State Millers Association Denounces Feed Stamp Act

By Associated Press.

Greensboro, N. C., March 30.—The North Carolina State Millers' Association in session here last night sounded an emphatic note against the state's feed stamp act, which places a tax upon all mixed feeds ground in the state, to the exclusion of grain ground for human consumption. By an unanimous vote a committee was appointed to get a test case before the state supreme court at once, the plan being to make a large local shipment without using the stamp on the bags are required by law. They expect the state department of agriculture to seize the shipment after which they will take out an injunction against the department for interference. The case will involve between $175,000 and $200,000 annual revenue to North Carolina. The millers claim that the present tax is unjust since it permits outside mills to transact business ungoverned by the tax. They claim that the act is unconstitutional and that it conflicts with the United States pure food laws.

Big Liner Refloated.

By Associated Press.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, March 30.—The Hamburg-American steamer Alemania which went ashore off Pointe Mardi Gras was refloated today by her sister ship, the Croatia.

A COLD, LAGRIPPE, THEN PPNEUMONIA.

Is too often the fatal sequence. Foley's Honey and Tar expels the cold, checks the lagrippe, and prevents pneumonia. It is a prompt and reliable cough medicine that contains no narcotics. "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Nebr. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, lagrippe and lung trouble. It is as safe for your children as yourself, and should be used in all cases of croup, whooping cough and measles cough. Refuse substitutes.—Bowen Drug Store on North Square.

AMUSEMENTS

A Drama Tonight.

This evening at the Academy of Music there will be presented by a local talent company "The Recognition of Brother and Sister" for the purpose of helping to raise a fund to build a Hebrew Temple in the city. The cast is composed of 12 people and all of them have been practicing their parts for some time and are now letter perfect and sure of their success. The show is a strong one that teaches a pretty lesson and the different points are brought out clearly and logically. It is a play that will instinctively appeal to the better class of theatregoers and there is no doubt that a good house will greet the performers when they make their first appearance. The tickets have sold rapidly and on this account and because it is for the purpose it is, the question of attendance has long since been settled and there now only remains the time for the curtain to rise.

Virginia Harned.

One of the high class attractions soon to be seen at the Academy of Music will be Miss Virginia Harned in her latest successful play, "The Woman He Married," by Herbert Bashford. Miss Harned has for some years enjoyed the reputation of being one of the leading emotional actresses of the American stage, and her new starring vehicle gives her an opportunity of displaying her ability in a totally new and unexpected direction. She has proven herself to be well equipped, thoroughly trained and true artist. Her touch and shading is so delicate in several of thep rincipal scenes in "The Woman He Married" that one marvels at her penetrating powers. Her fine spirit and magnificent fury in some of the principal scenes in "The Woman heard. In the role of Jeanne Dumont she has made a great sacrifice. She is repaid with scorn. To properly portray the resultant feeling requires the full mastery of all that is possible in dramatic interpretation. If she should fall below that standard, she would be a sore disappointment, but she does not. All the pent up misery and anguish of her bitter struggle to gain happiness, charged with a terrible injustice which rewards her splendid sacrifice, makes every word ring true with a heart touching sincerity. Miss Harned's voice is one of her chief attractions. Even when pitched the highest in the most intense dramatic moments, it remains smooth, soft and charming. Her voice carries to all portions of the house, with no apparent effort on the part of this distinguished artist. When she reaches the very height of her scorn or the very depth of her misery, she leaves the audience feeling that she has not exhausted her powers, but has rather just touched upon that great wealth of emotion which she possesses. Miss Harned will be seen at the Academy of Music next Tuesday night.

Seats will go on sale Saturday morning at the theatre box office.

Mary Garden in Quick Transition From Marguerite to Salome.

Mary Garden, whose fame in America and in Paris has resulted chiefly from her masterful interpretations of modern dramatic roles like Thais, Melisande and Salome, which opera lovers were fortunate enough to have introduced under such commanding and authoritative auspices, has recently proved her greatness and versatility by singing Marguerite in "Faust," which, according to all the critics, was marked by a naive charm and simplicity.

It seems almost incredible that the bold interpreter of the Strauss heroine should be able to subdue the untamed personality of Salome to the gentle, deceived Marguerite. Yet she did it in most commanding fashion and again proved, if further proof were needed, that she is the greatest of all living prima donna, as well as the most popular.

In regard to her ability to do these things, she says that it is merely a gift, and she takes no credit to herself. "I leave my own personality in my dressing room," she says, "and when I go to the stage I try to submerge my personality in the character I am endeavoring to represent, whether it be Salome, Thais, or Marguerite. To do this it seems to me is one of the prime requisites of the opera singer's art."

Mary Garden will be seen in this city at the Academy of Music, Thursday night of next week. Seats are now on sale at Hawley's.

Women's Beauty

Imperfect Digestion Causes Bad Complexion and Dull Eyes.

The color in your cheeks won't fade, the brightness in your eye won't vanish, if you keep your stomach in good condition.

Belching of gas; heaviness, sour taste in mouth, dizziness, biliousness and nausea occur simply because the stomach is not properly digesting the food.

The blood needs nourishment to carry vigor, vim and vitality to every part of the body and when food ferments in the stomach enough nourishment is not supplied.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets give instant relief to upset stomachs, but they do more: they put strength into the stomach and build it up so that it can easily digest a hearty meal without giving its owner hours of misery.

"I had stomach trouble for six years—for days at a time could eat nothing at all. After taking MI-O-NA treatment I am in perfect health and can eat anything."—E. M. Campbell, 1200 S. Prospect St., Sedalia, Mo.

MI-O-NA is sold by druggists everywhere and by R. H. Jordan & Co. at 50 cents a large box. It is guaranteed to cure indigestion or any stomach distress, or money back.
