CELESTIA.

Ye who
Have dreamed bright dreams of Heaven, or else
Of Paradise or caught in waking thoughts
A ray of hope through fancy's symetry
And felt the soul o'erflowed to hold the joy
And felt the soul o'erflowed to hold the joy
Brought, wait with me here. It is no dream
Of flitting fancy's wand, but breathes and lives—
Immortal and the tide of thought
And human sympathy.

A golden eye
Lay languid—beautiful amidst the clouds,
Sending earth a sunshine, and,
Responded with the light of waking stars
That [illegible] in rich profusion came
Around the [illegible]
To the departing day. And [illegible]
The beach, were rolled the waves on the rock,
And as it heard its boast repelled them thence
In seeming agony [illegible]
To tre the cold task of winning back
The wild embraces in vain. And near to this,
Where fragrant bud of flowers grew and breathed
See incense [illegible] crept
To pay the kiss of love, and sentinel
The weary hours of night, a lady stood
In meditative attitude. Long King
Their Heaven's hearts, and the [illegible] smiles—
Unshrinking of the [illegible] that stole
Among the folds of her dark hair, her eye
Saw and [illegible] things, but sought within
The wildness of soul's sanctuary. Mark the spell
That lies in the [illegible]—the magic power
To raise the spirit of purity and joy
Or call up demon sorrow [illegible]
The light [illegible] sparkle brighter for them of
The [illegible] eyes of Heaven [illegible]
The jetty lash that's kissing with quick pasion's touch
The cheek bright hue. Ay, some have seen
The dye of crimson [illegible]
The tint—that [illegible]
Deeper [illegible]
The parting of the lips, the locks of the hair
And fresh as [illegible] of apricot,
[illegible]
When [illegible]
Among [illegible]
And [illegible]
The [illegible]
The [illegible]
Again fills the [illegible] upon the pale
Forehead, where [illegible]
Has fallen, mark the [illegible]
Of [illegible] through
The [illegible]
[illegible] Yes. Hopeless, and whence,
[illegible] the waves
Perhaps, [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] and the trees
Of [illegible] felt
The [illegible]
The [illegible] left on her soul
Certainty.

[illegible] Twas that
Of years. Bold hope [illegible] in vain
In bygone [illegible]
With [illegible] Oh who would feel—
Who [illegible] the [illegible] wave,
Until the [illegible] of youth that comes
Battle the hopeful, [illegible]
That [illegible] the spell
Of [illegible]
Wakening [illegible] and [illegible]
An [illegible] smile a fearful [illegible]
His away, and [illegible]—Future!

And as the beach
A great city rose, and with it came the fair,
The beautiful idol realized,
Hoarded, [illegible] worship, watching, hoping—
Yet she, [illegible] not to him.
One absent, yet allied by inward bonds,
Then claimed the hopeful heaving of her soul
As his; and knew the [illegible] joy
For him; the radiant smiles that come upon
Her soul-lit face as his. And he who dreamed
And hoped the dream a fearful joy, sank down
As this beauty of existence passed
Away. He sighed, yet gazing on that form
Deceptively [illegible] promised all in vain,
The word was struck from his soul—he sighed
Another's—yet, God bless him!

Barnes House, March 31 1863. G. W. J.

Just now we learn.—We have had the pleasure of conversing with a Confederate officer who left New York as recently as Saturday last. He was not permitted to hold written or verbal communication with any one, but gathers from the [illegible] press, and especially from hearsay, that the conscription act will not be enforced, and if attempted will [illegible] bloody work. He heard an official in high position remark that such an attempt would provoke a more desperate and bitter war at the North than now exists between the North and the South. The general tenor of his remarks was encouraging. He brings with him numerous tokens of Northern sympathy for our cause, in shape of purses, pen knives, &c., which had been presented to him, and speaks of having received attentions from many who wished the South success. At one town in Ohio, the landlord of the hotel at which he and his comrades stopped cancelled their bills, and at another place in Illinois the landlord charged the nominal sum of a quarter of a dollar, and set the best of wines before them—the Yankee officers in charge of the prisoners being present. Frank Leslie's Illustrated News of the 11th has a significant caricature, representing Abe Lincoln as a toy goose floating in a basin of water, attracted by a magnetized dagger, upon which is printed the word "Gold." The lure is too strong to resist, and Abe rushes eagerly on towards the fatal point.—Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel.

