DIVES AND COL. MOORE, LAZARUS AND JOHN PAGE.

We have more news from John Page. John is reported to us as a man of good mind as well as character who would have been ashamed to speak, as Colonel Moore did, against telegraphing for Littlefield and Swepson to appear before the Bragg Committee. This speaks well for John; it speaks well for all the negroes of Chowan, if they threw Col. Moore overboard for his defence and vindication of the Ring.

We fear it was not high principle that threw Col. Moore overboard, if these words, reported as coming from John Page, be true. John said he would no longer look upon Col. Moore as Dives in the palace, while he, John, lay at the gate, "doctored by dogs and comforted with crumbs."

It is said, on the streets, that money will be raised to buy off John Page and James Harris, that Mr. Richard Badger may go to Congress and Col. Moore return to the Legislature. The Governor wrote John that the "integrity and success of his administration depended upon the return of Col. Moore." We think his administration is more dependent upon the success of Dr. Sloan's and Gen. Littlefield's management of State bonds.

We have also heard that $8,000 can be raised to buy off James Harris from Congress, but Jim is not now as much in want of money, as he was in the last campaign, and besides, Dewease has reported the place as worth $50,000. If James places such a high value upon the office, Major Smith may cease his efforts to get him off the track; he will find it as up-hill a business as leasing the Railroad. The Major has repeatedly said the white men of Johnston would not vote for Harris. Mr. Long, late member from Chatham, said there were five hundred Republicans in Chatham who would not vote for a negro. Old Mr. Burns is reported to us as greatly disgusted with his party. He ought to be, but it may be that Phillips and Badger will impart an odor sweet enough to keep the old man pleased with Friday Jones and Solomon Bragg.

When Moore, Clingman, Phillips, Hargrove, et al, show as much spirit as the negroes, and the negroes show as much as John Page, there will be a lively time in the Radical ranks. The white men will demand that the negroes lay at the "gate and be doctored by dogs," as heretofore; the negroes, being ten to one, will make the white men lay at the "gate" as they have done in the case of Col. Moore. The dog licking his wounds will be soothing; but old Ben is will aggravate him to be trod on by John Page and laughed at by all the negroes, and have no sympathy from the whites.

CALUMNIATOR.

"A wicked thing, a wicked thing is a calumniator."

Our "beloved" Governor is a wholesale dealer in calumny. If evil speaking could give a man the black tongue, our "beloved" would have died of it long ago.

We are led into these reflections by a letter from Carthage, Moore county, from one of its most respectable citizens, and which appears in another column.

In the Standard, of last week, was the sworn evidence of Daniel Graham, furnished and published at the special instance of Governor Holden. This evidence of Graham's is now going the rounds in Radical papers; large numbers of the Standard containing it have been sent to the Capitol of the Empire, as we believe, by the Governor, or through his order.

The letter from Carthage is from one of the most respectable citizens of Moore county; it tells who Graham is. This wretch and thief has sworn, that A. A. McNeill, Clerk of the Superior Court, and some fifteen or twenty others, many of them the most respectable citizens of the county, have been guilty of murder, arson and the most horrid crimes.

The Governor is in possession of these facts; he takes no steps to arrest A. A. McNeill and others. He has them advertised in his regis as the perpetrators of horrid crimes; and for what? To make political capital for his party.

The publication of Graham's evidence shows the Governor to be a wicked man and a calumniator. If he believed his witness, Graham, he should have had the murderers arrested; if he did not believe him, he should not have given out for publication from the Executive office, such foul, false statements. It belongs eminently to Executive duty to see that the guilty be punished and the innocent protected. If these respectable gentlemen are guilty, the Governor has been guilty of a gross dereliction of duty in not punishing them; if they are innocent, he is a wicked calumniator.

The citizens of New Hanover, held a convention in Wilmington, on Wednesday last, and nominated A. H. Galloway for the Senate, and Walker, Price and Bunting for the House.

All the candidates are, as follows, selected such.

WHO BROKE THE PLATE?

The Public Treasurer gave as a reason to Dr. Sloan, for not issuing the bonds for the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Road, that the plate for engraving the bonds was broken. Where is that broken plate?

Dr. Sloan tells it, that Littlefield and the "Ring" were at work to prevent the issue of bonds, except to the Western North Carolina Railroad. The Treasurer delayed in the issue of his bonds, and finally said the plate was broken.

