The Chatham Record

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1883.

LOCAL JOTTINGS.

☞ Slight frost this morning.

☞ A row of shade trees is being set out around our court house.

☞ Mr. John W. Lee, of Oakland township, has a cotton boll with ten locks.

☞ Mr. A. W. Palmer, of this county, was so unfortunate as to leave his right hand badly cut in a cotton gin, a few days ago.

☞ Rev. R. A. Willis is conducting a revival in the Methodist church at this place, and is preaching earnestly for the conversion of sinners.

☞ The Sheriff yesterday finished his tour of the county collecting taxes, and says that he has never before collected so little. On his next tour he hopes to have better luck.

☞ Rev. Dr. Baird officiated at the Episcopal church here, on last Sunday morning and night, and every one was greatly pleased with his sermons. He will preach here again next Sunday.

☞ Capt. J. J. Crange has presented the Raleigh museum with an Irish potato of the most peculiar shape that we have ever seen. It was raised by Mr. Richard Cotten, of Cape Fear township.

☞ On Saturday the 10th inst., at his residence in this place, Mr Spencer Taylor will sell at public auction for cash all his household and kitchen furniture, farming implements, &c. A fine opportunity for bargains.

☞ Mr. W. A. Ellington, of Beaumont P. O., this county, has lost his bird dog, named "Spot". It is a white dog with liver spots on its hips. A liberal reward will be paid for its return or for information as to its whereabouts.

☞ One of the pleasantest places to visit in Raleigh is Mr. Fred. A. Watson's store, which resembles an art gallery. You will there find a large and splendid assortment of picture frames, window shades, cornices, easy chairs, house ornaments &c.

☞ Come at once and see the finest, largest and best stock of goods ever in Pittsboro, and bargains is the place to find them. We call your especial attention to his splendid stock of Dress Goods, Velvets and Plush Trimmings, Binding, Fringes, Laces, Straws, Hats, Walking Jackets, and anything else a lady needs.

☞ When you come to Pittsboro, don't forget to call and examine Bynum & Brooks' Stock of Ladies' Dress Goods, Hosiery, Cloaks, fine Kid Gloves, Misses' Shoes, and in fact a large and varied stock of goods, such as you will generally find in a first class store, which we are selling at bottom prices.

☞ They are still coming, and will continue to come, those beautiful goods of London's, and the ladies are still coming to see them and they always buy, and say they are the cheapest and the best stock of goods ever in this place. If you are in need of any kind of goods London's is the place to see them. Look at those splendid Sewing Machines when you call.

Delightful Weather. The bright, balmy weather of the past few days has been in most pleasant contrast with the inclement weather of the preceding month. It is now as delightful weather as one could wish for. Thus far there has been no frost, which is quite rare lately, for it rarely happens that we miss having frost in October.

Marriage Licenses. During the month of October ten marriage licenses were issued in this county, six to whites and four to blacks. This number will doubtless be increased during this and next month, for as Christmas and cold weather approach marriages increase. From and after to-day licenses will cost 25 cents more than heretofore, so that all who waited until after the 1st of November will lose 25 cents by their delay.

Proposals for Contracts. We have received a pamphlet containing the mail routes in this State on which proposals for carrying the mail are invited. All bids must be forwarded to the Post Office Department before the 5th of next January. The contracts will begin the 1st of July, 1884, and continue four years. In this county the present routes and schedules will remain unchanged, except that proposals are invited for the route from here to Roscoe (7 miles north of here) for the mail to be carried every Saturday.

The Fayetteville Fair. In another column is published the time table of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. for visitors to the Cumberland County Fair. It will be seen that a freight train with a passenger coach attached will leave Ore Hill at 10 o'clock, on next Tuesday, and a passenger train will leave that station, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings at 6 o'clock, arrive at Fayetteville at 10 o'clock, and return to Ore Hill in sufficient time to reach Hillsboro at night. A favorable opportunity is thus presented to our readers to enjoy a pleasant excursion at a small cost and inconvenience, and we doubt not that hundreds will take the trip. There is every indication that the fair will be very attractive and be a source of much enjoyment. Chatham will no doubt be well represented.

A Musical Pigeon.—The most musical pigeon, of which we have ever heard, is the pet of a daughter of Mr. F. W. Atwater, of this county. When ever the music is played the pigeon will come into the parlor, perch at the top of the performer's music, the music goes on and the pigeon will spread out its tail and wings and in the most excited manner imaginable, the pigeon sings, after, it has gone to roost, it will leave its roost and coming into the parlor commence its peculiar movements. This statement may seem incredible, but is certainly true.

The Stock Law.—We hear that a petition, signed by the requisite number of voters, will be presented to the county commissioners at their meeting next month, asking that an election be held for a week every day for the purpose of establishing the stock law in the vicinity. After the election is ordered we will publish the boundaries of the proposed territory, and also give a synopsis of the law under which it is held. The adoption of the stock law in this neighborhood would not give a benefit, and, after it has been tried for awhile, this will be the opinion of many who now oppose it.

