Adult Classes

This Fall has been a busy season for the Adult Department. Workout! And Aerobics began in early September. They've almost completed their first sessions and are presently registering for second session classes. Reconsidering Commitment - the one session workshop dealing with surviving to thriving in the marriage game was very successful.

Adult Creative Sewing, Acting, Computers and Self Defense for Women began in October and once again the JCC is a very busy place with many people coming and going for their classes.

Several classes are still registering, some to begin in late October, others in November. You still have time to register for the November classes if you don't delay.

"Cooking Italian" to be held on Wednesday, November 10 and 17, and "Successful Images for Your Individual Lifestyles" to be held on Monday, November 8, 15, 27, and 29 are in the final stages of registration. If you are interested in either class, call the JCC (366-0357) immediately.

CHAI

October 4 was registration day for the Chai Group's Fall quarter through Central Piedmont Community College. Judy Tager is teaching Human Relations and after only one session the response to the course was very enthusiastic.

After class, the Chai Group discussed plans for this quarter for Monday afternoon programming, plans for a trip they would like to take probably in the spring and several other business matters. They then participated in a transportation needs survey which Lou Albert and Sara Schreiber explained and helped them complete. The end of the busy day was the celebration of the September birthdays in the group: Kate Kalmeyer and Annie Gorelick. Evelyn Berger provided this month's birthday cake in honor of her mother, Ann Salsburg's 90th birthday.

On October 11 after their H.R. class the Chai Group went to SouthPark for lunch and then on to see "Yes, Giorgio" at the SouthPark Cinema. October 18 the Chai Group played Bingo after their class, lunch and a brief meeting. Paul Levy, the JCC's regular Bingo caller, graciously agreed to come and call the exciting games of Bingo for the group. Harry Chernotsky was the guest speaker for tober 25 program. Truly enjoyed Ha their exchange with
