JOSIAH TURNER, JR., EDITOR.

NEW HEALTH MAXIMS.

Dr. Otto Lewis announces some rather startling propositions in his book on hygiene. For instance:

Potatoes, both Irish and sweet, are very poor food for brain and muscle.

The common notion that our health and life depend upon a mysterious Providence is downright infidelity. A child goes out of a hot room with naked arms and legs in pursuit of its daily supply of molasses candies, and then [illegible] indulges until he gets the gout, and disease attacks his heart and kills him, is his death a mystery?

The reason that the American people are such dyspetics is that they eat and drink so much, and eat and drink so fast. [illegible] will not digest if they are kept [illegible]. A tooth brush is a good thing, but one good tooth-pick is worth an armful of tooth brushes. There is a gentleman now living in New York city who has three beautiful front teeth which he purchased from the mouth of an Irishman. His own teeth were removed and instantly Patrick's were transferred.

The word biliousness is a sort of respectful cover for piggishness. People are not bilious who eat what they should.

The Greek and Roman armies ate but once a day.

The common impression that tomatoes are the healthiest of all vegetables is a mistake. If eaten at all, it should be with great moderation, and never raw. Tomatoes have sometimes produced salivation. Dr. Lewis knew a young woman who had lost all her teeth from excessive eating of tomatoes.

Pies and cakes are poisonous.

To healthy persons mineral waters are not wholesome.

Comets are most injurious to digestion. Their use finally results in an immense and very ugly protuberance of the abdomen.

Those who suffer from heartburn should avoid soups, drink nothing at meals, say "No, thank you," to pies and cakes, and go without supper.

If you wish to live to eighty-five, in the full enjoyment of all your faculties, go to bed at nine o'clock, and eat twice a day a moderate quantity of plain food.

The Solons, in Senate assembled, it is greatly to be feared, will deny Gov. Vance, the recently elected Senator from North Carolina, a seat within their body, on account of his connection with the rebellion. Had Governor [illegible] since the surrender, betrayed his friends and neighbors for personal aggrandizement; had he been an apostate to his political faith and sold his principles for a Radical bribe, he would have been welcomed with open arms and placed high in the councils of the men who now reject him. Everything like gratitude, consisting of good faith, the majority hold in abhorrence; the presence of an honest, upright man being as unwelcome to them as would be the presence of Mr. Beagle at Kit Burn's rat pit. No doubt Gen. Butler's swindling disability bill is actually framed for the purpose of covering this and similar cases, an irruption of honesty into the councils of the nation being as most dreaded of all misfortunes by the ring he represents.

There is some consolation, however, to be found in the fact that this opinion is not generally shared in by the Senate; that among them are to be found men superior to such degrading considerations, who hold that as the worst of all policies which deprives a people of their natural and chosen leaders. In a good time the ideas of the latter will prevail, but not in time, perhaps, to save Gov. Vance.—N. Y. World.

One of those mysterious atmospheric phenomena known as "a shower of blood" occurred on the 24 instant about six miles south of Sulphur Springs, in Texas. A gentleman named Bussy was seated with his family around the breakfast table in the yard of his residence. Not a cloud was to be seen in the blue vault above, when suddenly upon the astonished party fell what can be compared only to a shower of blood, which lasted some eight or ten seconds. The drops of blood—about the size of squirrel shot—pattered upon the dishes, food, and all around. For one hour the leaves, grass and the table at which the family had been seated, as also the clothing of the family, bore the distinct visible marks of blood. A similar event happened in Tennessee about twenty years ago, and some that time snakes and frogs have fallen in various localities. A scientific explanation has been given of the cause of this phenomenon, but, unhappily, we do not quite recall it at this moment. But we may safely say that, like everything in nature, this strange descent from the atmospheric system could be readily understood—if we could but account for it.

"Time, our tale, flies."—What a fountain of comfort is to be found in the thought of the long eternity of God! Change is our portion here; "They shall perish;" the brief chronicle regarding every thing on this side of heaven. The firmament above us, the earth beneath us, the elements around us,—"all these shall be dissolved." Scenes of hallowed pleasure—they are fled! Friends of many years, who sweetened our pilgrimage with their presence—they are gone! But here is a sure and safe anchorage amid the world's heaving ocean of vicissitudes. "Thou art the same!" all is unchanging but the Unchanging One!

Washington advices to some of the Northern papers say it can be stated on excellent authority that the Senate finance and House ways and means committee will agree to a bill for $200,000,000 five per cents, and that such a bill will pass the two houses of Congress.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune says that Gen. Vance will not be admitted to a seat in the Senate. We are afraid this will be so.

An exchange says "Gen. Hooker is for war with England—war to the knife." So is Gen. Butler, with the simple difference that he is for war, not to the knife, but to the spoon.

PROF. CHANDLER of New York City, in a lecture delivered by him at Cooper Institute, March 19, 1870, said:

"It is hardly necessary to enlarge upon the terrible accidents which have resulted from the use of unsafe kerosene; you have only to read the newspapers from day to day to see them. It is stated by some that these are exaggerated; that these accidents never occur, and that you and I never had a friend burned to death; still we do have an enormous number of terrible accidents from petroleum. In the last seven months of 1869 there were fifty five kerosene accidents in New York, resulting in twenty-three deaths, eighteen serious injuries and fourteen slight ones. The total result for the year 1869 for the City of New York which I myself have cut from newspapers is fifty-two fatal accidents from dangerous kerosene, fifty severe and six slight, in all 108 persons to my knowledge, from my own reading have been injured by kerosene in one year."

OXFORD HIGH SCHOOL,

Oxford, N. C.

J. H. HORNER, R. H. GRAVES, } Associate Principals.

THIS SCHOOL which has been for the last twenty years under the exclusive charge of J. H. Horner, will henceforth be conducted under the joint supervision of the above principals, with competent assistant instructors in every department.

The course of study has been extended, and boys will be thoroughly fitted for advanced classes in College, especial reference being had to the qualifications requisite to admission into the Senior classes in the University of Virginia, or Washington Lee University. The letter of which has again conferred upon the school the honor of a scholarship in that Institution.

A regular course of study in Natural Science, Commercial Science and the Modern Languages has been added to the school for those students, who, desiring to acquire only a complete business education may wish to substitute these studies for Latin and Greek.

No pains will be spared to render the instruction in the school efficient and to furnish to students the most ample facilities for thorough preparation for College or for the acquisition of a good business education; and the principals flatter themselves that their long and successful career as teachers is a sufficient guarantee that the school will be in all respects worthy the public confidence and support.

The Spring Session will open the second Monday in January.

Circulars containing terms and full particulars furnished upon application to either of the principals.

We see a great deal in the papers about the coming exhibition of Col. Simon Hayes' New Orleans dog. When it does come, it will be a great sight, for the Colonel is seen in his role and says, and does a great many funny things. Besides all this the Colonel is the best looking man in town, which is accountable for from the fact that he is a son of

GROCERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

'North Side Market Square,'

RALEIGH, N. C.

HAVING recently returned from the Northern markets, where they purchased a large and attractive stock of the

they would respectfully invite the citizens of Raleigh and the surrounding country to give them a call.

We are determined to keep only the best goods. Our motto is to deal fairly with all. We keep a large stock, and are always ready to sell cheap.

We hope our friends will give us a trial and if we do not treat you right, then don't trade with us.
