THE DAILY JOURNAL.

WILMINGTON, N. C.,

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1859

☞ OUR WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE MARKETS will be found on the 4th page of to-day's paper, made up to yesterday noon. The reports of to-day's markets will be found on the usual place, on the inside of to-day's paper.

SOME TURNIPS.—J. G. Pickett, Esq., has sent us two turnips raised on his farm in Federal Point district, New Hanover county, which we think would be hard to beat. One of them measures 33½ inches, and the other 28 inches in circumference. We hardly know the weight but they are heavy—very.

Washington Irving.

From a long and interesting sketch of the life and writings of Mr. Irving we make the following abstract:

Washington Irving, the son of a Scotch merchant residing in New York, was born in that city on the 3d of April, 1783. His mother was an English lady. He studied law as a profession, and was admitted to the bar, but never practised, his evident "vocation" being literature, upon which he entered at the age of twenty as a contributor to the Morning Chronicle, published by his brother, Peter Irving. Next year, being threatened with pulmonary disease, he was sent to Southern Europe for his health. He traveled two years, and the results of his observation are apparent in his after writings.

In 1807 he contributed a series of periodical papers called "Salmagundi," among which were some of his best light articles. In 1809 appeared "Knickerbockers' History of New York," the happiest burlesque history that has ever been written. Thenceforward he was famous.

His next literary employment was as Editor of the Analectic Magazine, published in Philadelphia.

At the close of the war of 1812 Irving visited Europe again, and traveled over England, Scotland and Wales. While in London he heard of the failure of the mercantile house in which he was a silent partner.—By this event he was thrown upon his pen for a living.

About this Time appeared the "Sketch Book,"—in 1820 "Bracebridge Hall," in 1823 the "Tales of a Traveler." He went to Madrid in 1825, remaining in Spain until 1829, and producing during his residence in that country his "Life of Columbus," "Conquest of Granada," and his "Tales of the Alhambra."

In 1829 he was made Secretary of Legation to London. He remained in England until 1832, and received the degree of LL. D. from the University of Oxford.

During the next ten years he produced his "Tour on the Prairies," "Abbottsford," "Newstead Abbey," "Astoria," "Adventures of Captain Bonneville," and numerous short sketches. In February, 1842, he was appointed Minister to Spain, which office he held for four years. He then retired to a charming country residence near Tarrytown, on the Hudson, on the very spot of the "Sleepy Hollow" of his own famous legend. This place he named "Sunny Side," and as such it dwells pleasantly in the mind as one of the pleasantest homes of genius. His latest works have been his "Biography of Oliver Goldsmith," a writer whom he much resembled in the elegance and purity of his style. "Mahomet and his Successors," and the "Life of Washington," which was his closing and crowning labor.

Mr. Irving was never married. Why, is a question that he himself might have answered, and might not. He gathered around him relations and made a home. He seems through life to have been a "prosperous gentleman;" with some back-sets his circumstances were easy—his facilities for travel and observation good—his health uniform, and his death, at a good old age, without the tedious intervention of a lingering disease. The "Cambridge Clique," who look upon Boston as Athens, may puff each other up as something great, and Prescott did live there, but the two names above all others in American literature knew not Boston. Irving and Cooper are known the world over.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—We find in the Charleston and Columbia papers the message of Governor W. H. Gist, to the Legislature of South Carolina.

The Governor is opposed to increasing the burdens of taxation as it may tend to drive off population to new States, whose virgin soil will easier bear such burdens than the comparatively exhausted soil of South Carolina.

The sum of three hundred and forty-eight thousand dollars was spent on the new State House during the last year, and a further appropriation of four hundred thousand dollars will be required during the current year. Handsome but costly. The militia system is fallen into disrepute and something must be done soon, or a general disorganization will be the consequence.

The Governor thinks that a small tax for keeping the roads might be profitably substituted in place of days' work. The roads would be better and the cost to the people would be less.

The term for which Prof. Leiber was appointed State Geologist will expire on the 22d December. His reappointment is recommended.

In regard to Federal Relations the Governor speaks plainly. He thinks that the election of a Black Republican President will settle the question of our safety in the Union; and, although the forms of the Constitution may be complied with, its vital principle will be extinguished.

GODEY FOR NEXT YEAR.—Mr. J. H. Rothwell, who acts as agent for the above periodical, has laid a copy of the number for January, 1860, upon our table. It is illustrated by two very elaborate steel engravings, and any number of wood-cuts, fashion plates, patterns for dresses, embroideries, etc., all of which perhaps the ladies understand. Single copies $3 00.

PARDONED.—We learn that Governor Ellis has granted a pardon to John Simmons, now in Smithville jail, under sentence of death. His execution was to have taken place on Monday next. A good deal of sympathy was felt for Simmons on account of his youth, ignorance, feebleness of mind, and the belief that he acted in obedience to his father's will and influence.

BARN BURNERS IN MECKLENBURG COUNTY.—We regret to learn that Mr. E. C. Davidson, residing in Hopewell neighborhood, has met with a severe loss by fire.

On Tuesday morning last the Barn, together with the Provender stored, Cotton, and Provisions was totally destroyed by fire. The amount of loss is said to be heavy, but we have not been able to ascertain the figures at which the estimate has been made. The fire is said to be the work of an incendiary.—Bulletine 30th ult.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Louisville, Nov. 28.—The remaining three-fifths of the subscription of $250,000 has been raised here for the construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad. This secures the acceptance of J. Edgar Thompson as president, and the immediate extension of the road.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—Washington, Nov. 29.—The President in his forthcoming Message recommends a return to the Tariff of 1847, and urges relief for the Postal Department. He contends that the occupation of San Juan was right, and also recommends the alteration of the Neutrality Laws, so as to allow American citizens to enlist in the service of any legitimate foreign government.

