This farmer telephoned and saved a trip.

This farmer went to market.

And find the market unfavorable for your produce? The farmer who has a telephone in his home can telephone first. The useless trips thus saved are worth the cost of service.

Under our plan the service costs but a trifle; the farmer owns the instrument and the equipment.

THE SAVIOR'S BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

CONFESSING THE SON OF GOD.

Matthew 16:13-23—Aug. 21.

"Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

OUR Master, slowly and with increasing emphasis, is allowed to declare His own glorious. He wished His disciples to know and to feel to the depth of their hearts that He possessed and was from Jehovah God, and that in the performance of miracles, and particularly in His teachings, He was the mouth of God and His speech [illegible] Jesus, who also knew of God which [illegible] the voice of the world. He was so that the Father [illegible] the Master [illegible] and [illegible] the Master's sonship.

Just after John had begun his ministry, he declared: "This is he," and he declared that he saw the Holy Spirit descending upon Jesus like a dove, and that this was a sign given him whereby he might know the Messiah-hood, then [illegible] the time for the Master to begin. The spirit gradually in the direction of his followers. Jesus had been with his people and later had been [illegible] John's prophetic testimony was fully [illegible] "He must increase, but I must decrease." The [illegible] of Jesus and his Apostles [illegible] [illegible] Jesus [illegible] "Blessed are the poor in spirit" [illegible] "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." [illegible] "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." [illegible] "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." [illegible] "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled." [illegible] "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." [illegible] "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." [illegible] "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." [illegible] "Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." [illegible] "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you." [illegible] "Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is henceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men." [illegible] "Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

It was not that St. Peter had experienced a special revelation, but rather a great spiritual [illegible] that he was able to see what was [illegible] Jesus, and to see God to be the Father. Indeed, it is evident that the same revelation and appreciation [illegible] "No man can come unto me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him." Our primary drawing and training is of the Father up to the time when we accept his call to Christ and make our consecration to Christ, and receive the spirit of adoption whereby we become children, so we then join the school of Christ to learn of him. Let us note the fact that the special blessings always come not from reasoning in Christ, but also from confessing to and before men.

According to the above, our Lord regarded St. Peter's confession as a divine and upon this rock will I build my Church." The rock upon which the Church is built is this confession, which St. Peter made. St. Peter himself was not the rock, but he was one of the living stones built up from upon the rock of truth. It was this same Apostle who so beautifully explained the whole matter, saying to us that all consecrated believers are "living stones" in the temple of God, whose foundation and cap stone is Christ, in whom we are builded together through the operation of the holy spirit. 1 Peter 2:5.

The expression, "Upon this rock I will build my Church and the gates of hell [Hades] shall not prevail against it," is one that is often misunderstood. The gates of hell are not gates to some place of torture, nor gates to purgatory. They are, in the Greek, "gates of hades" and have signified a state or condition of death. The phrase might well be translated, "The gates of the grave shall not prevail against it." That is to say, Christ Jesus, in view the Church, is one who has to share in the sacrifice, in his death, and while apparently the gates of hades have prevailed against the Church against God's people, for more than eighteen centuries, nevertheless, we have the assurance that they shall not forever prevail. The Master's conquest is then by his death for his enemies. Lord of all and has the keys of death and hades. He has the right to open hades, the tomb, and [illegible] all who have gone down into it. He assures us that he will do so, in his time. "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man and shall come forth."

Nevertheless, for all these promises it has seemed fully to behove that, in union with Christ, his followers shall yet live with him, that sharing with him in his death they may yet share with him in his resurrection to the glory, honor and immortality of the Divine nature. [illegible] our Lord's words mean that there will be a resurrection [illegible] Revelation 21:14, and resurrection means, of course, the uprising of mankind, the opening of the graves and restoration of the human family.

The giving of the "keys" of the Kingdom to St. Peter has in reference to locks and bars of prisons over which St. Peter is the custodian. The Church in the present time is the Kingdom of Heaven in its preparatory or embryonic state, and St. Peter was put forward in all the leading work in the Gospel church. He opened the door to the Jews at Pentecost, when, as the principle of the Lord, he inaugurated the beginning of the Pentecostal blessing and the door then open to every Jew, bearing individually into membership in Christ. He used the second [illegible] to open the door to the Gentiles, privileges to the Gentiles to enter into the [illegible] Cornelius the first Gentile convert, to be baptized in Christ. [illegible] Peter was the first to preach the Gospel and to receive Gentiles into the Church. [illegible] the door to the heavenly [illegible]

St. Peter's commission to bind and to loose shall be bound in heaven and loosed in heaven [illegible] Jesus [illegible] St. Matthew 18:18. It does not [illegible] Peter and [illegible] all of the Apostles [illegible] Jesus and [illegible] the whole Church [illegible] Jesus [illegible] of God. If they do [illegible] the Jewish law [illegible] their statements were true, and [illegible] recognized. And if they [illegible] we must know that these are bound and [illegible] In other words, we must reconcile the Apostles [illegible]

The time for preaching [illegible] Messiah did not come until after his death and resurrection [illegible] Pentecostal ministry dates from his resurrection. He [illegible] in our property, and he expounded to them in all the Scriptures concerning himself and resurrection, but he did not seem [illegible] to preach [illegible] at one time. St. Peter, perhaps chided with the Lord's [illegible] in his previous speech, undertook now the role of leader in [illegible] which he had [illegible] in the Messiah. In this he erred. It is not in accordance [illegible] to argue that the Master should not think of any [illegible] suffering and death, but should rather of prosperity and [illegible] Our Lord's reply was pointed. He said, "Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art an offence unto me: for thou savest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men." [illegible] Satan's will, to hinder him from drinking the cup which [illegible] for him, yet [illegible] counsel is that [illegible] to the world and not [illegible]

Similarly, the followers of [illegible] are apt to resist their friends, who may offer [illegible] and providence. These should not be [illegible] They need correction from Peter's [illegible]

The words of Peter [illegible] opportunity for calling the attention of his followers to the [illegible] Not only said the Master himself suffer, but all of his followers must. This course was provided for every one and whoever would be from it would lose the eternal life hoped for. Whoever would take up his cross and follow the Master to death would thereby secure part of his share in eternal life on the heavenly plane. His disciples had already pledged their earthly lives, and for them to withhold them for worldly advantage would mean that they would lose their souls, their lives. This is not true of the world in general, but merely of the church, called to be of the elect, Royal Priesthood.

He then assured them of his second coming, when he would come in the glory of the Father and with his angels (messengers—not again as a man—as a sacrifice. At the time of his second coming he would reward every one of his followers according to the faithfulness of each. He concluded this reference to the coming Kingdom by the assurance that some of them would live to witness demonstration of the coming power and glory before they would die. This we will consider in our next study.
