Roadless Russia.

Russia is almost a roadless land. It is impossible to the foreign visitor who has never left the beaten track of the railways in Russia how a great empire can have subsisted so long and so successfully without even a pretense at roads. The secret lies in the fact that for five or six months in the year nature herself provides roads over the greater part of Russia—nature's smooth, glassy roadways over hard-worn snow. The traffic is further cheapened over these roads by the substitution of a sledge runner for the wheel and axle. This brings the cost of land carriage as near the cheapness of water-borne freight as possible, and it is the principal reason why Russia in the Twentieth century is still a roadless land.

Tropical Fish Off Jersey.

James E. Taylor, while fishing off Cape May, N. J., a short time ago, ran into a shoal of pompano, a fish that never has been found outside of tropical waters. Taylor and his son caught nearly 100 of them. Fishermen say that pompano bring as high as $1.20 a pound in southern markets. Old inhabitants say it is a sure sign of a mild winter, as tropical fish are never caught this late north of Norfolk.

Largest Crater in the World.

Two Swedish scientists recently made a journey of exploration through Iceland, with the interesting result that they discovered the largest volcanic crater in the world. It took them nine days, using three horses and sledges to cross the great sea of ice of the Watnajoekl from west to east in order to reach Kodar, on the Fjord of Herut.

On the Hofjekel the scientists found a tremendous volcanic crater containing hot water and no less than eight kilometers long and five kilometers wide. It was surrounded by dozens of hot springs. The scientists called it "Grotfel." [illegible] the Nya crater, and it is reckoned [illegible] the largest in the world.

Mail for Lonely Island.

Somewhere lies hidden in a parcel being carried by the Shackelton-Rowett Expedition ship Quest for delivery at Tristan da Cunha, the south Atlantic, to which the Quest is taking mails. It is being sent to a young woman by a sailor who formed a strong attachment for her during his stay on the island. He is anxious that a photograph of her should be taken and sent to him. This will probably be done. Among other parcels sent to the island are some addressed to "The Oldest Inhabitant" and "The Principal Lady." It is believed that the oldest inhabitant is by common consent the moral ruler of the island, but there may be a debate on the question with regard to "The Principal Lady."

COTTON

Columbia, S.C., U.S.A. Nov. 15, 1921.

Mr. J. R. Williamson,
Ford Motor Company,
Charlotte, N.C.

Dear Sir:-

The invasion of the boll weevil means that we will have to revolutionize our whole system of agriculture; it means that we cannot cultivate as much cotton as heretofore and if so, we should reduce our cotton acreage to what can be cultivated profitably under boll weevil conditions.

Among the important things that we have to do are the selection of early varieties of cotton seed, fertilization with quick acting fertilizer, planting as early as frost will permit; to cultivate rapidly; to pick the forms punctured by boll weevil and burn them; to poison where practicable and as soon as the cotton is picked out in the early fall, it is all important that the cotton stalks be turned under completely so as to kill off the boll weevils left in the cotton fields. If this is done early, it means a much smaller invasion the next spring and the percentage of boll weevil damage will be decreased. By turning over the stalks October 1st, it will reduce the boll weevil invasion to a small percent; two weeks later, the invasion will be heavier the next spring and so, for each succeeding week that the stalks are left standing, it means in increased invasion for the following spring.

In order to overcome this, the Ford Motor Company is offering the Fordson tractor for sale. On next Monday and Tuesday the Ford Motor Company will demonstrate the Fordson tractor in breaking land and they propose to run it, commencing Monday morning and operate it for 72 hours without intermission, running day and night. If this demonstration is a success, it will mean in my judgment, the sale of many Fordson tractors and will go a long way towards reducing the damage from boll weevil.

I hope all farmers within reach will with[illegible] this demonstration so as to derive all the benefit [illegible] can obtain.

Yours sincerely [illegible]

RIM-MJE.