State News.

Newborn Journal: Judge Phillips commenced the practice to hearts as well as men. A negro was convicted before him last week for cutting a man with a knife, for which crime he gets 9 months in the county jail.

Anson Times: Little Johnnie Blake, a six year old son of James M. Blake, esq., who lives about five miles from here, had the misfortune to have one of his legs broken on Monday last. He was riding upon a wagon loaded with straw, and falling off, one of the wagon wheels ran over his left leg breaking the thigh bone.

Wilson Mirror: Joseph Drake, of Nash county, aged 17 years, weighs only 31 pounds and is really a living skeleton. We saw him on Wednesday and was utterly surprised to see how a human being could live in such a state of perfect emaciation. He has a good appetite, and seems to enjoy whatever is given him to eat.

Wilmington Star: A small white boy was playing with a loaded pistol on Tuesday afternoon, when it was accidentally discharged, the ball from which lodged itself in the leg of a young colored woman named Mary Peters, employed on the premises, causing a very painful wound. A competent surgeon took the case in hand and yesterday morning succeeded in extracting the ball.

Pilot to News and Observer: The Pender county, and Sixth district Democracy have nominated Mr. Frank Stevens for the Legislature. Mr. Stevens is a young man of great promise, and if elected will be a valuable member. He is a nephew of Gen. Stevens, of the Confederate cavalry, and is stationed at Walla Walla, Washington Territory.

Raleigh Hon Beaver: The cane mills are still putting in a terrible work. A man in Caldwell was drawn into one and literally rolled to a jelly. Careless persons should not go in front of horses and cane mills.—Robert S. Collins's children killed a young lady's cat a few days since, while picking peas. It had a kind of three cornered scarf in front of its mouth and was unlike any snake they had seen before.

Fayetteville Observer: Mr. C. S. Braswell, of this county, sent us a peck of sweet potatoes last Friday, which weighed four pounds and fourteen ounces. He intended sending us the whole peck to hog a hog, but held of it and eat it all but the little one to be sent us. We have not heard whether the hog is still living or not, but if he got away with all that, taking ex-sixteen pounds and fourteen ounces, we must say the poor wood hollow a pretty rough customer if it got hold of that hog.

Tarboro Guide: On Saturday last Pharo Lassiter, a negro lunatic, was burned to death in the Wilson jail. The poor unfortunate had managed to secure matches in some way with which he set fire to his bed and himself. The smoke was seen coming from his cell, and the jailor being away with the keys in his pockets, the doors were forced open with axes, but only in time to find the poor wretch enveloped in flames and his body completely charred. He survived but a short time after the discovery.

Alamance Gleaner: Mr. R. W. Engle near here has a pumpkin over three feet long and about a foot in diameter. Who can beat this on pumpkins? —The "E. M. Holt Plaid Mills are nearing completion. Ten new tenement and convenient tenement houses have been erected for operatives. Nine car loads of machinery have been received, which is being put in position for running, and there is more coming. The machinery will be driven by a Sayer Westinghouse engine. The mill is 175x187 feet and one and one half stories high.

Hickory Press: Mr. C. D. Taylor, of Watauga county, writes us that Calvin Green, a farmer on the Blue Ridge, near Blowing Rock, sowed 11 bushels of rye for [illegible] bushels. This fall 126 bushels. This is a country we should see a large crop of rye. [illegible] Mr. C. M. Dougherty, of Watauga county, raised on Blue Ridge this year 300 bushels of Irish potatoes. At 90 cents per bushel, which the Hickory merchants are paying, Mr. D. will realize over $100 from this small spot of mountain land which is almost too steep to be ploughed.

Kinston Free Press: An old colored man died on Messrs. George and Albert Parrott's plantation last Monday who was born before the war and who was a valuable tree he lived on with his old master until he died and have had with his young masters up to the time of his death. His name was George Parrott and he was 70 years old. He was a fireman on the road at 18. He never voted for any one except a Parrott and died within 200 yards of where he was born. He never voted a Republican ticket in his life and was, upon the whole, a remarkable and faithful old colored man.

Fayetteville Observer: On Friday night last Mr. Thomas McDaniel was run over by the gravel train on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad at the water tank near Patterson's corner. One of his legs was terribly mangled. He lived until Sunday morning. It seems that Mr. McDaniel, at about time for return of the train, was on his way home, and while crossing the trestle at the water tank his foot caught in some way and he was unable to extricate himself. He heard the train coming and made many outcries, but their meaning was not understood by the engineer, who did not know whence they proceeded.

