PARIS BARBER FLEW HIGH AS DISTINGUISHED DOCTOR

ATHENS, April 18.—(Correspondence Associated Press)—Princess Anastasia, the American wife of Prince Christopher, who was formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York, just before she was recently taken ill, summoned to Athens a fashionable Paris hair dresser to devise a coiffure suitable for wearing a tiara. He arrived at Saloniki on the day the princess' illness reached its critical stage.

Greek authorities at Saloniki mistook him for a distinguished French physician and jumped to the conclusion that he had been summoned as an expert medical advisor. They tried to find a destroyer to carry him to Athens but failed and he had to go by train.

The coiffure maker's reputation as a celebrity had preceded him here and the Americans staying at the best hotel where he registered, treated him with the utmost deference. He was extensively wined and dined but the Americans were disappointed. When they solicitously inquired about the princess' health, the hair-dresser maintained a delphic reserve. His popularity was brief. Some one soon recognized him as a barber and he is no longer a striking figure in the hotel lobbies.

EUREKA! BRITON FOUND WHO CAN LIVE WITHOUT HIS TEA

LONDON, April 19.—(Correspondence Associated Press).—A New York banking concern has demonstrated that an Englishman can do without his afternoon cup of tea—long a debated question.

Officers of the American company decided the half-hour or 45 minutes usually allowed workers in England for tea each afternoon constituted an unnecessary waste. So the word went throughout the company's several large branches in London decreeing tea-less afternoons.

There were many feminine registrations of indignant disapproval. Dissent was no less marked on the part of the men employes of the concern, but assurance was given that the order must be obeyed and the 4 o'clock rattling of teacups ceased.

The company's experts have reported no diminution of efficiency on the part of the tea-bereft typists and clerks. On the contrary they report an increased output of letters and more quickly tallied balance sheets.

Other American companies with large branches in England have been interested observers of the experiment and are considering its adoption.

Let no man presume to give advice to others who has not first given counsel to himself.—Seneca.
