MORE ABOUT RELIEF

Editor of The Journal-Patriot:

Last autumn I promised of my opposition that I would cease bringing about the apparent inapplication of relief if the relief administrators fulfilled their promise of ending direct relief last November. But I am as prone to change my mind as the rest of my sex; and relief has certainly continued in an enlarged welfare department and many other setups, even if slightly disguised in name.

Last fall Harry L. Hopkins smugly announced, "We are through handing out baskets of rocks," quite as if he had arrived, all alone, at the discovery of the inefficacy of the doling of foodstuffs, when nobody else was brilliant enough to grasp it. But everyone else always knew of the shortcomings of this method, which was no permanent help to the needy and ridiculously overstocked the greedy well-to-do with supplies they already had. Mr. Hopkins was constantly making contradictory statements to the press that he was going to cut relief rolls to the really needy, or that he didn't care how many cars and radios relief cases owned. Though we still think President Roosevelt an able and well-meaning man, who had bettered times noticeably in many lines, some of us are not enamoured of Mr. Hopkins, the so-called "white-haired child of the administration," to the boiling point. I don't care how many Jesse Jones's are put up to boss him.

The Republicans are about right in alleging that the relief spect has been one of the major failures of the New Deal. But I look for them to duplicate, or augment, such failure. Even Ex-President Hoover's criticism of the wastefulness and uselessness of many appropriations to aid the so-called unemployed, were entirely apt. But Mr. Hoover and the Republicans ought to remember that the dole began in his administration. It was near the end of the Hoover regime that much flour was distributed by the Red Cross on the principle, apparently, that the farmers who suggested the most wheat needed the most flour. And if, as Mr. Hoover claims, the depression ended in his administration, why the prophesy that grass would grow in the streets if Roosevelt were elected? Even if the upward trend in industry and the rise in prices of farm products—such as pigs and chickens from 8 to 18 cents—had not discouraged the herbaceous growth, the grass would have been all tramped down by mobs frantically grabbing relief.

There is little honor among thieves. I do not mean to imply that all relief cases or all administrators and case workers are thieves. Far from it. There are worthy poor people and relief and WPA agents who are honest and sincere. But both the "cases" and the officials could show a creditable majority of rogues and liars. I understand that one scheme of the officials is to promise to buy quantities of potatoes, roasting ears at 25 cents a dozen and canned fruit and vegetables from the relief families to distribute to other needy. But I also understand they refuse to call for or buy these products, and if anyone is foolish enough to take them to headquarters, lady-like officials resort to blasphemy that would give lessons to an old tar. The theory to have these relief families raise and can all these things for themselves is excellent and the sensible way to end relief. It is also good enough for the relief families that the officials break their contracts, as is reported, for a larger portion of the relief families are well-to-do and monstrously dishonest themselves. It is a case of "Dog eat dog and no meat lost." But there never was any excuse for lying—that great American and even Wilkes county game.

Administrators and case-workers who have relinquished relatively good jobs as teachers, a chain of bridge parties, or the care of the home and children to distribute a rather useless dole unfairly to people who can not, by any stretch of the imagination, really need it, consider they are making a noble sacrifice and obeying the sacred tradition that the lady of the manor should look after the poor. They expect to be "enskyed and sainted." But some of us are so cynical that we wonder if the lady of the manor was paid to look after the peasantry. When society women case-workers contend that people who say they are on relief and have relief mules are not even on relief, we suspect that these society women are being charitable for the almighty dollar. There were enough poor, or moderately comfortable individuals, with enough training to administer relief without drafting the daughters, sons, and wives, of millionaires. I do not mean that I wanted to administer it. I am altogether incompetent and altogether too soft-hearted. I would have done it very badly and unfairly—though I would not have lied, and though my education might not compare so unfavorably with all the staff, or even with all the teachers in Wilkes, as is ordinarily supposed.

I do not contend, and never have, that the families who receive help underservedly are rich and living in luxury. They are not. They were only in comfortable circumstances, with all the necessities of life. Perhaps we should all rejoice that their standard of living has been raised, that they have made progress. But it is bitterly hard on the tax-payers, especially on families who are poorer than the relief families but too well-to-do, too proud, and too honest to accept relief, to support these hordes of people in a style to which they have never been accustomed. It is exasperating that so many jobs have to be created for so-called "unemployed" men who had never been regularly employed, except in managing their farms, in 25 or 30 years; and that so many of the so-called "unemployed" have to give up farming, leave their land idle, to work at their WPA jobs. It destroys one's faith in the fairness of the universe, to see so much duplication: to see men on WPA jobs, boys in CCC ranks, women being given groceries and clothes, relief mules and relief hogs all in one family who are already in moderate circumstances, own farms, and make liquor.