Asheville Citizen: Col. Cameron exhibited in the office last week a mangel wurtzel beet, raised on his ground, which weighed 19 pounds, 10 ounces, net. It measured in girth [illegible] inches. Now if this can be beaten, let it be known, or let the Corner down-a-mead on the crop beet question.—Many private letters received at this office of late indicate strongly that large benefits are soon to accrue to this section of the State as a result of the superior exhibit made at Boston. Stock raising and manufacturing enterprises of various kinds seem to be the object of most of those making inquiries. All may feel assured of an honest welcome to the most promising section of the old thirteen States.

Greensboro Patriot: The tobacco factory of O. A. Baily & Co., at Reidsville, was burned about 4 o'clock this morning. It is believed in Reidsville that the fire was the devilish work of an incendiary.—Deputy Sheriff Yoder, of Columbia county, carried to the Goldsboro asylum, this morning, a young colored boy who is a born incendiary. The very sight of fire fills him with indescribable emotions and his desire to strike a match and apply it to something combustible is irresistible and irrestrainable. At the moment he is left to himself he begins to look for something that will start a blaze, and nothing short of handcuffs will keep his fingers out of the fire. He has tried to burn any and everything from a haystack to a dwelling house. He talks well and says his desire to burn up things is simply to satisfy his pleasure in seeing a blaze.

Charlotte Observer: Parties from [illegible] a serious affair [illegible] a young man named [illegible] which the latter was killed. It appears that the young man had been [illegible] and had been [illegible] with a gun, which the latter, he did not know was loaded. Will Caldwell, the boy who was subsequently shot, begged his friend to put the gun down, but before doing this, the boy aimed the gun at Chaffee and to his horror it went off. The load of lead shot with which the gun was charged, entered Chaffee's head just above the eye. Chaffee is in a critical condition.—One of the passengers who came in on the Air Line train yesterday morning brought us some news from Seddle circus of the usual bloody character. At Concord, S. C., where the circus exhibited Thursday, there was a big row at night in which a house of prostitution were beaten up by the circus rangers. That same night, on the circus train, a colored man named John Graham, who was in the employ of the railroad as a track walker, unintentionally offended a showman, who at the latter knocked the negro on the head and then threw him from the train, killing him instantly. The murderer was followed up by officers to Charlotte, Ga., where he was captured.—Steve Alexander, one of a team employed at Hall's steel works, met with a peculiar and painful accident last Saturday night. He sat down upon a butcher knife and inflicted upon himself a very dangerous wound. The blade was in his overcoat pocket and as he sat down on it blade entered his flesh, severing a large artery and inflicting a serious gash. The unfortunate man had bled nearly to death before a physician could arrive.

The Quilt Craze.

[illegible]

Our county editor yesterday afternoon saw a young lady step up to a gentleman friend and reaching out for his hat, jerk it off with the remark: "O, I must have yours, Mr. Sugarplum." But no sooner had she turned the inside of the hat than she returned it to him with a disappointed look, remarking that mamma had been there ahead of her. "Even there, returned Mr. Sugarplum, "we had think the have had lady's been here too." he continued, looking in his vest for his watch and a silver dollar would cover it. The reporter asked what all this talk meant and was informed by the young man that it all comes from the latest craze the girls have caught, the "crazy quilt" idea. They get the satin lining out of every hat they come across, beg, borrow or steal it, and if a young man will stand it a little longer they will have spent a sufficient amount to make a silk quilt. It is called the "crazy quilt" and is said to be just perfectly lovely. All the girls are making one. The young men don't mind their hat linings at all, but if high hats and vests were to go out of style, they would all be ruined.

Time to Stop It.

It's too bad, Sir or Madam, but don't get frightened. Your hair is falling off—that's certain. A glance in the mirror, or an investigating committee of fingers tell the dismal story. We won't discuss the point of the cause. It is enough that Parker's Hair Balsam used now will prevent further destruction. Is your hair somewhat gray, too, and crisp? Alas, yes. The Balsam will give back the original color, softness and gloss. Not a dye, not oily, elegantly performed, a perfect dressing.

Fayetteville Crockery.

About thirty years ago a country merchant from the Red Hills of Randolph bought a stock of goods in Fayetteville, as was the custom in those days. As his wagons were winding around one of those red hills, the wheels of one of them ran into a deep rut and the wagon was turned over. The load was spilled on the side of the road towards the slope of the hill and a cask of crockery rolled a hundred feet or more to the bottom. It was expected as a matter of course that much of the ware was broken, but to the surprise and gratification of the owner not a piece was injured. This cask was packed at the Fayetteville Crockery Store established by W. N. Tillinghast in 1872. This establishment is still flourishing, and its owner will be pleased to wait upon his old friends from the "Red Hills" or any of their successors, at the same old stand, when they come down on the new railroad to visit the good old town of Fayetteville. Their purchases either at wholesale or retail shall be packed with the same care and honesty as of yore—for which he makes no charge.
