THE WICKEDEST MAN IN AMERICA.

The New Orleans Picayune claims for Tennessee, in contra-distinction to New York, the wickedest man in America, in the person of its notable Governor. The following extract from that paper certainly rivals all the sensational stories in regard to the Infernal Regions, or rather Infernal Alien, of Water, in point of notoriety:

"The New York papers have been of late somewhat boastful of a character named Allen, who, having been ferreted out by an enterprising reporter for the press, and the story of his uncommon career brought to light, has received the title of the 'wickedest man in New York.' We accord to the city certainly unusual advantage in this peculiarity; but while cheerfully admitting Allen's well-earned honors, we believe that we can point out to those interested in such matters, and in rural districts, far away in the mountain region of Tennessee, one who, in the game of wickedness, in its fullest and complete development of thought and action, can beat the New Yorker and give him five points in the game. Should the result be incredulous, we offer ourselves as his guide in the pursuit of knowledge.

"Suppose yourself translated from where you now are to the mountainous region of East Tennessee, and walking eastward from the centre of the town, along a narrow, hilly street in Knoxville, you will soon cross a bridge spanning a brawling stream; and ascending a somewhat precipitous slope, you will perceive an old-fashioned frame house on your left. Mount two or three steps, knock at the door, and when it shall be thrown open ask to see the Governor.—You will be shown into a chamber, and upon a bed or lounge you will perceive a shrivelled human form, spare to almost extreme attenuation, the legs drawn up close to the body, the long, bony arms stretched forth to rest upon the knees, and the brown, skinny fingers formed into a triangle above them. The entire frame is shaking with palsy; the small, eager eyes peering from under heavy brows, and the breath coming with a wheezing, hollow, asthmatic sound up through the throat. This form is that of William G. Brownlow, the present autocrat of Tennessee, and, according to our humble belief, the wickedest man on the continent of America, and, as we also think, a man without a peer in depravity, even in the worst departments of the French bagnes at Brest or Toulon, or the convict settlements for the worst criminals in the English establishment of Norfolk Island.

"Some people believe that Brownlow, from having so long indulged his mind in dwelling upon his political mania, has become insane. This excuse for his cruelty and wanton acts of despotism has been offered for Caligula by some historians. We are not of his opinion; we believe that he is constitutionally brutal, savage, hypocritical, vindictive, and perversely wicked. If mad, there's method in his madness. He gloats with a devilish delight upon the scenes to be enacted under his policy. He has no sympathy with the good and true, but clings lovingly to the bad and the false.

"From his chamber he sends forth his heartless edicts of ruin to all who stand in opposition to his schemes of power. He prays hypocritically at one moment, and the next coughs up imprecations, threatenings, and vengeance against the best people in the State. He issued to have the congenital mark of a snake upon his body; and it may well be, that like Holmes' unfortunate heroine, Elsie Venner, he came into the world with his human tainted by a mixture of the serpent nature. He certainly looks like a snake, with his livid, leaden hued cheeks, and his small, piercing eyes. This fact, if true, may account for his malignant, devilish conduct. For deliberate, fiendish, unrelenting wickedness, we think that present and future historians will pronounce him first among his peers, before whom the New York man will shrink into comparative innocence. He boasts of having organized hell in Tennessee, and if so, no one ought to dispute his claims to the first place in his newly established earthly pandemonium."

Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.

The South and the Presidential Election—Arms for the Negroes—Object of the September Session—Political News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.

Major General Howard has for some time been upon a tour in the Southern States, looking into the operations of the Freedmen's Bureau down there, and upon his return the radical carpet-baggers affect to believe that such a report will be made of the condition of affairs in the South as will certainly secure a September session of Congress. Certain parties here profess to have already received such information from General Howard as will tend to show a "horrible condition of things" in the South; but after inquiry in quarters most likely to be informed, it is ascertained that no report has yet been received. Whatever, therefore, is said up in that subject at this time is manufactured out of the whole cloth. It is beginning to look out that what the carpet baggers now want is that Congress shall, before the elections, enact some law placing arms in the hands of the colored people, contending that they will need them for self protection. The order-loving Southerners of both parties deny that the negroes need these arms for protection, and the only effect of their distribution will be to stir up strife and ill feeling, with the inevitable result of bloodshed.

