Great Sara.

Ethereal thinness, wond'rous female hail!
Great Sara!
Thou who the mimic world dost tread,
Like unto a sprite, or streak of lightning greased
With deeds, hail again!
We greet thee with a loving—
No, not we, the clergy,
Welcome, Sara! welcome to the land
Of beans and freedom; countless idiots wait
To shower upon thee gold.
Out, that is to say ourselves,
Don't parlong Frongsay worth a cent;
Wherefore we spike Engleesh
Thus to thee—all hail.

OBSERVATIONS.

A cross eyed man, who said that he was going to "vote as he shot," had his ballot carefully put among the "scattering" by the judicious inspector.

"Brilliant and impulsive people," said a lecturer on physiognomy, "have black eyes, or if they don't have 'em, they're apt to get 'em if they're too impulsive."

It is a mean thing for a handsome man to go to a town and give every indication of being in the market until half the girls are wild about him, and then send for his wife.

In selecting his cabinet Mr. Garfield, it is said, will not take a man who parts his hair in the middle. This bars out Dr. Mary Walker and thousands of others of our young men.

"How shall I have my bonnet trimmed," asked Maria, "so that it will agree with my complexion?" "If you want it to match your face, have it plain," replied the baleful Harriet.

Henry James, Jr., speaks of one of his characters in his new novel, now publishing in the Atlantic, as a man "who can neither abolish himself as a nuisance nor maintain himself as an institution." Here he speaks in obscurity.

Bernhardt says she wants to do everything that Rachel did. (Now then, here goes.) Rachel always paid us a heap of attention, said we were the handsomest man in America, and never asked us to look at anything she painted. Here, mind that, Mlle. Sarah?

Childhood's innocence: Somebody gave little Augustus two keys. "I will give this one to my dear little sister," he said, showing the largest. "Because it is the prettiest?" said the delighted mamma. "No," he replied, without hesitation; "because it's broken."

A young man in a dentist's chair in Waterbury, Conn., fancied he was riding a bicycle, and forthwith, striking out with great vigor, put each foot through a pane of glass in the window before him. And yet, while under the influence of the anæsthetic, he probably felt no pane.

A darkey who was stopping to wash his hands in a creek didn't notice the peculiar actions of a goat just behind; so when he scrambled out of the water, and was asked how it happened, he answered: "I dunno, exactly, but pears ast de shore kinder n'sta'dand frowd me."

HEADACHE CURES.

Relief for the Suffering—Reliable Scientific Recipes.

Boston Journal of Chemistry.

The following recipes and suggestions for the treatment of different forms of headache are collected from a variety of trustworthy sources:

Two grains citrate of caffeine, in capsule, taken every half hour, is a very effectual remedy in nervous and sick headache. One or two doses are often sufficient to give complete relief. The only objection to its use is sleeplessness, which sometimes results if it is taken in the evening. It is preferable to guarana, as being hardly ever rejected by the stomach.

The following, according to W. W. Carpenter, is very effectual in most forms of headache: Muriate of ammonia, 3 drachms; acetate of morphia, 1 grain; citrate of caffeine, 30 grains; aromatic spirits of ammonia, 1 drachm; elixir of guarana, 4 ounces; rosewater, 4 ounces. Mix. Dessertspoonful every ten or twelve minutes.

In nervous headache, Dr. W. A. Hammond states the value of various drugs as follows: Oxide of zinc is of great value. Ordinary dose, 2 grains three times a day, after meals; maximum dose, 5 grains. It is best given in form of pills.

Nux vomica is preferable to strychnia. The dose is ⅙ grain, after meals. If the patient be chlorotic, it is well to combine a grain of reduced iron, and half a grain of sulphate of quinine.

Bismuth, in the form of subcarbonate will often take the place of oxide of zinc. Dose, 2 grains, after each meal. Bismuth probably aids digestion more than any mineral tonic, and is of use when there is gastric disturbance.

The bromides are serviceable when the nervous system has been irritated; when it is exhausted they do harm.