GEN. WINFIELD SCOTT.—Gen. Scott's health is said to be failing him fast. He is confined to his apartments in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, almost entirely helpless, and what is worse, it is said that his mind at length is breaking down under the weight of years and mental and bodily troubles. He receives few visitors, and those only his most intimate friends.

NORTH CAROLINA CHRISTAIN ADVOCATE.

NEW SERIES.

IT IS CONTEMPLATED TO RESUME THE PUBlication of the North Carolina Christian Advocate at an early day, and with the patronage of the North-Carolina Conference, and under the direction and ownership of a joint stock Company, composed of ministers and laymen, to secure its permanency.

It will be as its name imports, a CHRISTIAN Advocate.—It will sustain and defend the doctrines and discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and labor to advance Christ's Kingdom on earth, and to promote peace and good will among all men.

Besides its earnest, religious character, it shall be an advocate of the moral, educational and industrial progress of North Carolina—a welcome visitor to every family and to the camps of our brave soldiers, and a faithful chronicler of what may be useful and interesting, and of the current news.

All ministers, Exhorters and local preachers, and the stockholders of the Company, are specially requested to act as Agents for the paper.

The old subscribers of the Advocate will be supplied with the new series, to the full amount due them at the time of its suspension, but as the mail books are not in the possession of the Editor, he must rely on the old subscribers themselves and the Agents, to furnish him with their names and post offices and the amount due them.

The Advocate will be well printed on good paper, and will contain an amount of reading matter equal to any paper in the State.

During the continuance of war prices, the subscription price will be $2 per annum, always in advance.

Aged ministers and widows of ministers subscribe free, and the Editor will be entitled to a copy of the paper for one year. He declines that a bill shall be sent in at once.

Address WM. E. PEEL, Editor,
Raleigh, N. C. Jan. 2, 1863.

BY THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, IT HAS BECOME APPARENT TO ME and to all who are interested in the welfare of the State, and who have any feelings of humanity for suffering among their fellow-men, from the cries which reach us from the poor in all sections of the land, that starvation will be the fate of many of our heretofore favored people, unless the staff of life speculating in the necessaries of life can be arrested; and whereas, it is my bounden duty to protect the citizens of the State, of which I have the honor to be the Chief Magistrate, against the evils consequent upon the crime, to the utmost of my ability:

Now, therefore, I, ZEBULON B. VANCE, Governor of North Carolina, do, by and with the advice and consent of the Council of State issue this Proclamation, forbidding all persons, for the space of thirty days from the date hereof, from exporting any of the following articles beyond the limits of the State, to wit: any Salt, Bacon, Pork, Beef, Corn, Meal, Flour, Wheat, Potatoes, Shoes, Leather, Hides, Cotton Cloth, and Yarn, and Woolen Cloth.

From this prohibition the following persons are to be excepted: All Quartermasters and Commissary Agents of the Confederate Government, and of any State, of the Confederacy, exhibiting proper evidence of their official character. Also, all Agents of any County, District, Town or Corporation, or other States, who shall exhibit satisfactory proof of their Agency for the purchase of such articles for such County, District, Town or Corporation, for public uses, or for distribution at cost and transportation, and not for resale or profit. Also, all persons whether residents or non-residents of the State who may purchase any of said articles for their private use, of which, before the articles are removed, their oath, before a Justice of the Peace, may be taken as evidence. The exception is to extend to Salt made by non-residents on the sea coast and in their own works, and to cargoes entering a port of this State from abroad.

Any of said articles that may be stopped in transitu from any County to another, to be confiscated to the use of the State. The Colonels of Militia throughout the State are enjoined to see that this Proclamation is enforced.

I earnestly appeal to all good citizens to sustain and aid me in carrying out the object this Proclamation is designed, as far as possible, to effect.

In witness whereof, ZEBULON B. VANCE, Governor, Captain General and Commander-in-Chief, (SEAL) hath signed these presents and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.

Done at our City of Raleigh, this 13th day of April, A. D., 1863, and in the year of our Independence the 87th.

Z. B. VANCE.
