"TEAHOUSE OF THE AUGUST MOON" EXCELLENT PRESENTATION

The Highlands Community Theatre's presentation of "Teahouse of the August Moon" last week was one of the finest plays of the season, with excellent acting, exceptional set, and delightful entertainment.

Under the direction of Mr. Fred Allen, the play provided thorough enjoyment throughout. The set itself was especially a work of art and beauty. Certainly Mr. Allen "out-did" himself in this piece of work.

Morton Lewis touched the "tickle box" of everyone in his portrayal of Sakini. His performance was excellent, and his witty sayings will remain in everyone's mind for future enjoyment.

Richard Melvin did a fine job as Captain Fisby. The audience was delightfully pleased with his acting, and his portrayal of the frustrated Captain is to be commended.

Clyde Bolt, Jr. and his "what in the name of occupation are you doing?" was equally enjoyed--(CON'T TO PAGE 17)

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT NEW HYMNALS

Mr. Doyle Calloway, President of the Senior High-Pioneer Group of the First Presbyterian Church of Highlands, presented a new Presbyterian hymnbook to the Pastor at the eleven o'clock worship service of August 19th. In making the presentation, Mr. Calloway explained that the youth group had purchased thirty-five copies of The Hymnbook as a challenge gift to the church. An annonymous contribution of one-hundred dollars for additional books was made in response to the young people's challenge. The church Session voted to provide the additional amount of money required to complete the purchase of one hundred fifty copies of the hymnbook, thus replacing completely the old, worn hymnals the congregation has been using for many years.

"We are grateful for the interest and initiative of our young people in meeting this need," said Rev. McCall. "Our old hymnals were badly worn and torn, and we did not have enough of them. We are most appreciative for the gift of the beautiful new hymnbooks. Beyond this, however, we are thankful for the wholesome concern and activity of our Seniors and Pioneers in searching out a need within the church, and then laboring so diligently to fill that need."