Duplin County Agricultural Society.

The Seventh Annual Fair of this Society was held at their Grounds near Kenansville, on the 17th and 18th inst.; and, notwithstanding the inclement weather, the exhibition was such as will compare favorably with "Old Edgecombe," or even with the Fair itself, when North Carolina productions are fairly considered; and I am sustained in this say so by a multitude of visitors, and one from Edgecombe county, a gentleman of intelligence and observation. But to the proofs:

Democratic Meeting in Brunswick Co.

We are requested to state that there will be a meeting of the Democratic Citizens of Brunswick County, at the Court House in Smithville, on Monday of next County Court, being the first Monday in December, for the purpose of appointing Delegates to the State and District Conventions, and also, for the appointment of a Democratic Executive Committee for Brunswick County.

A full attendance is earnestly requested.

BY TELEGRAPH.

FOR THE DAILY JOURNAL.

Three Days Later from Europe.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 1, 1859.

The steamship Europa, from Liverpool, with dates to the 19th inst., arrived at this port this forenoon.

The attitude of the English and French press is becoming more warlike daily.

The European Congress will probably meet at Paris, but no time has yet been specified for the meeting.

It is reported that Garibaldi has resigned the command of Central Italy, and joined the Sardinian army.

Liverpool Markets.

LIVERPOOL, NOV. 19, 1859.

COTTON.—Sales of the week reached 44,000 bales, at a decline mostly on lower qualities, and prices irregular. Middling Uplands, 7¾d.; Middling Orleans, 7⅞d.; Fair Upland, 7⅞d.; Middling Upland, 6⅞d. Stock at Liverpool, 414,000 bales, of which 270,000 are American.

FLOUR is quiet at 23s. a 28s.

WHEAT is firm at 2d. a 3d. advance.

CORN dull, and the tendency is in favor of buyers. All qualities offered at a slight decline.

RICE firm.

ROSIN steady at 4s.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE is dull.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, December 1, 1859.

[At the close yesterday.]

Cotton closed dull and market heavy; Middling Uplands 11 cents. Flour buoyant and prices unchanged. Wheat buoyant. Corn advancing; new advanced 1 a 2 cents. Spirits Turpentine dull at 45 cents per gallon. Rosin dull at $1 50. Rice firm and prices steady.

A MOVEMENT AGAINST NEGROES IN CANADA.—By the proceedings of the Court of Assizes of Essex county, Canada, it appears that the grand jury have made a presentment to the court, based upon a representation emanating from the authorities of the township of Anderdon, in regard to the negro population of the county. The grand jury submit the document that was presented to them to the court, and urge that some action be taken in the matter. The Anderdon authorities say: "We are aware that nine-tenths of the crimes committed in the county of Essex, according to the population, are so committed by the colored people." And they further urge "that some measures may be taken by the government to protect us and our property; or persons of capital will be driven from the country." The court, in alluding to this presentment, remarked that "he was not surprised at finding a prejudice existing against them (the negroes) among the respectable portion of the people, for they were indolent, shiftless and dishonest, and unworthy of the sympathy that some mistaken parties extended to them; they would not work when opportunity was presented, but preferred subsisting by thieving from respectable farmers and begging from those benevolently inclined."

A GOOD ANSWER TO AN INDIGNANT SUBSCRIBER.—It very often happens that editors of newspapers, without intending it, offend some testy patron, who obtains his revenge by addressing him an impudent letter, winding up with an intimation that he may stop sending it, and repair himself to a region much hotter than an ice house. The poet, John G. Saxe, once edited the "Burlington Sentinel,' a Democratic paper, and refusing to join with the free soilers, even to accomplish the overthrow of the Whig party, in Vermont, a testy patron sent him a letter, the contents of which will appear by Saxe's answer, which we subjoin:

A free soil "patron" of the "Sentinel,"
Politely bids us "send the thing to hell!"
A timely hint 'tis proper, we confess,
With change of residence, to change the address;
It shall be sent, if Charon's mail will let it,
Where our subscriber will be sure to get it.

We wonder how the poor fellow felt afterwards—the editor hit him powerful hard.

AN INDIAN'S COMMENT.—When Gov. Tallmadge came out to Fond du Lack, then a Territory, his new home was graced by several grown up daughters. The Indians were "there and thereabouts" at the time and frequently were met by members of the Governor's family. It was an era in female dress when the bustle was a desired accession of grace and outline, but new to the aborigines. A grave old chief one day was asked what he thought of the Governor's daughters. "Pretty squaws, nice white squaws, pity 'um backs broke." What would the old chief say in these modern days of wide—spread crinoline?

NOT POSTED.—Having stated that Adam began to court Eve when he was a day old, a friend advises us to "search the Scriptures," it being apparent by the "record" that the boot was on the other leg, or, to speak less enigmatically, Eve was only a day old at the interesting period alluded to. Adam was several days old when "smitten with the tender passion." We stand corrected.

THE hardest situation of a grumbler, is to feel like grumbling and have nothing to grumble at.

FEW men are driven to desperation, without having themselves had a hand in the driving.

BEAUTY in woman is like the flowers in spring; but virtue is like the stars of heaven.

TO SUCCEED, you must keep moving; to grow rich you must keep saving.