Now we have it from pretty good authority, that the bonds had been engraved under Col. Cowan's administration, and all that was necessary was to have them signed. How is this, Governor? How is this, Dave?

It is known that Littlefield and Swepson hurried out the bonds for their Road, and that they endeavored to delay and prevent the issue of bonds for other Roads. The idea was, the fewer the bonds the better their's would be.

Dr. Sloan's friends do not hesitate to say that the Public Treasurer was on such good terms with Littlefield and Swepson, as to give their road great advantages in the bond business over the Doctor's road.

Again, we ask, who broke the plate, and where are the pieces? Again, we ask, were the bonds engraved under Col. Cowan's administration, before the plate was broken?

From the Wilmington Journal.

NORTH CAROLINA—"LOYALISTS."

Several leading politicians of this State have identified themselves with the Radicals, some of whom followed the fortunes of the Confederate flag with credit and honor even to Appomattox Court House and Greensboro'. It is wonderful with what unanimity they have become candidates for office and with what adaptability they have "accepted the situation," including the very lucrative salaries of their respective offices. And when we consider they have made all these terrible sacrifices for the sake of the "dear Union," how the hearts of their fellow citizens, even though a little disloyal, should warm towards them. Upon our word we actually know of North Carolinians who have permitted their convenient and controllable hearts to beat with merchantable loyalty even as low as one dollar a throb. Just think of it! Those who value such throbs as highly as they do drops of their life's blood are not probably prepared to fully estimate the terrible cost at which North Carolinians have been transformed into ranting and dishonest Radical politicians. Why, we have actually heard of a North Carolinian of gentle blood and a leading Radical office holder, who must regard "honor as a mere succubus," in a grave discussion in a parliamentary body, making political capital by trading the blood and honorable death of a noble son for claptrap and falsehood to win the momentary applause of a public ted soldiery, the sickly smiles of obsequious apostates and to "spit the ears of the groundlings."

Holden's loyalty was nurtured by President Johnson in the then newly patented hot house called Provisional Governorship, and it was sufficiently hardy to undergo safe transplanting under the direction of Congressional reconstruction. It has now become a full grown shrub.

Ted Caldwell, Colonel Harris and other North Carolina officials of the Executive department embraced Radicalism and their offices simultaneously.

Chief Justice Pearson found out he was a "patriot" about the time he thought North Carolina needed the assistance of his services as Chief Justice; and Justice Reade went into that party in his erratic wanderings, "going home." It is supposed by those who know the motives of his calculating disposition that there was more method than accident in his steps. Justice Rodman's conversion to Radicalism and to political and judicial positions succeeded hard upon each other. He followed the "Lost Cause" with a sorrowing heart to its honored grave, and then with indecent haste hurried to the false embraces of its murderers.

"The funeral bak'd meats
Did coldly furnish forth the marriage tables."

Justice Settle has always been a political camp-follower. He follows no flag except as a spy or a plunderer. He could be convinced that Radicalism is wrong by the same means used to toll him into that party. Justice Dick tried hard to get position and failed until apostacy was more honored than ability.

We never heard of the Radical tendencies of Judges Pool, Jones, Watts, Russell, Henry, Cloud, Logan, Thomas and Cannon, or their legal attainments either, until their nomination and election to office.

John Pool embraced the tenets of the party and the Senatorship with the same regard to honor and decency with which he took the oath to support the Confederate government—for the purpose of embarrassing it. Colonel Dockery hid his Confederate uniform and became a "good Union man" when he found that it paid better than mourning over the loss of his slaves. Leak's politics like every act of his life, smells of the shop. He made a shrewd calculation what per cent it would return and made the investment.

Swepson's, Sloan's and A. J. Jones' tracks to the Radical camp are easily traceable.—Their crimes have left some impression upon the minds of the people, but more upon the Treasury of the State.

Judge Cantwell sought for an office so quickly after experiencing a "change of heart" that ignorance of the orthodoxy of his politics caused his defeat. He has hid the stars of an honorably won and honorably sustained rank, and obscured the reputation of an intelligent lawyer in the filth and filthiness of a police court, and devotes his time and talents to the protection of the wounded dignity of colored Aldermen.

W. A. Moore, J. W. Holden and W. D. Jones expended their ire against "the flag" at Roanoke Island, and will spend the rest of their days in humble but profitable atonement for their harmless treason.

Mr. S. F. Phillips announces his Republicanism and his acceptance of a nomination in the same breath.—"Thrift, thrift, Horatio."

