182 PATIENTS WAITING ADMISSION TO SANATORIUM

Institution Accomodates Only 185

Sanatorium, Sept. 15.—The North Carolina State Sanatorium has beds for only 185 patients. There are 182 tuberculosis persons now on the Sanatorium waiting list. In order to accomodate the persons waiting to be admitted to the Sanatorium practically every patient now at Sanatorium will have to leave before all the persons on the waiting list can be admitted.

Most persons infected with active tuberculosis need at least six months and never less than three to four months of sanatorium treatment. When this fact is taken into consideration it can be easily seen that it will be some months yet before the patients now waiting can be admitted to Sanatorium with the present accommodations.

More space in order that the Sanatorium may receive at as early a date as possible all applicants for treatment, and keep the patients after admission until such a time that the doctors think safe for their release, is badly needed at Sanatorium.

A children's pavilion to take care of at least fifty children patients is much needed and will help to relieve the conditions at Sanatorium. At the present time there are no special provisions for the care of children infected with tuberculosis at the institution.

If patients have to wait so long to be admitted, most of them will be getting worse while they wait and by the time they get in they will be so sick they cannot be cured even by sanatorium treatment.

It is also hoped that all the larger counties will establish sanatoriums of their own so as to help relieve the congestion at the State Sanatorium and so that their people can get to "take the cure" near their own homes.

COTTON MILLS ANNOUNCING RESUMPTION OF FULL TIME CONTRACT

Raleigh, September 15.—According to reports from cotton manufacturing centers, the curtailment program which has been effective among cotton mills is abating and particularly is this true of the Carolinas, said T. W. Chambliss, Director of Information of the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Cooperative Association last night. "The reports show that curtailment is a little less than two-thirds of what it was during the summer months."

"Mills that manufacture sheets, pillow case material and bed spreads are announcing resumption of full time operations with other mills increasing their output. Anderson South Carolina reports full time resumption of many mills that have been running only three days a week. Mills at Greenville and Woodruff, South Carolina are now on full time and Greenville says that it will be only a very short time before all mills in that territory will be on full time.

"One significant fact is that the power records of the Southern Power Company furnishing power for approximatley 5,500,000 spindles, operated by 300 cotton mills, show that the load has increased about nine per cent. Mill men report that market conditions are better and that the mills that are going on full time have orders on hand to be cared for.

OLD HICKORY CHIPS

The drys don't care whether the wets are convinced of the value of Prohibition or not. Their effort is no longer to convince them but to convict them.

Cultivating the Ins.—"I suppose your are familiar with the ins and outs of political life?" "Only the ins," answered Senator Petroleum. "The outs haven't enough influence to make familiarity worth while."

An opportunist is a man who finds the wolf at the door, and appears down-town next day in a new fur coat.

Tom Taggart says: "I am personally wet and politically dry." So are others.

"People need more are", says a headline. "Less on female faces, or a better type," We'd say.

Too Long. A farmer came to town to insert a death announcement. "How much do you charge?" he asked "Ten shillings and inch," was the reply.—"Heavens! He was over six feet high!"

"The rich can take of themselves," says Coolidge. That's not all they can take. A. G. O. P. tarrif, they have found is a big help to taking.

It seems the Germans will eventually succeeded in borrowing from the world what they started out to take from it.

The Democrats have the best looking presidential nominee. That helps with the women voters.

As we understand the German position, the Germans are perfectly willing to adopt the Dawes plan if the Dawes plan will adopt the Germans.

The people now find that they can keep cool without Coolidge.
