THE ROANOKE NEWS

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1880.

THE Wilmington Review says:

The great haste that has been made by those in authority to consider the proposition to buy the W. N. C. R. R. which could as well have been postponed twelve months longer, until the real owners of the road, the people themselves, could have spoken through their representatives at the next election upon this subject, is to say the least, in very bad taste.

THE Democratic National Executive Committee have called the National Convention to meet in Cincinnati on June 10 h next. Beyond fixing the time and place of meeting the committee did nothing. The question as between St. Louis and Cincinnati was one of convenience to delegates. That being taken into consideration more than any thing else.

SAYS the Observer:

Attention is called to the fact that the Legislature of North Carolina will meet on March 15th to consider propositions for the purchase and completion of the Western North Carolina Railroad. This Railroad begins at Salisbury and is finished practically to Asheville, a distance about 147 miles. From Asheville two branches are to be built, one to Paint Rock, connecting with the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap and Charleston road; the other running West to Ducktown, towards Cleveland and Chattanooga. The Paint Rock branch, forty miles in length, gives an opening to Cincinnati and Louisville to the sea coast either through Cumberland Gap or by way of Knoxville through Emory Gap. No one can doubt that this will become in the future a very important road connecting the West with the Seaboard. When it is finished, Chattanooga and Atlanta will be completely flanked and their importance as strategic Railroad points will disappear. Much of this branch is already graded, and the State of North Carolina will probably furnish all the convict labor desired to build the road without delay.

THE Washington correspondent of the Raleigh News says:

The wish has often been expressed that your other Senator (Vance) would "shake up things" now and then. His "few remarks" at the extra session created a great desire amongst strangers and all to hear him again; but he has been laboriously and almost continuously engaged on committee work during this session, and perhaps the occasion has not yet come for him to open.' When it does, North Carolinians may erect their crests, curl their candid appendages, crow loud and step high! Your State has, so far as I have been able to see and learn, leaving out the Yeates-Martin case, which likely to result in the triumph of right and justice by giving Major Y., the seat to which he was elected, nothing to be ashamed of in her Senatorial or House representatives; with the single and abominable exception of the Wilmington district. Personally, I neither can or would not say aught against Judge Russell; but politically——oh! the shame and degradation, the deep and mortifying regrets that the people of the whole State, of the whole country, I might say, feel as they see the glorious old Cape Fear district represented by a deep-dyed, negro-elected radical! Shame! shame!

Where is the gallant and gifted Waddell? Left at home, solely and entirely by the apathy and over-confidence of those who should have been constantly at work for him. It is their fault, not his.

STANDING TREAT.

The social habit of drinking at bars, where each member of a party, having been "treated" by another, considers it necessary to treat every other member, has at last attracted the attention of lawmakers. The Iowa Legislature has a bill before it to abolish the custom and make it a punishable offence; and, although such a proposition can never become a law, it is significant as showing public dislike of a custom which no drinking man wants to be the first to disregard. This habit of standing treat is the cause of more physical and mental discomfort than every other convivial custom combined; a respectable man who feels the need of a glass of wine or spirits—and there are hundreds of thousands of such men, in spite of all that the temperence people say to the contrary—approaches a bar, and finds, perhaps, several acquaintances who are drinking and who invite him to join them. When he has done so, and drank all he came for, his spirit of independence prompts him to return the invitation, which is accepted by the others because it would seem discourteous to refuse; then those who have treated make haste to return the compliment for fear of seeming mean, and the end is that four or five men, each of whom came for a single glass of liquor, retire with several times as much as they needed or wanted. A sillier habit does not exist among sensible men. In a man's reputation is so feeble that its existence depends upon the price of several glasses of liquor that nobody wants it is not worth saving. The man who has not the moral courage to drink what he wants, and only that, gets far more injury than benefit from his potations.—New York Herald.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

We have more than once expressed our views on the importance of early organization of the Democratic party in the district and the county; and the more we think about it the more we are convinced that nothing can be lost and much gained by it. We do not mean that a long canvass is necessary, we rather think a short, sharp red hot campaign is best. But complete organization is separate and distinct from the canvass.

A great deal is to be done, and it takes time to do it. A convention is to be called, and a county executive committee is to be appointed, and then the work of organization commences. The committee will have most of the work to do, and in justice to those who may be appointed it is right that plenty of time should be given for them to consult and agree on the best plans.

The responsibility will rest on the committee and though if success should crown their efforts they will have only a small meed of praise yet if we suffer defeat they will have to bear all the blame whether deservedly or not. For that reason we say they should have plenty of time to do themselves, and the party justice. There is an immense quantity of work to be done before the canvass begins. Township committees are to be appointed, clubs are to be formed, documents are to be printed and circulated. In fact every thing is to be done to get the people out of that state of lethargy which necessarily follows when there is little or no political excitement.

We call the attention of the party leaders to the importance of early organization and hope the question will at least be discussed and after consulting if it is thought best to remain yet awhile inactive, we will acquiesce in their better judgment.

Our columns are always open to the discussion of this or any other question of general interest.

HURTFUL READING.

A bad book, magazine, or newspaper, is as dangerous to your child as a vicious companion, and will as surely corrupt his morals and lead him away from the path of safety. Every parent should set this thought clearly before his mind and ponder it well. Look to what your children read, and especially to the kind of papers that get into their hands, for there are now published scores of weekly papers, with attractive and sensuous illustrations, that are as baneful to young and innocent souls as poison to a healthy body. Many of these papers have attained large circulation, and are sowing broadcast the seeds of vice and crime. Trenching on the very borders of indecency, they corrupt the morals taint the imagination and allure the weak and unguarded from the paths of innocence. The danger to young persons from this cause were never so great as at this time, and every father and mother should be on their guard against an enemy that is sure to meet their child. Look to it, then, that your children are kept free as possible from this taint. Never bring into your house a paper or periodical that is not strictly pure. See to it that an abundance of the purest and healthiest reading is placed before your children. Hungry hands will eat poison, but if well fed on good food, they let the poison alone. If you wish to save your own children and the children of others do all you can to sustain and circulate healthy religious literature.—Ex

Jarvis, Governor of North Carolina, in the exercise of the power conferred upon me by the Constitution, do issue this my Proclamation, convening the General Assembly in extra session on Monday, the fifteenth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty, on which day at twelve o'clock, meridian, the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of North Carolina, are hereby notified and requested to meet in their respective Halls in the Capitol, in the City of Raleigh, for the purpose of considering a proposition for the purchase of the State's interest in, and the completion of the Western North Carolina Railroad, made by W. THE BEST REMEDY
FOR
Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

AYER'S

CHERRY
PECTORAL.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.
