The other tract, on the same road, contains 350 acres, 50 of which is good bottom land, on Fishing Creek, and sufficient wood for fences and fuel, but no house except a barn. Both tracts are in good condition. Dr. Plummer never made less than 17 bushels wheat per acre on these farms—frequently more.

The locality is as healthy and the neighborhood as refined as any in the State. It is in every respect desirable, and it is seldom such a place is offered at auction. One of the subscribers resides on the place, and will show it to any one wishing to see it. Possession will be given 1st. January, but the privilege of seeding wheat granted immediately.

THE SENTINEL.

Thursday Evening, Oct. 11, 1866.

For the Sentinel.

That the sensitive nerves of some of our dreadfully patriotic fellow citizens may not be shocked, and to save all such precious patriots from reporting this people to the New York Tribune as still unreconstructed, intensely rebellious, and entirely unrepentant, be it known, that the following three Stanzas have no reference whatever to our martyred heroes, so-called,) nor to Sherman's army, nor to Thad. Stevens. The martyrs were all Spaniards—the tyrants French and Italians. The Stanzas were written by one Thomas Campbell, a full-blooded Englishman, and first published in London, in the year of Grace 1834. The Post had not the least allusion to the Southern Confederacy, nor Old Point prison, nor Jefferson Davis.

"Brave men who at the Trocadero fell
Beside your cannons, conquered not, though slain,
There is a victory in dying well
For Freedom,—and ye have not died in vain;
For come what may, there shall be hearts in Spain
To honor, ay embrace your martyred lot,
Cursing the Bigot's and the tourbon's chain,
And looking on your graves, though trophied not,
As holier hallowed ground than priests could make the spot.

Yet laugh not in your carnival of crime
Too proudly, ye oppressors!—Spain was free,
Her soil has felt the foot-prints, and her clime
Been winnowed by the wings of Liberty;
And those, even parting, scatter as they flee
Thoughts—influences, to live in hearts unborn,
Opinions that shall wrench the prison key
From Persecution—shew her mask off-torn,
And tramp her bloated head beneath the foot of scorn.

Glory to them that die in this great cause!
Kings, Bigots, can inflict no brand of shame,
Or shape of death, to shroud them from applause;—
No!—manglers of the martyr's earthly frame!
Your hangman fingers cannot touch his fame.
Still in your prostrate land there shall be some
Proud hearts, the shrines of freedom's vestal flame,
Long trains of ill may pass unheeded, dumb,
But Vengeance is behind, and Justice is to come."

South Carolina—Important Order by Gen. Sickles.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 8.—Major General Sickles has issued an order providing—

First. That all cases be remitted to the United States Courts of which they have legal cognizance.

Second. That inasmuch as the State courts are now open to all persons, with equal civil rights therein, without distinction of color, all cases, civil and criminal, in which the parties [illegible] shall be tried in the civil tribunals; and civilians now in military custody will be surrendered to the sheriff of the district in which the alleged offenses were committed.

Third. Military provost courts will be discontinued in the several districts as soon as the district courts are organized, excepting at Hilton Head and certain sea islands.

Fourth. The jails will be restored to the sheriffs.

Fifth. Corporeal punishment is prohibited, except in the case of minors.

Sixth. The State laws against vagrancy may be enforced.

Seventh. No prosecution or suit will be allowed against Federal officers or soldiers for acts heretofore done in a military capacity.

The eight and ninth sections provide that district commanders shall report any failure of the civil tribunals to give due protection to persons and property; and shall arrest persons charged with offenses against the inhabitants of the United States, irrespective of color, when the civil authorities fail to do so.

Tenth. District commanders are enjoined to extend due facilities and protection, as heretofore, to the Freedmen's Bureau agents.

The eleventh section commends to the authorities and people of South Carolina the patient consideration and impartial execution of the laws toward the class of persons recently clothed with civil rights, so that no occasion may hereafter arise for the exercise of the military authority in matters of ordinary civil administration concerning the freed people.

Capital Ghost Story.

