

BBW Charlotte Human Relations Award

"A course, study, or program designed to develop better interpersonal and intergroup adjustments" is how Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary defines human relations. To consistently devote oneself to this task is truly a feat of recognition.

Charlotte Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women recognizes such individuals by bestowing upon them our coveted Human Relations Award.

As an organization devoted to service, we are aware that we are fortunate to have many in our State who are worthy of this award. While many know the stringent criteria that a potential recipient must meet, we have also been asked how we determine to whom to grant this honor.

Names are placed before the board at our November Board meeting. Those nominating individuals spend many months on research into the candidates' backgrounds and qualifications. They also obtain creditable letters of endorsement and recommendation. There could be as many names placed in nomination as there are individuals wishing to do so. In complete fairness to a potential candidate, as well as to the credibility of the award, no one but the Chapter President has any knowledge as to the name or names of a potential nominee, unless it is imperative to seek background information. It is then decided as to whether the criteria for the award has been met by the candidate(s), to whom to grant the award, or whether it should be given at all, before pursuing the remaining formalities.

This year's nominee came to us with a voluminous list of credentials and qualifications which encompassed a multitude of activities, involvements and accomplishments, in addition to a most impressive collection of letters of endorsement as to why he is worthy of this honor.

We are pleased to have the opportunity to present this year's Charlotte B'nai B'rith Women's Human Relations Award to Walter J. Klein.

As Norman Olshansky, Regional Director of the Anti-Defamation League, stated in his letter, "It is unusual to find an individual who devotes so much time and energies to fostering good will, positive human relations and community service." Rabbi Harold I. Krantzler wrote, "He stands out in Charlotte as one of the real forces for interfaith and interracial understanding." Rabbi Richard K. Rocklin's letter stated, "He is an asset to Charlotte, a credit to the family of Jews and a wonderful citizen of this world." The quotes from the many other letters received reiterated those of the above as well as noting his many tireless efforts and noteworthy accomplishments.

Doug Mayes, noted television journalist, will be the keynote speaker at the award luncheon to be held at Temple Israel on February 17 at 11:45 a.m. Reservations are required by February 12. Checks are payable to B'nai B'rith Women in the amount of $6.50 per person. Your check is your reservation. Mail checks together with the names of persons attending to B'nai B'rith Women, 9800 Whitethorn Drive, Matthews, N.C. 28105. For further information call: 847-8188 or 554-1324.

We look forward to your joining us in honoring Walter.

Kosher Creole Recipes

You won't believe it - kosher oysters.

The recipe is from the Kosher Creole Cookbook, by Mildred Covert and Sylvia Gerson.

OYSTERS MOCK-A-FELLER

18 gefilte fish pieces in jar
 1/3 bunch spinach
 6 shallots
 3 ribs celery
 1/3 bunch parsley
 1/3 head lettuce
 1 stick parve margarine (at room temperature)
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 1 tsp. anchovy paste
 1 dash Tobasco sauce
 3/4 ounce 80-proof absinthe
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup seasoned bread crumbs

Chop all greens fine and mix with margarine and half of bread crumbs. Reserve remaining bread crumbs. Add remaining ingredients, except fish pieces, and blend thoroughly.

Drain gefilte fish, slice in half, and place in oven-proof, shell-shaped ramekins. Set shells in a pan of hot, coarse kosher rock salt. spread sauce over fish pieces and sprinkle with remaining bread crumbs.

Bake at 450 degrees about 25 minutes; then place under broiler to brown, serves six.

Here is a second prize recipe from the book, this one rooted deep in the bayou country of Louisiana.

JAZZ JAMBALAYA

1 tbsp. shortening
 1/4 lb. cubed kosher salami
 1 sprig thyme
 1 onion, sliced
 salt and pepper to taste
