—Many a rabbit will be caught in the snow, and our Raleigh friends will have an opportunity of feasting on their favorite food—Chatham rabbits.

—As you sit by your fireside reading this paper, don't you think that it is well worth three cents? And yet that is the price of it. And by the way have you paid that?

—Dr. W. H. Edwards, of Wake Forest, will visit Pittsboro on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday following the third Sunday in every month, and will be prepared to do any kind of dental work, office with Chapin & Headen.

—Any young man or lady desiring to attend a good academic school and wishing to pay expenses by teaching primary grades or penmanship or both, would do well to correspond, at once, with R. B. Vineberry, Riggsbee's Store, N. C.

—On last Saturday, at Roanoke, Virginia, our former countryman, Mr. Cornelius F. Griffin, was married to Miss Hannah Jackson and arrived at his old home with his bride on last Monday. The RECORD wishes them a long life of wedded bliss.

—Our former countryman, Capt. Geo. M. Lasater, who is now a conductor on the S. A. L., was happily married on the 21st inst., at Littleton, to Miss Annie Bell, a daughter of R. J. Allen, Esq. The RECORD extends its congratulations to the happy couple.

—If you can possibly help it do not commence another year in debt. W. L. London & Son are now ready to receive the money you owe them. Call and see how you stand. Short settlements make long friends. All open accounts must be closed in some way at once.

—One of the most vigorous old men that we know is Mr. Oliver McMath, of Hickory Mountain township, who although he is 78 years old is one of the most noted fox hunters in the State. He can ride after the hounds all day without any fatigue, and break down any ordinary man.

—The entertainment which was to have been held here, on last Tuesday night, was postponed on account of the snow-storm until tomorrow (Friday) night. The court-house will be well warmed and everybody will be comfortable. A large attendance and an enjoyable occasion is expected.

A SUDDEN DEATH.—On last Monday afternoon an old colored man named Robert Mitchell, suddenly dropped dead in his yard, about three miles west of this place. He had been in his usual good health, and heart disease is supposed to have caused his death. He was of the "old issue" of free negroes, a carpenter by trade, and bore an excellent character. He had been a subscriber to the RECORD nearly ever since it was established.

CHRISTMAS DAY.—Coming on Sunday this year Christmas was more quietly observed than usual. The temperature was quite cold and crisp, and the sun shone brightly, a most seasonable day for Christmas. The streets of our town were almost deserted, having no appearance whatever of Christmas. The Methodist and Episcopal churches were open for service, and after attending church nearly everybody remained indoors the rest of the day. No doubt many good dinners were enjoyed, and old Santa Claus made many young hearts very happy with his numerous gifts.

PASSING AWAY.—At the close of every year when we look over the RECORD's subscription lists we note with regret the names of those subscribers, who have passed away, have died during the past year. It makes us sad indeed as we see so many names erased, subscribers to whom the RECORD had been sent for several years and have passed away, just as we all must do as the years go by. And as we note the names of those subscribers who have died during the past year, we cannot refrain from wondering who will pass away during the coming year. It may be this one, or that one, or it may be you, kind reader. No man can tell!

A HORRIBLE MURDER.—Between three and four o'clock on last Friday afternoon Mr. Adam Siler and his wife were most brutally murdered at their residence, about two and a half miles north of Siler City, in this county. About four o'clock that afternoon their little grandson, who lived with them, returned from school in the neighborhood and found them lying dead in the house, one in one room and the other in another room. The little boy gave the alarm and some of the neighbors soon arrived there and found that a most horrible double murder had been committed. The bodies of the victims were still warm, and each had been shot. Robbery was evidently the cause of the murder and from the surrounding circumstances it is supposed that the robber entered the house, demanded Mr. Siler's money and he refusing to give it up the robber seized Mr. Siler's gun, that was in the room, struck him on the back of the head with it, knocking him down, shot the load of one barrel into his stomach, then drew his pistol and shot him twice in the head; then rushing into the adjoining room he shot Mrs. Siler twice with his pistol, one ball entering the left ear and the other in the face near the nose. He then pulled out the drawers in a bureau, took out a small lot of money (ten or fifteen dollars) that was in one of the drawers and ran off. His track was discovered next day in a small field near the house, but he was not seen by any one.

Mr. Siler was about seventy five years old, his wife was a few years younger, and he was a well to do and thrifty farmer with money loaned out. This old couple had a young grandson living with them, and some of their married children living in the neighborhood. It was not known that he had an enemy in the world, for he was a good citizen and kind neighbor. His residence was between the public dirt road and the C. F. & Y. V. railroad, in sight of each and about two hundred yards distant. And the make it so strange and startling that a man and his wife should be shot down and cruelly murdered, in broad daylight, in their home in so public a place, and the murderer escape without being seen.

The coroner was notified of the murder, and, arriving there on Sunday, summoned a jury of inquest, which has been diligently investigating the case, but up to yesterday had not rendered any verdict. Many rumors have been afloat and several persons have been suspected, and our latest information is that strong circumstances point out the guilty person, but it is not deemed prudent now to state who it is. Of course so diabolical a murder has created a great sensation throughout that neighborhood, and all the neighbors, for miles around, have been doing all they could to discover the murderer. This is the third time, within the past few years, that two old persons have been brutally murdered at their homes in this county, and it naturally creates much excitement and considerable uneasiness.

A SNOW FROWN.—One of the severest snow storms that has ever been known in this section swept over this county on last Tuesday. The snow began to fall after midnight and fell all day Tuesday, covering everything deep, being the heaviest snow fall since the memorable snow in January, 1857. It was a very penetrating snow, the flakes creeping in under windows and doors in drifts, and it was also a very dry snow. The young folks here were enjoying sleigh-riding yesterday and having a merry time, but with persons thinly clad or short of fuel the snow has caused much suffering. The farmers say the snow will greatly help their wheat crops.