Calvin Cowles, Phil. Hawkins, Parson Sinclair, and the other lesser lights, have each their "mess of pottage" as a receipt in full for their "birth rights."

Is there one North Carolinian who has gone into the Radical party and has kept free of the "flesh pots" sufficiently long to have the appearance of honesty? Has one assumed such a virtue? Even "rotating Dick" Badger had traded the ragged remnants of his political principles for a valuable consideration before his formal announcement in the Radical Convention, and Governor Holden, with all his shrewdness, never made a poorer bargain.

We wish some one of the North Carolinians who have lately and cowardly deserted their religion had kept up an appearance of consistency and real courage. He would see at least the colonel, if not some of their surviving. Their children and their children's children would point to their sires for that glorious heritage.

For the Sentinel.

CARTHAGE, May 31st, 1870.

EDITOR OF SENTINEL.—It is reported, that the Daily Sentinel of recent date, contains a communication from Moore County, charging A. H. McNeill, Clerk of the Superior Court, and other good citizens of Moore, with being leaders of the burning and plundering parties in this county. As evidence of this a pretended affidavit of one Daniel Graham, a noted horse thief, is produced. This man Graham is, and has been for several months, skulking in the swamps of Moore County or somewhere else, being indicted for larceny, and believed to be guilty of atrocious rascality, and supposed to be in full membership with the Governor's leaguers, and doubtless just the sort of witness for his purposes. The affidavit states, so we hear, that A. A. McNeill promised to furnish horses to a party to go to Raleigh to murder Holden. A few months ago this same Graham stole a horse from McNeill, was arrested and committed to Moore County jail; in a few days after, he was bailed by a member of the Governor's secret society. He is believed to have been engaged in burning houses, robbing &c., since being bailed. About a week ago, two very peaceable old men, uncles of A. H. McNeil, were cruelly murdered at their home in Cumberland County, and it is the prevailing opinion that Daniel A. Graham, and * * * * * * * did the bloody deed. The communication is a foul slander and a base falsehood, worthy only of its author and the paper that published it.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

A Convention of the Conservatives of Rockingham, was held at Wentworth, on Saturday the 21st of May, 1870.

On motion, Geo. L. Aiken, Esq., was called to the chair, and T. M. Johnston requested to act as Secretary. The chair, upon motion, appointed W. P. Watt, J. Turner Morehead, W. D. Bethell and Jos. H. Caldwell, Committee to report resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the people of the county. During the absence of the Committee, the meeting was addressed in an able and effective speech, by T. W. Keon, Esq. The Committee reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, 1st. That the Radical party in North Carolina have had a full and fair trial and have proved themselves utterly incompetent and unworthy in every department of government.

2nd. That we specially disapprove of their wanton disregard of the people's rights and interests, evinced in their wicked and extravagant waste of the public money.

3d. That it behooves every good and true man who loves his State to enter heart and soul into the coming contest, and not simply think and hope, but work for the cause.

4th. That we the Conservatives of Rockingham, in common with our brethren throughout the State, are utterly opposed to all mob law and violence, whether by Ku Klux, Loyal Leagues, or other organization whatsoever.

5th. That we fully acquiesce in the positive law of the land which give to the colored race equal rights.

6th. That we invite all honest men without regard to race or color to co-operate with us in depriving the party now in office of all political power, to the end that peace, harmony and prosperity may once more reign in the land.

7th. That we as representing the tax payers of this county, do endorse and approve the course presented by Messrs. Scales, Boyd, Ward and McLean, Attorneys at law, touching the Bridge tax, imposed by the Board of Commissioners of this county, and we do hereby tend to them our sincere thanks for their patriotic action against said tax in serving without remuneration.

8th. That the secretary of the meeting request the publication of its proceedings by the Raleigh SENTINEL, Western Sentinel and Greensboro Patriot.

Surveyor—E. W. Hancock.

County Commissioners—Samuel Webb, Hugh K. Reid, James H. Hall, Hamilton Lomax, Pryor Reynolds.

GEO. L. AIKEN, Ch'm.

T. M. JOHNSTON, Sec'y.

A SECESSIONIST RADICAL.

The North Carolina papers are down upon Clingman like a thousand of bricks, now that he has gone over to the Radicals. They insinuate that he received fifteen thousand dollars for it.

