EDITORIAL NOTES.

THERE are twice as many widows as widowers in Michigan—32,674 to 15,636.

THE New York Board of Trade will memorialize Congress in regard to the Centennial appropriation.

Concealed in the skirts of a woman arrested at St. Albans last week were found 400 yards of black silk.

PRINCE BISMARCK has been called upon by Parliament to use his best endeavor to reopen the London markets to German cattle.

THERE are about 65,250 professional beggars in Paris, of whom 25,480 are women, 14,500 men, 13,600 girls and 12,310 boys.

WORTH, the man milliner, has failed, and the grief-stricken fashionable woman of Paris are killing themselves off with absinthe "straight."

THE Canadian Government is taking steps to prevent the spread of the foot and mouth disease which has broken out among the cattle of Middlesex county, Ontario.

ST. PAUL, Minn., has a population of 33,237, and Minneapolis 32,729. The two cities being only four miles apart, there is parojeot on foot looking to their consolidation.

THE Hon. Miceal C. Kerr, Speaker of the House, was serenaded, and acknowledged the compliment in a brief speech Among others serenaded was Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvnia who responded in a speech of some length.

ALEXANDER STEPHENS, of Georgia, in a letter to Senator Gordon, states that ill-health will probably detain him this winter at his home. He thinks it would be extremely unwise for the Democrats to take any steps to upset any of the reconstruction acts passed by the Republicans.

ONE of the fish commissioners of Virginia will visit Raleigh very soon to encourage North Carolina in stocking their streams with fish. To that end the appointment of a State commission will be asked so that the two commissions may operate together in regard to the waters contiguous to the boundary line.—Petersburg Index and Appeal

SAMUEL BOWLES, of the Springfield Republican, one of the shrewdest political observers in the country, says at present Tilden and Lamar is the strongest Presidential ticket on the Democratic side, and Bristow and Blaine the strongest Republican.

TILTON'S lecture success in the West is astonishing and surpasses his own great est expectations. At Keokuk, which has but a small hall, the audience began to gather in the street at 5 o'clock, the lecture not beginning till 8. He seems to be figuring in a veritable "Golden Legend," while his distinguished rival is still acting in the "School for Scandal."

THE Boston Congregationalist, also, has been shocked by the long-drawn-out obsequies of Henry Wilson. "When," it asks, "shall we have such a reform of our present barbarous funeral customs as will protect the bodies of the dead from the indignities of public honors and grant them a speedy, quiet and reposeful passage from the chamber of death to the grave?"

COLONEL RICHARD HENRY LEE, who has been selected to read the Declaration of Independence at the opening of the National Centennial, resides in Millwood, Clarke county, Virginia, and is actively engaged in the practice of law as well as farming operations. He was born in Alexandria, Virginia, in 1820, is a son of the late Edmund Jenkins Lee, (a distinguished lawyer of that city), and the grandson of Richard Henry Lee, of Revolutionary fame. He is also a nephew of Charles Lee, who was Attorney-General of the United States during a part of Washington's administration, and of "Light Horse Harry Lee," and a cousin of General Robert E. Lee. Colonel Lee entered the Confederate service as a lieutenant of infantry in the Stonewall brigade, and being wounded, afterwards served as a judge advocate of the second corps, Army of Northern Virginia, until the close of the war, since which time he has pursued his profession with success.

THE JOURNAL.

According to previous announcement the JOURNAL was sold yesterday. By this sale the paper is relieved of its pecuniary embarrassments, and is again on a solid financial foundation. At present there will be no change in its editorial management, and in no event will there be any departure in its political bearing and position. Always true, always bold, uncompromising in its political opinions, it will give forth, at no time and under no circumstances, any uncertain sound.

Having grown up with the older generation of our citizens, identified with their social and material progress, the best efforts of the JOURNAL will always be freely and faithfully given to enhance the welfare and prosperity of Wilmington. At home a recognized and an honored institution of the city; abroad an index of its commercial and political status, its conductors have felt a just pride in its good name and in its growing influence. Under new and more favorable auspices those will be maintained and increased.

Whatever personal changes in the future may be made, the same jealous care of, and devotion to, the best interests of this city and this section and this State, which for a quarter of a century have been its leading features, will ever characterize the paper.

Its business department will be placed under a gentleman of recognized competency and experience; its publishing department will be enlarged and improved, and nothing will be left undone to render the JOURNAL a welcome visitor in every household. It will only ask to be judged by and be received on its merits.