Phosphorus is very useful in most forms of nervous headache. The best results are obtained from dilute phosphoric acid, in doses of 30 drops, largely diluted, three times a day, after eating, or phosphide of zinc, one-tenth grain, in pill, three times a day.

Arsenic as nerve tonic, stands next in value to zinc. Dose 5 drops of Fowler's solution three times a day, after meals.

Galvanism is sometimes valuable, but by no means a specific. The constant current should always be used, being careful to avoid too great intensity, lest amaurosis be produced.

Dr. T. Lauder Brunton, editor of the London Practitioner, says: The administration of a brisk purgative, or small doses of Epsom salts three times a day, is a most effectual remedy for frontal headache when associated with constipation; but if the bowels be regular, the morbid processes on which it depends seem to be checked, and the headache removed even more effectually by nitro-muriatic acid, diluted, 10 drops in a wineglass of water, or bicarb. soda, 10 grains, in water, before meals. If the headache be immediately above the eyebrows, the acid is best; but if it be a little more on the side where the hair begins, the soda appears to be the most effectual. At the same time that the headache is removed the feeling of sleepiness and weariness which frequently leads the patients to complain that they rise up more tired than they lie down generally disappears.

A writer in the London Lancet remarks: At the Middlesex hospital female patients who have suffered many years from sick headache, evidently of a hereditary character, have been greatly benefited, if not cured, by the administration of ten minim doses of tincture of Indian hemp, three times daily, between the attacks. This is well worthy of trial in those cases of everlasting never-dying martyrdom-like suffering.

In headache due to determination of blood to the head, and in fever, the following simple treatment is to be commended: Put a handful of salt into a quart of water, add an ounce of spirits of hartshorn and half an ounce of spirits of camphor. Cork the bottle tightly to prevent the escape of the spirit. Soak a piece of soft cloth with the mixture and apply it to the head; wet the rag fresh as soon as it gets heated.

Soaking the feet in very warm water, in which a spoonful of mustard has been stirred is also beneficial in drawing the blood from the head.

Two teaspoonfuls of powdered charcoal, well stirred in half a glass of water and drank at once, is a valuable remedy in sickache from sour stomach, flatulence, etc.

Tincture of nux vomica is recommended by Ringer as possessed of real curative powers when given in drop doses, repeated every five or ten minutes for eight or ten doses, and then continued at longer intervals, for sick headache, accompanied with acute gastric catarrh, whether due to error in diet, constipation or no apparent cause.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The President's Next Message—Secretary Sherman and the Ohio Senatorship—Proposed Objection to the Admission of Senator Fair.

Baltimore Sun.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—Inquiry at the White House to-day reveals the fact that the President has not yet begun his message, except to collect and arrange material. His recommendations to Congress are taking shape in his own mind, but he has not as yet confided them to the keeping of any one, and probably will not. It is two weeks until Congress meets, and the time is ample to put his message together. The President writes rapidly, and when he collects all the facts he wishes to use it does not take him long to put his thoughts into words and send out a creditable document.

THE OHIO SENATORSHIP.

Colonel Moulton, brother-in-law of Secretary Sherman, said this evening that he did not think there would be any contest in the Ohio Legislature over the election of Senator. It would be unanimous, he was confident, when it met and members had discovered what was the drift of public opinion. He was unable yet to say who he thought the man would be, but he knew that if another Senator had been required at the time Garfield was elected they would have chosen Secretary Sherman. He said that the discussion as to the complications arising from Garfield's election to both Senate and presidency had been magnified. He declared that to meet this case there was no law of Congress, and that the Legislature was left to construe their own power in the matter, and such being the case, their action could not be questioned. There was a possibility that the Senate itself might raise a question, but he did not believe the better part of the Democracy would consent to deny representation to a State while they were discussing a technicality. He thought, therefore, that that discussion might be dropped as unworthy of consideration.

To-day Secretary Sherman was waited upon by an Ohio man, who promised him support for the Senatorship. The Secretary replied that he was not a candidate in the sense that he would push for the position, but that he was grateful for the support of his friends, and would be glad to be elected, and if chosen would serve the people of Ohio to his best ability. Friends of the Secretary say that he has already received sufficient assurances from Ohio to guarantee his election. Stanley Matthews has practically withdrawn in his favor.

