Rev. Jones Takes 3rd in Second Annual Contest

The Rev. John R. Dungee, of Henderson who led every week after the first in the Carolina Times second annual Ministers Contest, captured the grand prize in the contest this week.

Rev. Dungee will get a free round trip to the holy land for his first place finish.

Second prize in the contest was won by the Rev. Alexander D Moseley, of Durham, and Rev. John H. Jones, of Danville, picked up the third prize.

Results of the contest were announced early Thursday as an independent auditing committee, headed by William J. Walker Durham accountant, verified the contest results.

Finishing in the top ten, in order, were the following:

The Reverends J. C. Harris, Statesville; T. H. Murphy, Henderson; Kermit DeGraffenreid, Pittsboro; W. T. Bigelow, Apex; A. W. [illegible] Durham; J. R. Manley, Chap[illegible]; and I. W. Choate, Durh[illegible]

Rev. Walter Yarborough, of Franklinton, and Rev. R. L. Speaks, of Durham, came in 11th and 12th, respectively.

Rev. Dungee, pastor of Cotton Mem. Presybterian Church, amassed more than 2 million vote margin to win the grand prize. He jumped into the lead in the second week of the contest and was never headed.

Although he was pressed at several points in the six weeks contest by Rev. Moseley and Rev. Jones, he finished with a rush totalling 8,051,500 votes.

Rev. Moseley, pastor of Mt Gilead Baptist Church of Durham will get a free round trip to Bermuda for his second place finish A relative newcomer to Durham, Rev. Moseley started slowly and moved up to second place at the half way mark. He remained in second until the end, barely nosing out Rev. Jones with less than 300,000 votes.

Rev. Moseley's final total was 6,337,500 while Rev. Jones finished with 6,045,500.

Reverend Harris and Murphy, who finished fourth and fifth, respectively, waged a hot race for one of the top three spots but failed to pick up enough points in the final weeks to move up. Both maintained fourth and fifth positions in the contest throughout the sixth weeks.

Rev. Bigelow, who was an early leader, fell behind midway in the contest and wound up in seventh

This was the second year of the Ministers Popularity Contest. The Rev. James A. Brown, of Durham won the grand prize and took a free 17 day trip through southern Europe and the Holy Land last August. Rev. W. L. Williams, of Weldon, won the trip to Bermuda, and the Rev. M. C. Swann, of Durham, won the third prize last year

Kennedy Has Kept Campaign Promises to Negroes, Negro Democratic Leader Asserts in Address

"Today, a hundred years after Emancipation, I believe we stand on the threshold of a new era of liberty in America,' Louis Martin, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told an audience at North Carolina College Friday.

He said also that President John F. Kennedy has kept his 1960 campaign promise to open the doors of the White House and the federal government to all Americans and to place qualified Negroes in positions of national responsibility.

Addressing the 28th annual meeting of the Association of Social Science Teachers, Martin was the principal speaker at an assembly which included welcome remarks by Durham Mayor E. J. Evans and NCC President Alfonso Elder. His subject (and the conference theme) was, "The Emancipation Proclamation: 100 Years After.'

Martin discussed three periods in the century-long struggle of Negroes for full citizenship righs — the period from 1865 to 1875, in which efforts at Reconstruction brought Negroes the right to vote and some measure of participation in the South's political power structure; the period characterized by the so-called Hayes-Tilden 'deal,' which led to withdrawal of federal troops in 1877 and caused the collapse of Reconstruction governments; and a period, beginning in 1890, which saw the complete disfranchisement of Negroes.

Mentioning 20 or more Negroes from the South who served in the U. S. House and Senate, he said; "As we enter the 20th century, it is obvious that by now the Negro had climbed the hill, had taken a look at the promised land, and had been sent sprawling back down again.

The rebound began, he said, with World War I, continued through the depression following World War II, which he described as a social force capable of shaking the whole society and serving to crumble the mores and customs conditioning social behavior. "Finally,' he said, "the Korean conflict helped to ac-

Parents Protest Split Shifts at Durham School

Some 400 parents of the East End community voted Wednesday night to keep their children out of fire damaged East End school.

The action came at a special meeting at the Mickle Community Center called by the East End Betterment League to consider a course to pursue in the school crisis.

More than 700 elementary school children assigned to East End have been attending double sessions in the undamaged section of the school since a $500,000 fire last week left the main part of the building a gutted hull.

But community residents voiced a strong protest to the plan at its announcement and urged the board to reconsider the move Wednesday night's action was a part of this protest.

The motion to boycott the school received unanimous approval from the gathering which crowded the Community Center. The meeting was presided over by Reverend A. D. Moseley, pastor of Mt. Gilead Baptist Church, and John L. Holloway, chairman of the Betterment League.

In addition to the boycott action, the parents adopted a position to be presented to the board at its regular meeting Monday hight asking it to make other arrangements for accommodating

Picket Lines are Crossed, Boycott Group Complains

The boycott of a selected group of downtown Durham stores continued this week with the list of stores under sanction remaining unchanged.

Targets of the boycott are Sears, Walgreen's, Robbins, Thom McAn and Royal Clothing Co.

The action is being sponsored by the Durham NAACP and CORE. Spokesmen for the organizations complained this week that Negroes are violating picket lines at Sears, Walgreen Drug Store and Roscoe-Griffin.

"They are crossing the lines as if we weren't there," one member of the group said.

In addition to picketing, the groups have passed out leaflets explaining the reason for the action and urging support for their boycott.

The action seeks to secure wider employment for Negroes in the Durham area.

Faison was captured Sunday afternoon after he was reported seen lying beside a 'hogpen' in East Durham section of the city.

Witnesses to the fatal shootings early Sunday morning reported that Faison shot and killed Mrs. Eatmon and Davis in an apparent drunken rage.

Mrs. Pearl Wyche, 31 and Mrs. Annie Regan, 50, roomers at the Eatmon home, were quoted by police as saying that Fasion had been drinking and came into the house and started shooting, first at Davis then at Mrs. Eatmon.

The shooting took place around 2 a. m. Sunday. Police say Faison used a .22 calibre automatic rifle. After shooting Mrs. Eatmon and Davis, Faison smashed Davis over the head with the stock of the rifle.

Bish. Spottswood To Keynote C-R Rally Sunday

RALEIGH — According to information given by leaders of the NAACP the "Freedom Rally' scheduled for the J. S. Dorton Arena, in observance of the 100 Anniversary of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation will be the most successful ever held.

Kelley Alexander, State President, announced that Clarence Mitchell, III, son of Clarence Mitchell, Jr., Director of the Washington Bureau of the NAACP, and a member of the Maryland Legislature, will team up with Bishop S. G. Spottswood, Chairman of the Board of Directors, to not only give the audience the facts about the organization, but to show it that 100 years is long enough to wait for first class citizenship.

Alexander pointed out that even though the organization had done fairly well in North Carolina that the surface had not been scratched and that Negroes must be willing to pay to become first class citizens.

The power of the ballot will be explored in every way. The fact that North Carolina has the second largest Negro population in the United States and one of the lowest registered averages in the nation is said to be a reflection on the civil consciousness of the race. The fact that