PARTY ORGANIZATION.

Our papers very wisely begin already to look forward to an early and efficient reorganization of the Democratic party for the great National and State campaigns of next year. A work so important cannot be commenced too soon, nor pushed too vigorously. We have a strong and a wily enemy to encounter, and one who will contest every foot of ground in a fight in which defeat deprives them of the "flesh pots" upon which for for nearly a score of years they have grown fat.

But in our organisation we must "make haste slowly." We must be sure we make no mistake in the incipiency of the campaign which will entail certain disaster when the crisis arrives. We must base our organization upon principle and not upon expediency, for the truest and best trusted soldiers in the ranks will not bear allegiance to banners with new and strange devices, and we cannot hope to succeed with mere bushwhackers in the van guard. We must depend upon our tried leaders and we must give battle upon old and well founded principles.

We are led to these thoughts at this time in our endorsation of the Fayetteville Gazette in its article published elsewhere in reply to our contemporary The Morning Star. There is on the part of some of our friends too much restlessness to seek new parties and form new combinations. The great National Democratic party has just organized the National House of Representatives, and a large majority of the States of the Union are under Democratic control. The Republican party has not recovered from its late defeats, and internal dissensions, and of the worst type, are visible in its ranks. A wrangle over a leader is augmenting into a serious, and, it may be, a fatal disturbance. So now is the most inopportune time since the war for the Conservative people of the country to think of new party combinations. We must cling more closely to the present organisation.

In our own State the election of 1876 is probably the most important in its history. First in magnitude is the adoption of the Constitutional amendments. With the people of the large negro counties their adoption is most vital. Under the present Constitution it may be pleasant for us to know that a Democrat fills the Gubernatorial chair, but he cannot relieve us from the evils of the worst local government a people were ever cursed with. He might not arm a regiment of negroes and arm only one white company, and that, too, under protest, but he could not make our County Commissioners and Magistrates and Trustees and Aldermen more able, more economical, or more honest, nor could he relieve our tax burdened people. Our only hope is in the alteration of the fundamental law.

Then we have a Governor and other State officers, a Legislature, upon whom rests the selection of a United States Senator, and, too, important county officers are to be elected.

We cannot, therefore, begin too soon, nor can we afford to make any mistake. We must not forsake the old landmarks. We beseech those who believe with our cotemporary that we must form new combinations, to give up such feelings, for certain defeat will be the result. Under trusted leaders, and following the time-honored banner victory is within our reach. Let us unite and secure it.

JOHN T. FOSTER, editor of the Newark (N.J.) Evening Courier, has addressed a letter to ex-Speaker Blaine, in which he says: "Eighteen months ago I told you that you could have New Jersey in 1876. I wish now to emphasize that statement. All our people are for you and we can carry the State beyond peradventure. Our danger is that the West will demand the nomination. This can also be averted, of course, by a union of New England, the Middle States, and stray votes from the South. A potent factor in our next convention will be the secret anti Catholic order. Grant is a member, and it has a good deal of strength in Congress. I think you ought to go in. It can be arranged so that you can be initiated anywhere by one person. The order is spreading widely. My obligations do not permit me to say more than this, except that Grant no doubt relies upon it to promote his aims. With wisdom at Washington, and with the States we have carried, we can surely hold the country. But to hold it for a hap hazard candidate is hardly worth the candle. For one of a vast multitude I want to hold it for you."

PROSPECTUS.

ON SATURDAY, THE FIRST DAY OF January, 1876, the undersigned will commence the publication of the Pythian Echo.

The Echo will be the organ of the Knights of Pythias in this State, the United States and the World at large.

While the Pythian Echo will be published in the interests of the Knights of Pythias, it will ever bear in mind the three Great Cardinal Principles which unite us—Friendship, Charity and Benevolence.

Remembering this, the columns of the Echo will ever be open to Benevolent Societies. The I. O. O. F., I. O. R. M. and the F. & A. M. will each have a space through which they will be heard. The object of the Echo will be to give the latest information obtained at the hour of going to press, on all topics of interest connected with the Order at home and abroad. It will aim to become the constant companion of every brother in the land; it will also aim, through careful selections from the best writers, to become an agreeable visitor, worthy friend and counsel or in the families of the entire brotherhood, ever exerting its best influences and maintaining the best interests, in all its departments, tending to the general weal of the Order. Its highest ambition will be to become worthy, through its writings, of the good will and patronage of all others.

The Pythian Echo will be published every Saturday at $1 per annum.
