Federation Appointments

Ira Schulman and Alan Goldberg have been appointed by Richard A. Klein, Federation president, to lead two new Charlotte Jewish Federation committees.

Ira will form a committee to educate and motivate the community to travel to Israel on United Jewish Appeal Missions. UJA Missions leave regularly from the U.S. to Israel, including highly specialized missions. He will be responsible for promoting the trips in Charlotte.

Alan Goldberg will inform the Charlotte Jewish community of its ties with its sister city in Israel, Qiryat Shemona. The ties Charlotte and other Southern cities have with Qiryat Shemona are being advanced through UJA's Project Renewal, an effort to assist Israeli cities in need.

Richard Klein regarded the promotion of missions to be of immediate interest and benefit to Charlotte. Concerning Project Renewal, he said the community would be learning more about the direction and goals in late 1982 or 1983. Both Alan Goldberg and Ira Schulman will be providing the Federation board with regular updates on both new projects at monthly meetings.

Elizabeth G. Klein has been appointed to the North Carolina B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations board of directors.

Her appointment was announced by her son, Richard A. Klein, president of Charlotte Jewish Federation. The Federation is asked to make one appointment to B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation each year.

In making the announcement, Richard Klein said he was proud and pleased to have his mother accept the position. "I know she will ably represent the community."

Robert Speizman has been appointed by the Federation to sit on the Board of the Atlanta Jewish Children's Service. The Children's Service is a recipient organization of a Federation allocation. Among its many functions, the Children's Service provides interest free loans to qualified college and graduate students. Last year, one Charlotte Student received a loan for $1250. For more information concerning this organization and its services, contact the Federation office, 366-0358.