Hon. Nathaniel Boyden, a representative from North Carolina, ought to be good authority upon this subject, even with the radicals; for although he was elected to Congress as a Conservative, the radicals have recently claimed him as a convert to the support of Grant and Colfax. He utterly repudiates the idea that the negroes require arms for self-protection. In the last days of the last session of Congress, when this subject of arming the blacks was under consideration in the House, Mr. Dawes, of Ohio, but temporarily a carpet-bag representative from North Carolina, made a speech advocating a distribution of the arms. He was replied to by Mr. Boyden, a native of the State, who perfectly understood the negro element and negro character and utterly demolished Mr. Dawes's logic.

The bill failed in the House, for Mr. Boyden's arguments had the desired effect upon the Conservative Republicans. He demonstrated clearly that the result would be strife and disorder, and not peace. The arguments used upon that occasion are as good now as they were then, and the moderate men of the Republican party, who, in their hearts, despise the "carpet baggers," in consequence of the exhibition they made of themselves the short time they were upon the floor of Congress, will not be convinced by such men as Dawes and Hamilton, of Florida, especially when the views of the latter are disproved by the clear statements of Mr. Boyden and others who know the needs of the South better. The "carpet-baggers" must therefore advance some better reason than the necessity for a distribution of arms, before they can persuade thinking Republicans that a September session of Congress is necessary on that ground.

The whole matter of calling Congress together again was committed to Senator Morgan and Gen. Schenck, and unless notice is given by them it is doubtful whether the appeals of the carpet baggers will get enough members here to constitute a quorum in either House. Furthermore, it was clearly understood when Congress adjourned that the September session was provided for solely for the purpose of heading off President Johnson in the event of his taking any step not deemed proper by Radical eyes; and it was intimated by Speaker Colfax himself after the adjournment, and just before he took the cars for the West, that there would be no session unless Mr. Johnson pursued a line of policy which might be deemed inimical to the country, or the Radical party. The question of further action in relation to reconstruction was not taken into the account, for as Mr. Johnson does not seem disposed to do anything which would give Congress an excuse for reassembling, the carpet-baggers ply their last card, which is alleged and imaginary disturbances in the South.

Letters from the West, only thirty within the past forty eight hours, continue cheering intelligence for the friends of Seymour and Blair. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, especially, the Conservatives are thoroughly organized in every city, town and township, and are working with the earnestness of men who seem determined not to suffer defeat. One letter from Southern Illinois says the meetings held there have been all largely attended, and great enthusiasm has been manifested everywhere. The converts from the Republican party are numerous, and the democrats confidently claim the Southern district, now represented by Mr. Rapp. In Missouri the Democrats are making a strong fight, and the State is positively claimed for the Democratic ticket throughout.

COLUMBIAN COLLEGE,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE SESSIONS OF THE SEVERAL Departments open as follows:

The PREPARATORY, September 9th; the COLLEGIATE, September 23d; the THEOLOGICAL, October 7th; the LAW October 14th; and the MEDICAL October 19th.

This College was organized with a reference to the oft urged suggestion of WASHINGTON that a University, at the Federal Metropolis, would tend to the "assimilation of the principles, opinions and manners of our countrymen, by the common education of a portion of the youth from every quarter." Its graduates have verified the expectations of Madison and Monroe, that the facilities of hearing debates in Congress, arguments in the Supreme Court and Lectures from eminent men and of visiting Libraries and Collections in Science, gathered at this centre would foster a comprehensive mental development.

The Preparatory School gives a thorough training for business, and preparation for College. The College proper has eight efficient Professors; all the Chairs being filled. The Theological School has three Professors and Lecturers; the Law School four, and the Medical ten. The expenses are as low as at other Colleges. Number of students the past year, 436. VEGETABLE PILE OINTMENT.

TO THE PUBLIC.

For 25 Years I was sorely afflicted with the Piles. After trying every remedy I could hear of, and failing to receive any benefit, in 1857, I discovered a remedy, purely vegetable, which effected an entire cure, and I have had no return of it.

Anxious to relieve the afflicted and to promote my own benefit, I made public my discovery and had the gratification to know that my remedy cured a large number of persons. My ointment was advertised in the public prints and I met with great success, until the war came on.

By the advice of friends, I have determined again to manufacture the Ointment and offer it for sale. Any number of certificates of its value could be obtained if necessary.

Price of box 1l, and postage, (fifteen cents.) Anyone sending $1 can make arrangements I will put it in the hands of the druggists of the State.