It is not for us, not knowing the facts, to say whether the charge is true or not.—All we do know about Clingman, is that he is a very changeable politician, "everything by turns and nothing long." He was an old Henry Clay Whig; then a State's rights Calhoun Democrat; then of course a secesh out and out Secessionist; and now he is a flaming Radical.

These changes in Clingman, or in any other mere politician, need not surprise us. A man who is very extreme on any subject is not to be trusted, and none should wonder at any course he may take. Some of these men are impulsive and honest at the time they made their extravagant declarations; but in the mental constitution of such men there is often a "screw loose." They are too frequently, however, the very coolest calculators, and are "mad with a purpose." It will be always seen that these actors—these imposers upon the gullibility of their trusting and admiring fellow-citizens—have a keen eye to the main chance, and somehow manage to keep on the crest of the wave, whether of the sea of whiggery, democracy, or radicalism.

The Revolution is often called "the time that tried men's souls;" but in our humble opinion the events of the last few years have been a much more intense crucible.—Few are the politicians that have come out pure gold.

We may, however, be expecting too much from the tricky schemers of these degenerate days. We must not look for too much from the men who for the twenty years before the war were the "leaders" in Virginia and several other States of the South. For ourselves we never thought much of politicians who made their living by appealing to the passions of the people, and we have not been disappointed at their course during and since the war. The days of Macon and of George Loyall are gone forever; and we must never expect to see again such models of purity and disinterested patriotism.—Norfolk Journal.

WHIG SCRAPS OF HISTORY.—The New York World, in criticising Judge Black's defence of Stanton in the Galaxy, introduces the following incident:

"Nor is it amiss to state a fact not generally known, but except he be proud, that when, on the trial of Mrs. Judge Dodd, the Confederate Commissioner of Exchange, came to Washington as a witness under subpœna to prove the facts we have stated, Stanton sent him word that if he did not return home at once, his parole would be determined. He went away, and Wirz was hung."

To which we would add the additional fact, not generally known, that General Robert E. Lee and General Howell Cobb were also subpœnaed and ordered to Washington as witnesses for the accused, but were subsequently met on road by dispatch ex from the government ordering them not to come on. Gen. Cobb got as far as Savannah, and, receiving his dispatch, turned back. The prosecution had both these gentlemen rejected as witnesses on the ground that, having engaged in rebellion, they were personally infamous and not to be believed on oath.

It may also state as an interesting fact in this connection, that Gen. Cobb, who was in command at Macon during the year 1864, had he been allowed to reach Washington, would have testified that upon receipt of a very large number of wounded Confederates from a recent battle, more than could be accommodated in Macon, he wrote to Andersonville to have a transport of equal number that had been ordered there sent up immediately, to be used in the transportation of prisoners, hospitals, &c. Wirz refused it on alleging that he had been [illegible] and had procured it with great difficulty, in order to shelter his prisoners. We had this circumstance from Gen. Cobb's own lips.

Thus it was that witnesses for the defence were silenced by that bloodthirsty court, and poor Wirz, innocent though he was, went to his last account. Stanton has gone to meet him before a higher tribunal, where no witnesses are wanted.—Savannah Republican.

A BEAUTIFUL REPLY.—A pious old man was one day walking to the sanctuary, with a New Testament in his hand, when a friend who met him said:

"Good morning, Mr. Price."

"Ah! good morning," replied he; "I was reading my Father's will, as I walked along."

"Well, what has he left you?" said his friend.

"Why, he has bequeathed me a hundred fold more in this life, and in the world to come life everlasting."

It was a word in season; his Christian friend was in circumstances of affliction, but went home comforted.

after the payment of 5 or more annual premiums.

As Bitherto, I have been restricted in the very popular Company which I had the honor to represent to Stock rates alone, which most of the Mutual, and mixed Companies have adopted. This disadvantage, together with the multiplication of many new Companies in this State, who claimed to possess unusual charms, together with the extraordinary advantages presented by the Excelsior induced me to accept the management of that Company, whose plan combines all the popular features of other Companies, represented in this State, without its exactions, and the additional privilege of converting policies, which the holder can not afford to keep up, by visiting to discontinue, because of the death of those for whose benefit the policy was secured, into an Annuity Bond which provides an income to cash through life, or for a series of years, if preferred.

Circulars giving full explanations and any other information, will be cheerfully furnished upon application.

The most liberal arrangements, will be made with first class solicitors, to push the Excelsior forward in the Old North State, to that position which her low rates and most ample security entitle her to occupy.