I hold the all-time record for fulminations against relief. I know that scathing attacks and making fun of those who fight and scratch to become beggers, and brag about being beggers, are alike futile. I know you can give milk and other things constantly to relief families and others, work and slave for them till you drop dead without a cent of remuneration, eschew relief for yourself like the plague, and still be considered poorer and stingier than anyone else in Wilkes and trampled underfoot by the relief mammas and by many of the prominent citizens alike. But there is an element of people who are glad to blaspheme broad the stand they have taken, who look with infinite scorn upon any, except the really indigent and unfortunate, who grab relief; and who look with scarcely less scorn upon well-to-do officials who go into this rather squalid graft to mishandle the antidote for human misery and to tell lies.

CONDON BOOSTER FOR ROOSEVELT

Philadelphia, June 25.—Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh case, came to the Democratic convention today as "a good American" and credited President Roosevelt with being largely responsible for the arrest of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

In good humor and talkative, Condon discussed the case in which he was the ransom intermediary, and said he no longer was obliged to remain quiet "because I can't hurt the baby and I can't hurt Colonel Lindbergh."

"Do you know that it was President Roosevelt that called in the gold bills?" he asked.

"Well just stop and think about that. If it hadn't been for President Roosevelt there would have been no trial."

For Sale!

"Oakland", homestead of the Gordons and Finleys for more than a century, is now for sale. The property is located just west of Reddies River, and consists of some of the most beautiful building sites to be found in this section, (less than a mile from the business section of North Wilkesboro), 50 acres of bottom land, and 120 acres of upland. A good deal of the upland, along the hardsurfaced highway, may be used for business purposes without injury to the homesites.

Anyone interested in this property may see or write

G. O. P. NOTIFICATION CEREMONY ARRANGED

Topeka, Kas., June 29.—On the broad steps of the Kansas State capitol Gov. Alf M. Landon will be notified July 22 that he is the Republican presidential nominee in a ceremony that will formally launch his campaign.

The Governor said today his acceptance speech, tentative—set for 8 p. m. (central standard time), would be made shortly before he starts his first speaking tour of the East. The initial address of his tour probably will be made at West Middlesex, Pa., his birthplace.

In response to press conference inquiries, Governor Landon said he had no comment on the anti-Roosevelt statement of Alfred E. Smith and four associates, but he made this observation:

"The line of demarcation between fealty to party and loyalty to country is something for each citizen to determine for himself."

The Governor also announced that he would confer here July 9 with Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois, on "the farm problem as well as other phases of the national campaign."

Side applications of quickly available nitrogen to cotton right after chopping and to corn at knee high will be needed this season.

Committee Plans Help For Victims Of Drought

Washington, June 29.—After conferring with the administration's special drought committee, Secretary Wallace decided today to make a personal inspection survey of the north central drought area.

Paul Appleby, Wallace's assistant, said no definite itinerary would be announced and that for the most part Wallace would travel alone. He planned to leave Washington tomorrow, Appleby said, adding that he might be accompanied during the first part of the trip by other Agriculture Department officials.

Wallace has a speaking engagement at Duluth, Minn., on July 2, after which it was indicated he would proceed into the Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming where the drought is causing the worst damage.

Mayor W. H. Taylor, through his authority to grant or withhold licenses has banned public dancing in the town of Delphos, O., which has a population of 3,118.

Every deposit not forfeited or accepted will be promptly returned to the maker upon expiration of the period allowed by law for the confirmation of said sale, the same to be made subect to the confirmation of the Court.

This 13th day of June, 1936.

EUGENE TRIVETTE,
7-9-4t. Commissioner.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Full of Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

He felt a different man next day. Relieved the Alka-Seltzer way.

Why don't you take Alka-Seltzer for Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, Colds, Muscular, Rheumatic or Menstrual Pains?

Alka-Seltzer has a pleasant, refreshing, tangy taste. It contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate, a Sodium Salt of Aspirin) which relieves pain and discomfort, while its vegetable and mineral alkalizers help to correct the cause of those minor ailments associated with hyperacidity of the stomach.

Your druggist sells Alka-Seltzer.
