Wadelai, and eight months less a week as the shortest time in which word could be sent back to England, it will be seen that we need not expect to hear from him before the latter part of next month.

The announcement that Chile and the Argentine Republic have concluded a treaty for international railways shows enterprise and good sense in these two countries, which are among the most progressive of South American Republics. Perhaps it is well that they are kept apart by the high barrier of the Andes, and that they face in opposite directions and border upon different oceans, since side by side they would be rivals and might go to war for the mastery, as Chile did with Peru. Indeed, only a few years since, in spite of these difficulties of getting at each other either by land or sea, their relations were strained and hostilities threatened. Of late years practicable passes have been discovered in the Andes between the two countries, and now two railroad lines are being built which will really be transcontinental, making connections between the Atlantic and the Pacific. American skill, enterprise and capital have figured largely in Chile's railroads hitherto, and doubtless will do so in the contracts for the new roads. The Chilian Government owns and manages a great many miles of road, and to private companies which build and run railroads in some cases it furnishes subsidies.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abcess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by the doctors. Am now in the best of health. Try it. Sample bottles free at W. H. Green & Co's Drug Store.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla which is peculiar to itself.

MAY MOONSHINE.

"Do you attend any post, Doctor? You were in the army, were you not?" "Oh, yes, I attend post mortems occasionally."—N. Y. Journal.

The pale face, when his wife is ill,
Buys tonic and elixir;
The Indian, when his squaw is ill,
Buys nothing, but he licks 'er.
—Danville Breeze.

A sentence in an American novel: "He alighted, and tied his horse to a large locust in front of the house," was rendered in a French translation so that he fastened his horse to a huge grasshopper.

Servant (in boarding house): "Ah Mister Dumley, such beautiful ducks came to-day." Dumley (excited): "Ducks! You don't say so, Bridget!" Servant: "Yis, sorr, it's an ile paintin' for the dinin' room."—N. Y. Sun.

Judge (to dude prisoner)—"What a shame for a well dressed, gentlemanly fellow like you to be arrested for yelling on Fifth avenue at 11 o'clock at night! What is your profession?" Dude—"Howling swell." Judge—"Ten dollars."—Tid Bits.

Mother—"What has become of Charlie? I haven't seen him once this morning." Daughter—"He is in Uncle John's room. Uncle John is taking Charlie's photograph by the instantaneous process, and that always takes him three or four hours."—Siftings.

A contemporary asks: "How shall women carry their purses to frustrate thieves?" "Why, carry them empty. Nothing frustrates a thief more than to snatch a woman's purse, after following her half a mile and then find that it contains nothing but a receipe for spiced peaches and a faded photograph of her grandmother."

"This is a queer looking building, isn't it?" he asked, stopping in front of a house on Lafayette square. "Yes, it is quite odd," she replied, evincing much interest. "Is it very old?" "Oh, yes; very, very old. I can remember when—er—er—have you ever noticed, Mr. De Smith, what beautiful streets we have in Washington?"—Washington Critic.

Algy—"Do you think, my love, that your father will consent to our marriage?" Angely—"Of course papa will be very sorry to lose me, darling." Algy—"But I will say to him that, instead of losing a daughter, he will gain a son." Angely—"I wouldn't do that, love, if you really want me. Papa has three such sons living at home now, and he's a little bit touchy on the point."

Were all wise enough to heed this advice in season, a world of suffering would be avoided. The best months in which to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, are

March April May

At no other period is it so much needed everywhere. Liberal terms to agents or commission. Address, prices, etc. Adverse season is the body so much in need of, or so susceptible to the benefit to be derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will be convinced that it is the ideal spring medicine.
