BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

STATE NEWS.

Asheville Citizen: Austin Smith, the only son of Mrs. J. C. Smith, formerly of this city, was run over by an engine in the yards of the C. & O. railroad, at Covington, Ky., on Wednesday, and had both of his legs servered above the knees.

Charlotte Chronicle: When the final train left the Mt. Holly fair grounds Friday night, a srowd of riotous roughs fired their revolvers from the train windows, and, as a result, a stray bullet struck a negro woman in the thigh and seriously disabled her. It is not known who fired the bullet, as probably thirty revolvers were being fired at one time. The woman was brought to Charlotte yesterday for treatment. The limited number of policemen at Mt. Holly had their hands full during the fair, fourteen men being arrested in one day.

Newton Enterprise: The people from all along South Fork river and Clark's creek report that their corn crops on those streams have been completely destroyed by the high waters of the last two weeks. What was left by the first freshet has been destroyed by the later rains. Those who had planted a new crop had corn about knee high when the overflow of last week came along. It was very severe indeed on these men to see their second crop swept away. The upland crop will be all there will be to gather in that section.

Charlotte News: The balloon ascension at Mt. Holly yesterday afternoon was attended with circumstances of a more exciting character than had been anticipated. The balloon collapsed shortly after leaving the earth and came to the ground with its occupant, Prof. W. K. Perry, with great rapidity. The Professor was unable to detach the parachute from the wrecked balloon, and the whole concern, Professor, balloon and parachute came down together. At first the descent was slow and gradual, but when within about 30 feet of the ground the falling balloon suddenly gained great velocity and dropped like a ball. The Professor struck the ground on his back with a thud that was heard fifty yards distant, and lay perfectly motionless. Blood ran from his nostrils, ears and mouth. Dr. Henderson, of Mt. Holly, and Mr. D. P. Hutchison, of Charlotte, were the first to reach him. His head was lifted up and whiskey was poured down his throat. A hypodermic injection of morphine was afterwards administered and the injured aeronaut was placed on the train and brought to Charlotte, where his bedside, a room in the Central Hotel, was quickly surrounded by doctors. It was found that none of his bones were broken, though he was badly bruised, his left shoulder was out of joint and he was suffering internally from the force of the shock. This morning he was bright and cheerful.

[Yesterday's News reports that he was worse and would die.]

"Woman! be fair, we must adore thee;
Smile, and a world is weak before thee"!

But how can a woman smile when she is suffering untold misery from complaints from which we men are exempt? The answer is easy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an infallible remedy in all cases of "female weakness," morning sickness, disorders of the stomach, nervous prostration, and similar maladies. As a powerful invigorating tonic it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. As a soothing and strengthening nervine it subdues nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, to give satisfaction.