AN UNJUST TAX.—A few days ago a poor young man and his sweetheart walked here from their home, about ten miles distant, for the purpose of obtaining a marriage license and being married. When they went to buy the license they had only two dollars, and the price was $2.50. Not being able to raise the other fifty cents, they walked back home, obtained the lacking fifty cents and next day walked here again bought the license and were duly married. Some persons may think this quite an amusing little incident, and make light of it, but it is suggestive of the fact that the fee for a marriage license is a very unjust and improper tax. It certainly does seem strange that there should be a fine or penalty imposed by law upon marriages, and that any State should levy a tax on morality, for that is exactly what this marriage license fee amounts to.

PERSONAL ITEMS.—Quite a number of visitors have been spending their Christmas holidays at our ancient Borough. Among them we are pleased to note the following: Miss Minnie Bryan, of New Berne; Mr. E. L. Haughton, of Jones county; Episcopal Churches and Mr. Robert P. Walters, of Wake Forest; Dr. Haughton Birle, of Baltimore; Messrs. J. C. and Francis Womack, of Reidsville; Mrs. W. A. Nash, of Sanford; Mr. James L. Baldwin, of Richmond county; Dr. John H. London and family, and Messrs. H. M. Cowan, Frank Ellington, and W. A. McClenahan, of Raleigh; Mr. David Smith, of Johnston county; Mr. Herbert E. Norris and family and Miss Norris, of Apex.

Rev. R. P. Fulbanks and family have been spending Christmas at his old home near here. He has recently accepted a call at Columbia, S. C.

Capt. L. R. Exline, who for several months past has been employed by a coal mining company in East Tennessee, is now visiting his family at this place.

Mr. I. R. Hayes of Gulf, has moved to Pershaw, S. C., where he will engage in business. We regret that Chatham loses an enterprising citizen.

CHATHAM'S DEAD SOLDIERS.—In order to obtain a full and correct list of all of Chatham's soldiers, who were killed or died during the late war, the RECORD began last week to publish by companies the names of all of whom we could obtain any information. Dr. Deems Partially Paralyzed

From the New York World, Dec. 19th.

The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Deems pastor of the Church of the Strangers, in Mercer street, is to be taken to the Dansville Sanitarium, New York, either tomorrow or next day for treatment. The venerable divine is a victim to nervous prostration brought on by excessive labor. He also suffers from a partial paralysis of the right hand, with which he has written so many able sermons as well as contributions to the press. Dr. Deems is just a few weeks over seventy three years old.

Notwithstanding his advanced age he rarely failed to preach his usual Sunday sermon until yesterday. On Wednesday night, the 14th inst. the doctor opened the fair at Hope Chapel, in East Fourth street. During the same week he delivered a speech on prohibition, attended two or three fairs and made addresses and by Friday was thoroughly worn out. Mrs. Deems begged him to take a rest, but he insisted upon preparing his sermon for the next Sunday. He had hardly taken up his pen when he discovered that his fingers refused to perform their functions. Dr. Le Fevre the family physician, was summoned. He pronounced it a case of sympathetic paralysis, induced by bodily exhaustion, and urged Dr. Deems to give up his pastoral work for a time at least. Still the doctor begged to be permitted to deliver another sermon to his congregation, and the following Sunday evening he addressed it for the last time in perhaps many months. He was so weak that, as he spoke, he was compelled to sit in a chair. Those who heard the sermon declare it to have been one of the most eloquent and powerful ever delivered by him.

Since that night the doctor has implicitly obeyed the orders of his physician, and last night he was reported to be a little improved. When a World reporter called at the New York Hotel to see the doctor he sent word that he was sorry to say "no", but that Mrs. Deems would speak for him. Mrs. Deems is a motherly little woman, with gray hair and an exceedingly sweet face. "My husband," said she, "is a little improved today, but I fear it will be some time before he can resume his pastoral labors. We shall go to Dansville the coming week. Old as he is, he thinks that he can perform as much brain and physical labor as when he first entered the ministry."

The White House is now in a state of quarantine, because a grandchild of the President is sick with scarlet fever.

A masterly pain-cure.—Mr. T. C. Wegman, 151 Prospect St., Brooklyn, N. Y., says this: "While at work I sprained my ankle and was only able to get home with the greatest difficulty. I sent for a bottle of Salvation Oil and gave my ankle a thorough rubbing after which the pain subsided and after a second application the pain entirely disappeared."

A Runaway Couple Caught.

From the Winston Sentinel, 27th.

There was a sensation at Walnut Cove yesterday afternoon.

The parties concerned with the affair were Miss Mary Gibson, aged about fifteen, and Jack Hairston, of Goodwill, Forsyth county. They had eloped and gone to Walnut Cove on horseback, with a view of taking the train for Winston, where they proposed to be married.

Unfortunately for the young couple they were met at the depot by the prospective bride's uncle, Frank Gibson, who interrupted the match. He forbade Hairston taking the girl any farther. A heated discussion over the matter resulted in a fight between Gibson and Hairston. During the battle Miss Gibson clung to Jack and declared that she would never return home.

After the melee the sheriff's deputy was called in and took charge of the girl, marching her off to home. Young Hairston had to return home greatly disappointed.

The question is frequently asked, "Why is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so much more effective than other cough remedies?" The answer is, simply because it is the most skillful combination of anodynes and expectorants known to medical science.

For the Confederate Monument.

The RECORD will publish from week to week a list of the contributors and sums contributed for Chatham's Block in the monument to be erected at Raleigh in memory of North Carolina's soldiers, who were killed or died during the late war. Thus far the list is as follows:
