CHRISTIAN HEROISM.

It is easy to die in a battle-field—to confront death there. There earthly prizes are won—stars, bright honors, are glittering amid, that sulphurous smoke; there earthly passions are to be gratified—my sister was wronged, my mother butchered, my little brother's brains dashed out against the wall. I am a man, and could believe the story told of our countrymen; how each, having got a bloody lock of a murdered woman's hair, sat down in awful ominous silence, and after counting the number that fell to each man's lot, rose to swear by the great God of heaven, that for every hair they would have a life. Amid such scenes, with passions boiling, vengeance calls for blood, hurling me, like mad man, on the edge of steel; and where the shout of charging comrades cheers him on, the soldier is swept on blazing guns and bristling bayonets, in a whirlwind of wild excitement. But to lie pining in a dungeon, and never hear the sweet voice of human sympathy; to groan and shriek upon the rack where cowled and shaven murderers are as devoid of pity as the cold stone walls around; to suffer as our fathers did, when, calm and intrepid, they marched down that street to be hung up like dogs, for Christ's crown and kingdom, implies a higher courage, is a far nobler, manlier, holier thing. Yet thousands have so died for Jesus.

Theirs has been the gentle, holy, heroic spirit of that soldier boy, whose story is one of the bright incidents that have relieved the darkness of recent honors, and shed a halo of glory around the dreadful front of war. Dragged from the jungle, pale with loss of blood, wasted to a shadow with famine and hardship, far away from father or mother, or any earthly friend, and surrounded by a cloud of black incarnate fiends, he saw a Mohammedan convert, appointed at the preparations for his torture, about to renounce his faith. Fast dying, almost beyond the vengeance of his enemies, this good, brave boy had a moment more to live, a breath more to spend,—Love to Jesus, the ruling passion, was strong in death; and so, as the gates of heaven was rolling open to receive his ransomed spirit, he raised himself up, and casting an imploring look on the wavering convert—"O, do not deny your Lord!" A noble death, and a right noble testimony!—Dr. Guthrie's Inheritance of the Saints.

THE DANGER OF HALTING

What is it you are wavering between?—Dust and ashes and "a crown of glory that fadeth not away." On your right hand is Christ, heaven and an immortality of blessedness; on your left hand is disobedience, rebellion, discontent, remorse despair and an immortality of misery. Between these you are halting! While you halt, the "gulf" is forming that will soon be "fixed;" character is deepening that will soon be stereotyped for ever. Indecision becomes decision; you decide for hell while you waver about heaven.

And how imminent the peril of those that are wavering! It is now, or it is never; it is here, or it is nowhere. The door will soon be shut that will never be opened and a dark abyss set that can never be crossed. O! that I could bring home to every halting man the position that as a sinner, without Christ, he occupies. He stands on the narrow ledge of life; above him is the terrific mountain of his guilt that he has no power in himself to scale; below him is the fearful abyss of death,—the death that never dies. There is but the breath in his nostrils between him and the bottomless pit.

O, awake, fellow-sinner; awake to thy true and perilous position! It is late,—not too late. There is yet the hope that hangs from the cross of Jesus or rather from the throne of God; that hope can lift thee over the mount of thy guilt, and land thee on the brink of the shore of eternal safety and peace. O leap and live. "Fly for refuge and lay hold of the hope set before you," and as God liveth, your soul shall live! He is "slow to anger and plenteous in mercy."

"As I live," saith the Lord God, "I have no pleasure in the death of a sinner, but rather that he should repent and live. Turn ye, turn ye, for why will ye die?"—Rev. Hugh Stowell.

A GOOD PASTOR.

The true emblems of a good minister are, a shepherd at the head of his flock, and a parent at the head of his family.—The shepherd has an equal regard for all the flock, for the lambs as for the sheep; he seeks the wandering; he applies remedies to the diseased; he gathers the lambs with his arms; he collects them into the fold at night, and counts them as they enter, so that none may be left without; and he leads them forth in the morning pastures and beside the still waters. His care and watchfulness descends to all the flock. And so the father of a family exercises special care over every member of it, and seeks, with equal care and diligence, the best good of them all. He exercises a general care over all, and a special care of each. So that a good minister should care for his people as a shepherd cares for his sheep—as a father cares for his family—as God promises to care for Israel when he says, "I will feed my flock; I will cause them to lie down. I will seek that which was lost, and will bring again that which was driven away, and will bind that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick." And if the Great Shepherd condescends to such duties, on what grounds can under-shepherds excuse themselves from it.—Dr. Murray.

THE HOLY SPIRIT GRIEVED.

When the Spirit is grieved first, he bears with us. He is grieved again and again and again, and still he bears with it all.—But at last his grief becomes so excessive that he says, "I will suspend my operations; I will begone; I will leave life behind me, but my own actual presence I will take away." And when the Spirit of God goes away from the soul and suspends all his operations; a miserable state we are in. He suspends his instructions; we read the Word, we cannot understand it; we go to our commentaries, they cannot tell us the meaning; we fall on our knees and ask to be taught, but we get no answer, we learn nothing.

Agricultural.

IMPORTANT TO WHEAT GROWERS.

From a series of experiments made in England and the United States, for the purpose of ascertaining the proper period of reaping wheat, it has been settled that the best time for performing the operation is when it is in a raw state, or when the straw, from a distance, has a greenish appearance but on a closer examination is found to be approximating to yellow, and the grain, separated from the chaff, is pulpy and soft, but not in the milky state. It is now the opinion of intelligent wheat growers that at least from five to six dollars per acre is lost by allowing the wheat to become ripe before it is cut, and that at the same time its quality is injured. By reaping the wheat as above, or at the time directed, a greater weight of grain is obtained, which produces more flour, of a superior quality; the straw containing more nutritive matter, and is better for stock, and there is more time and consequently a better opportunity of securing the crop, and there is less waste by shattering out the grain.

Like all other operations in the vegetable kingdom, the ripening of the seed consists entirely of various chemical processes, the nature or modus operandi of which not being generally understood need not be explained; their results should be carefully observed in order to determine when the reaping should be performed. When an ear or head of wheat first fills, it is then said to be in the milky state; in seven or ten days after, the seed becomes more solid, and the straw begins to wither and assume a yellow appearance from the ground towards the head. At this period the straw will be yellow for twelve or fifteen inches above the ground; in seven or ten days more the crop will be perfectly ripe; the straw will be yellow up to the head—at this stage the grain can be rubbed out by the hands. On examining the seed, a perceptible difference which has taken place since the last period, will be that the skin will have become much thicker and harder, which diminishes the quantity of flour. Now, this proves that the last change in the seed produces an increase of bran, and a relative diminution of flour, which will be the continued effect according to the time which elapses between the ripening and harvesting of the crop. Then it must be the interest of the farmer to cut his wheat before it becomes thoroughly ripe.—The millers will not pay as much for wheat cut after it is thoroughly ripe as for that cut in the proper state. It has been suggested by some speculative writer that new varieties of wheat can be produced by cross-fecundation, in other words, a mixture of several varieties and sown together.

The improvement of agricultural plants by cross-fecundation is a subject of the highest importance to planters. It would seem quite as feasible as the hybridizing, or cross breeding in animals. We cannot, from experience or any information in our possession, venture to give any advice upon this new and important subject. We would like for some of our wheat-growers to make the experiment and communicate the result. We do know, however, that an important variety of Indian corn can be produced in this way. Some years ago we obtained and mixed five different kinds of seed corn, that is to say, seed corn selected from different farms in different neighborhoods—there was a marked difference in each variety—planted the whole in one field. The result was, a crop of corn not exactly like, but superior to either variety. We continued to plant this crop till it lost all appearance of the original varieties, save one, the best of the family.—N. C. Planter.

CRANBERRIES.

At a recent meeting of the American Institute, the secretary stated that Jesse C. Young showed him a receipt for one hundred and fifty six dollars, the net result of one third of an acre of the scrub-oak land of Long Island, cultivated in cranberries. This is the third year. He says: The soil is sandy loam, the sand quite coarse. We have to sink our wells fifty seven feet to get water just where the cranberries grow.—The vines were taken from the swamps on the Island, where they grow wild. I set my vines in drills thirty inches apart in the drills, and kept them clear by hand weeding, using no manure. I set my vines at any time in the fall or spring, when convenient. I am planting them at this time.

LIME IN TRANSPLANTING TREES.

An England publication says that a large plantation of trees has been formed in the country within a few years past, without the loss of a single tree, by putting a small quantity of lime in the hole when planting the tree. Four bushels of lime are said to be sufficient for an acre. The lime is thoroughly mixed with the soil, in order that it might be reached by the roots, with equal facility in every direction, as its principal effect is to push forward the tree during the first precarious stages of growth.

CULINARY DEPARTMENT

Hot Bed.—Cucumbers should be syringed morning and evening in hot weather.—Allow the heat to range between 72 and 85 deg.; the latter degree of heat, when the sun is shining on the glass. If the plants suffer from the sun's rays, shade them lightly the hottest portion of the day.

Egg plants should be placed simply in small pots and allowed a warm corner in the cucumber frame.

Tomatoes should also be potted. The few required for early use do not need so high a temperature as the Egg plants.

A general sowing of seed should be made this month. Let nothing be forgotten, as this is our principal month for sowing all kinds of small seed. The middle to the end of the month will be time enough for the main crop. Keep up successions of all crops needed most.

YES YOU MAY USE OR RECOMMEND
Heimstreet's Inimitable
HAIR COLORING!
AND FIND IT TO BE A PERFECT HAIR RESTORATIVE,
preserving the strength and growth of the Hair, and giving it all the beauty of youth. Do you doubt it?

Read! Read! Read!

Sodom Lake, Essex Co., N. Y., February 6, 1858.

W. E. Hagan, Troy, N. Y.—Dear Sir:

Having used your Hair Coloring or Restorative, and being made glorious with it, I feel pleasure in making the following statement: Hair fell off here in a very severe fever of sickness, when about 18 years of age, my hair commenced turning gray, and so continued to grow until it became perfectly white, being very harsh and coarse. Last Summer I had reached my fifty thirty-six, when I was induced by a friend to purchase two bottles of Heimstreet's Hair Restorative prepared by you. I commenced using it according to directions, and in a few days was astonished to find that my hair from the roots outward was turning back to its original color. It was continued to grow until it was as bright as and glossy as it was in my youthful days, and is now fully restored to its original color.

MYLA SEAMAN.

Essex Co., ss.—Myla Seamans to me before sworn and was duly sworn, and said to be the same statement is true, this day, 6th day of February, 1858.

JOEL F. POTTER, Justice of the Peace.

Ferrisburgh, Vt., Aug. 1, 1857.

I hereby certify, that my hair having become quite gray, I used Heimstreet's Hair Restorative, prepared by W. E. Hagan, of Troy, N. Y., for four weeks, and my hair was in that time restored to its original color. I can fully recommend the article to be all it claims.

WM. KINGSLEY,
Pastor of the Baptist Church, Ferrisburgh, Vt.

Mr. W. E. Hagan: I have used Heimstreet's Hair Restorative for three years, and have found it to be a most excellent article. It not only restored the color of my hair, giving it new life and strength, but it cured my scalp and neck of a most obstinate eruption on the scalp, which nothing else seemed to benefit. I fully believe it to be the best article in use. Yours Respectfully,

KNOWLTON HOWLAND.

The above are but a few of the many letters of recommendation which have been addressed to the proprietors of Heimstreet's Hair Coloring or Restorative. It has been used by thousands of people, and it never fails to restore the young shade to the hair. This singular effect is not produced as some others are, by a dye upon the natural secretions of coloring matter at the roots, and thus affecting the change. The color produced is not a counterfeit, but the natural shade of youth. It does not color the skin.

Price 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHARLOTTE HOTEL,
BY
J. B. KERR,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

THE Proprietor of this Hotel is still at the post ready to fulfil the duties of "mine host" to the travelling public and others who may call on him, and he flatters himself that as comfortable quarters can be found with him as any where in this vicinity. Being situated nearly in the centre of Charlotte, Business Men will find this Hotel a most convenient and desirable location. He has been engaged in the business at this stand nearly eighteen years, and in that time he has made several additions to his former house, and it has been greatly enlarged and improved, presenting a front two story VERANDA 100 feet in length by 12 feet in width, commodiously elevated to form an the side-walk, affording a pleasant promenade at all hours of the day.

The House has been thoroughly renovated throughout, and in every part of it creature comforts are abundant and tangible, especially in the DINING ROOM, where the "inner man" is "refreshed" day by day.

Connected with this Hotel are Stables affording room for 100 horses, abundantly furnished with grain and provender, attended by faithful and obliging hostlers.

The Proprietor feels confident that with his long experience and many new advantages added to his desire to please, he is prepared to offer his friends and the "rest of mankind," as many comforts and as much good cheer as will be found anywhere, perhaps a little more so.

☞ At any rate try the Charlotte Hotel.

MOTHERS!
In presenting you with DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, we desire to state its superiority over every nostrum that cause or quack how horrificate offered you.
First—It is the prescription of a regular physician, who is well qualified, from much experience in infantile complaints, to recommend for them. Secondly—It is entirely free from paregoric or opiate of any kind, and consequently relieves by removing the suffering of your child, instead of producing its mortalities. Thirdly—It is put up with great care, as a composition of it with any other article for infantile complaints will show in the very roots from which it is supplied being sing from the forests under the direction of Dr. Eaton, many of them by his own hands. Fourthly—It is perfectly harmless and natural, gives the most delicate infant, and is a certain cure and relief in all the following cases, which is its chief merit over every other preparation, viz:
FOR ALL COMPLAINTS ATTENDING TEETHING; such as DYSENTERY, COLIC, &c., also, for suffering the gums and relieving pain. For regulating the bowels it is unequalled. For Colic in the Bowels a sure relief. FOR CROUP, the most fatal and trying of diseases, it can be relied on with perfect confidence; and being a powerful anti-spasmodic in all cases of convulsions or fits, we earnestly recommend you to lose no time in procuring it. Lastly—It costs no more than other preparations of the kind, that we cannot affect such long advertisements as we, those whose experience is their everything, for the same reason, it commends itself as the most reliable to all mothers. In all cases, the directions accompany each bottle, which is sufficiently explicit. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

BLOOD FOOD.
Dr. Brunson, having been so fortunate as to cure consumption, so to be considered beyond all hope of recovery by the most eminent of the medical profession, and also by himself—a regular physician of twenty years experience—a fact which convinced the value of ANALYZING THE BLOOD, and applying the subject of physiology to the more immediate connection, and effect of the state of the blood upon the health and system. The result has been the production of this "BLOOD FOOD," from the use of which, Dr. Brunson was restored to perfect health. Within six months thereafter introduction, over two thousand consumptive were effectually cured by it. If you have any complaints of a consumptive tendency, Cough, Cold, Hard cough, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Appetite, a pain in the Side, lose no time in procuring a bottle of the "BLOOD FOOD." If you are suffering from Nervous Debility or your sleep is broken and disturbed, if your Spirits are Depressed or your Organs Relaxed, you will find in this an invigorating remedy, by commencing with two doses. If your Liver is torpid or diseased in any manner whatever, one or two bottles will be sure to invigorate, and bring it into lively and healthful action. In the most inveterate cases of Dyspepsia, the patient can have find the most efficient and grateful relief. A benefit is always experienced after taking only one bottle. In Male or Female Complaints and Weakness, the sufferer, after trying other remedies in vain, may rest assured, that a certain cure will result from the use of two or three bottles. The "BLOOD FOOD" is offered to all cases of Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Scrofula and other low cases, Pale and emaciated children and adults are immediately benefited by its use. It gives strength to the body, and color and beauty to the skin. Physicians of all schools are using it with wonderful success.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
A compound remedy, in which we have believed to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Pure Sarsaparilla, combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Scrofulous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—
Scrofula and Scrofulous Complaints, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases, Ulcers, Pimples, Blotches, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Syphilis and Syphilitic Affections, Mercurial Disease, Dropsy, Neuralgia or Tic Douloureux, Debility, Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Impurity of the Blood.
This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; let with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.
Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, professing to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.
During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been from fraud upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are impossible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

WAIT FOR THE WAGGON.
WHY is it A. A. N. M. TAYLOR sells Stoves cheapest? Because he buys his STOVES from the Manufacturers.
A. A. N. M. TAYLOR
Would respectfully announce to the inhabitants of CHARLOTTE and vicinity, that he has returned from their Old Stand, to No. 1, Granite Row, where he has now on exhibition, just received from the North, one of the most extensive assortments of
STOVES
ever offered in North Carolina, among which will be found the celebrated
BROOK WRIGHT'S IMPROVED
COOKING STOVE,
which has gained such a famous reputation in the South-ern Country for the last eighteen months. This Stove he warrants superior to any Cooking Stove now in use. It is as strong as any consumes less fuel, and does more work in a given time than any other Stove now in use. He will put up one beside any other Stove of the same size in the Union Stove, and if it does not do as much work in a given time, he will furnish the price of the Stove, and guarantee and go his deed to the better one.
ALSO, ALL KINDS OF PARLOR & BOX STOVES
He has, and constantly keep on hand, an extensive and varied stock of
TIN AND SHEET IRON,
JAPAN AND BRITANNIA WARE,
BRASS KETTLES, CAST IRON BEDSTEADS,
HAT RACKS, CRADLES, &c., &c.,
All of which will be sold, wholesale and Retail cheaper than has ever been offered in this Vicinity.
I would return my thanks to my friends and customers for the very liberal patronage they have bestowed upon me, and they may rest assured that I shall endeavor, by close attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.
HIS MOTTO IS "QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS."
Ladies and Gentlemen are politely invited to call and examine his Stock.
ALL KINDS OF JOB WORK ATTENDED TO WITH DESPATCH.
N. B.—I will tell you why I have so much business.—"Why?" "Because I give the Waggon."—It is because we make three waggons consistently travelling through the country with Stoves.
☞ All orders will be faithfully and promptly attended to.

IT IS NOT TOO MUCH TO SAY SINCE ALL
OLD AND YOUNG,
ADMIT THE TRUTH,
Viz: That Professor Wood's Hair Restorative

Will generally (unless the roots and color of the hair are gone for ever) restore hair to its original color. Perfectly, instantaneously and without injury to the skin, which it leaves soft and healthy. Its effects are permanent, and it will not soil the most delicate linen. Perfumed and unadulterated. Unequaled as a dressing. Contains no lead, nitrate of silver, nor any other injurious ingredient. Unless it will do all claimed, it will not take the money. Test it at our risk. Price $1 per bottle.
Hudson's Grove, St. Clair Co., Mo., D. 17, 1857.
Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were informed by the agent of your Hair Restorative, and as the effects were so astonishing, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted to report it.
[illegible] hair for some time before, and [illegible] with some, and some [illegible] success. The hair almost entirely ceased [illegible] sequence, which we found, among his customers, was to be our best Restorative, and we [illegible] little hesitation, but I must confess, I was not at all over the mark, a very few applications [illegible] the consequence was, that new and fine growth of hair soon started out, and we now have as good a head of hair as any other child. We can, therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative as a perfect security for all purposes of the art it is said to be. We remain respectfully,
GEO. W. HIGGINBOTHAM
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM
Fort Wood—Dear Sir: My aged father, for some years, was annoying grandmothers by becoming bald, a disadvantage which rendered his constant appearance out necessary to conceal it. When I commenced using your Hair Restorative about two months ago it was in a very sorry condition, but in a few weeks, it has turned to its natural color, and assumed a uniform and healthy growth. It is produced in consequence of the application of only a few drops of your preparation. I therefore feel justified in recommending it to all who entertain any doubt of its performance, first to themselves, for it.
MRS. C. SYMONDS.
Cincinnati, O., Feb. 20, 1857. 114 Rhine st.
Williamsburg, Mo., Dec. 8, 1857.
Prof. Wood—Dear Sir: By the account of a cripple of mine, who had been using J. M. Hall's Restorative, I was induced to try it. I used it a few weeks, some time last May, and nearly every one in my neighborhood. Now my hair has become a great deal thicker than ever it was. Nothing but a thick and strong hair I feel recommendable to others who are affected as I have been, would induce me to give your preparation a trial. Yours respectfully, A. B. JACOBS.
The Restorative is put up in bottles of 3 sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holding a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for $1.50 per bottle; the large holds a quart, fifty per cent more in proportion, and retails for $2 a bottle.
