ROADS

While our roads have been almost impapspi pelppbnp.m.P pppwlemiso impassible in some sections of the county for the past two months and the people were forced to undergo great financial loss by being unable to transact the season's business, our state legislature was busy enacting a state wide road law and our Congressional congress was busy passing the national road law in connection with which provisions were made to build a bridge over the lordly Roanoke between Martin and Bertie counties.

We have not examined into the details of either of these laws and do not know that they are perfected but we are for them heart and soul because we know that they are better than what we now have. Good roads are one of the most economical and best paying utilities that a county can have. Let Martin county be one of the first in the state to apply the new system and let everybody yell and push for the bridge at once. Tell your county commissioner to get busy and that the people are behind them.

MRS. BERTHA BEACHAM DEAD

Mrs. Bertha Beacham, wife of Mr. Frank Beacham died at her home on March 6th of influenza and pneumonia. Besides her husband she leaves four small children, the oldest boy 8 years and the youngest the year old. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Baker and several other said brothers also survive her.

On Saturday after her death Mr. Beacham had the misfortune to lose his home and all of its contents by fire. The house was the property of Mr. N. R. Griffin and was occupied by the Beacham family as tenants, having moved there from Bertie county in January.

ATLANTA BUSINESS MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Since Taking Tanlac A Man Says He Feels As Well As He Ever Did

"If you had sent me before I began taking Tanlac you would hardly believe me to be the same person," said A. F. Almand, a well known merchant of 271-a Peters Street, Atlanta, Ga.

"For more than a year I was continued "I suffered terribly with stomach trouble. After eating anything I would always have pain in my stomach and would constantly belch up sour undigested food. I suffered with heartburn constantly and was extremely nervous, my liver was sluggish and I was bilious, too. I felt tired and tired out most of the time and often felt so bad that I could hardly attend to my business properly.

"I heard so many people talking about Tanlac that I began taking it myself. By the time I had taken the first bottle I had gained a number of pounds. I never suffer now with heartburn or indigestion and can eat anything as fine as I want to. I sleep well and get up in the morning feeling rested and ready for a hard day's work.

Tanlac is sold in Williamston by the S. R. Biggs Drug Co., in Robersonville by C. L. Coburn, in Hassell by the Hassell Drug Co., and in Oak City by Peele & Harrell.