Dedicated in an especial manner to all Newspaper Readers.—That apparitions do not always wander without sufficient cause is proved by the well attested fact which we give below:

"Last Tuesday fortnight, as Mrs. ———, (a lady of rather literary taste and studious habits,) sat reading in her drawing room; the clock on the mantle-peice struck twelve! As the last stroke reverberated through the apartments, the door was flung wide open! In the act of raising her head to repel the intruder (unrung for) of her servant, her eye rested on the form of her late husband! she screamed and fell senseless on the carpet! This brought up such members of the family as had not retired to rest; restoratives were administered, and when Mrs. ——— had regained her suspended faculties, and being a woman of strong mind and highly cultivated intellect, she felt disposed to consider the whole distress she had undergone as the result of certain associations between the melancholy tale she had been perusing and her late loss, operating on a partially deranged nervous system. She, however, considered it advisable that her maid servant should repose in her chamber, lest any return of what she considered a nervous affection should distress herself and alarm the family. Last Tuesday night, feeling stronger and in better spirits than she had been for several months past, Mrs. ——— dispensed with the presence of her attendant, retiring alone to her chamber, went to bed a little before ten o'clock. Exactly as the clock struck twelve she was awakened from sleep, and distinctly beheld the apparition she had before seen, advancing from the table, (on which stood her night lamp,) till it stood opposite to and drew aside the curtains of her bed. She describes her very blood retreating with icy chilliness to her heart from every vein. The countenance of her beloved in life wore not its benevolent aspect; the eyes once beaming with affection were now fixed with stern regard on the trembling half-fainted being, who, with the courage of desperation, thus abjured him, "Charles! dear Charles! why are you come again?"

"Jessie," slowly and solemny aspirated the shadowy form, waving in his hand a small roll of writing paper, "Jessie, pay my newspaper accounts and let me rest in peace."

Augustus Dickens, brother of Charles Dickens, the novelist, lately in the land department of the Illinois Central railroad, died in Chicago on Sunday.

THE DEAD ALIVE—THE LAST PRISONER.—A worthy family in Sussex county, named Adkins, have, for more than a year, mourned as dead their son, who was captured by the enemy during the battle just preceding the fall of the city. Months having elapsed after the surrender without intelligence of him, his friends finally gave up all hope, and the respect of funeral services was paid to his memory. A few days ago a letter received from Washington announced young Adkins' safety and health. When taken, he was carried to Fort Delaware, whence, after his persistence in refusing to take the oath, he was removed to prison in Washington city, D. C., where, until his recent release, he was denied all communication with the outside world.

We have seen the last Confederate prisoner announced a dozen times, but suppose that this gentleman's claim to that title will be undisputed.—Petersbug Index.

THE FAMOUS JENNINGS' ESTATE.—We understand that the various branches of the Jennings and Jamison families of New England have organized an association for the purpose of prosecuting their claims to the estate of the late William Jennings Esq. of Suffolk, England, valued at $49,000,000 in gold. We are assured that no doubt exists of the justness of the claims, or of the practicability of enforcing them. The able counsel of the association, (Messrs. Jewett and Norris, of Boston,) have taken such steps and made such progress that it is probable that this immense pile will reach the hands of its American owners during the year 1867.—Mr. Jewett sails for Europe in the interests of this family this month; to be followed by Mr. Norris in March, '67.

In consequence of the bonds and Bons, held by the State on various Rail Road Companies, having been in part executed during the late war, I have concluded not to offer them for exchange until the reception of special instructions from the General Assembly.

I have deferred the time of opening bids in order that parties interested might have opportunity of examining the reports of the various Companies for the present year, which no doubt can be obtained from the proper officers of the Companies.

INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS.

Scientific men, who thoroughly understand the subject, concur with great unanimity in saying that nothing exerts such a deleterious influence against health as bad bread. The remedy is at hand in SIMPSON'S INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS, the value of which is thus certified:

RALEIGH, Aug. 24, 1866.

I have tested the Yeast Powders you manufacture and can recommend them as vastly superior to any other ever used by me. In addition to the lightness and sweetness of the bread, the powders are economical, as one-third the lard usually required will answer in the making of either loaf bread or biscuit. For pastries and cakes they are excellent.

VIRGINIA A. CRM.

The price of these powders per package is 25 cts. or 75 cts. per pound. To be had at Wm. Simpson's Confectionary Store, Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

RALEIGH, Aug. 23, 1866.

This is to certify that I have used Mr. Simpson's Yeast Powders and find them to be superior to any I have ever used. After trying them once no housekeeper will be satisfied without them.

MRS. S. D. HARRISON.