A MOVE ON NEVADA.

In Republican political circles to-day there is quite a buoyant feeling on the subject of party control in the Senate after the 4th of next March. Heretofore the Republican papers have rested mainly on the doubts which shroud the attitude of General Mahone. But from the expressions of to-day it is shown that the Republicans consider they have another string to their bow. It is hinted that a case will be made up against Mr. Fair, of Nevada, and objection raised to his admission on the ground of bribery and corruption in the election of members of the Legislature. It is claimed that there has been no concealment of the fact that large sums of money were spent in the interest of Mr. Fair to secure the election of members of the Legislature favorable to his election, and that names, dates and amounts can and will be given. It is quite true there has been much talk about the use of money and other improper influences in controlling the senatorial contest in Nevada, but is rather probable that, after mature reflection, the Republican managers may conclude that it will be just as well as not to open up an agitation and discussion which would inevitably bring within its scope, before it was concluded, several other much more important States than Nevada.

Curious Matrimonial Complication.

CHICAGO, ILL., November 22.—The Superior Court had before it to-day a case of curious complications. Some months ago Wm. A. Sloan married a woman in Ohio. He moved to Iowa, and there obtained a divorce through a Chicago divorce lawyer, and upon the same day married another woman in Iowa. The courts of the latter State declared the divorce proceedings illegal and the second marriage adulterous. To-day the Chicago court held that the divorce was valid according to the law of Illinois. It is, therefore, illegal for Sloan to live with either wife, although married to both. However, notwithstanding he has children by both, he might legally live with his Ohio wife in Iowa, and with his Iowa wife in Illinois.

Storm Off the Coast of North Carolina.

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., November 22.—Quite a severe gale is raging on the North Carolina coast. All the boats have been driven in, and communication with Beaufort has been broken up. Some damage, but nothing serious, has been reported.

A WORLD OF GOOD.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People talk it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

TERRIBLE ATTACK.

No more deadly foe can possibly attack the human being than Bilious Fever. This is caused by bile not being properly distributed and carried off in consequence of a deranged state of the liver. To cure and prevent these attacks take no medicine, but use Dr. Flint's Improved Liver and Stomach Pills.

Many Combinations

Have been tried but none with such happy results as Hunt's Remedy for Stone and Gravel. If you are suffering from any derangement of the Kidneys or Bladder, Gravel, Pain or Weakness in the Back, or Dropsy, get a bottle—one or two will relieve you.

This article has been before the public for nearly ten years, and its sale is constantly increasing—and this with very little advertising, which proves it to be an article of merit. We have testimonials from some of the leading physicians of Georgia, South Carolina, and Florida, and other States, in reliability as a Diuretic, and a remedy for the disease for which it recommended.

Prepared only by Dr. Hunt, Rankin and James, Druggists, Atlanta, Ga., and sold by T. C. Smith, and L. E. Wriston & Co.

Smith's Scrofula Syrup and Star Curine are purely vegetable. Why will you suffer with Cancer, White Swelling, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Diseases when a few bottles of these two great remedies will cure you?

From C. D. McCurry, Newton county, Georgia: I take great pleasure in recommending to the public Dr. Cheney's Expectorant and Croup Preventive. My little son had been a great sufferer from Spasmodic Croup during the night. Dr. Cheney, about two years ago, prescribed for him his Croup Preventive, which has most miraculously cured him. I find it equally beneficial in all cases of Coughs. I consider it a blessing in my family, every one should keep it in their houses. For sale by Dr. T. C. Smith.

A CARD.

THE report that Messrs. Byers, Reed & Oxley had discharged a number of their employes on account of their political principles is wholly unfounded and not warranted by any act of the firm. Some having neglected duties, others for cause by my foreman. They have ever extended, and extend, the most courteous consideration as a Southern man, and I sincerely appreciate their courtesies and esteem. No firm doing a Southern business could allow to assume such an arbitrary position, and no Southern salesman would so far compromise his dignity as to remain in such employ.
