The United War Mothers Club Gets State Charter

RALEIGH — The United War Mothers' Chapter No. 1 of Raleigh had its regular meeting Thursday evening at the Mary Talbert Home with a large number of mothers present, together with others to join. The president, Mrs. Lillian Logan, greeted us in her usual manner, except her face seemed to be aglow with unusual happiness and with a smile she said, "Sisters, we have all worked hard and there is much to be done yet as we look forward to our state meeting which convenes here the third and fourth of May; but now I wish to present to you our charter." Immediately there was loud aplause, and much praise was given to her and the committee who labored so untiringly to secure it for us.

Expressions were given and the organization pledged to keep alive the object of their chapter and that the cause for which the boys who fought and those who died, will not have been in vain.

Motto: "We shall not die".

After the business was over the chapter enjoyed a social hour at which time refreshments were served by the social committee.

The day is set aside for the parents to visit the school and observe the activities, curricular and extra curricular. The parents came into the school at 10:30 A. M. and went to chapel at which time they brought greetings from the various communities served by the school. The [illegible] club sang beautifully [illegible]. There were expressive poems given by the speech club. The NFA Quartet also sang and the NFA creed was given. Remarks were given by the Superintendent and Principal of the school, Dr. H. S. Davis.

After the chapel program the parents were given lunch and later in the afternoon toured the campus, visiting the Home Economics and Industrial Departments. They then returned to the Administrative Building and went to the classrooms with their sons and daughters [illegible] to a program rendered in the home room acquainted [illegible] with the teachers and students. Then followed their [illegible] classes to [illegible] work. Later all returned to chapel and listen to a most interesting and well developed panel discussion on How the Community Can Serve the School.

Such a program as was given on last Friday was largely attended by a number of parents. There were eighty parents present. The patrol force was on duty to act as guides for the parents. The parents seemed very interested in the type of work we are doing here at the school.

The day was immensely enjoyed by all, parents, friends, teachers and students. It was a day that shall long be remembered. We are looking forward to a greater number of parents next year and a bigger and better Parents' Day.

Displaced Persons Irked: Look Prosperous Despite U. S. Claims

BERLIN (ANP) — News of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill's recent speech in Westminster, Mo. has penetrated even to the Displaced Persons camp here and reports are that the reaction is extremely unfavorable. The feeling is that Churchill's undiplomatic observations hinder harmonious relationships between all non-English and English speaking peoples.

The section of Europe, which has headquarters here, is peopled by such an array of the three B's — black, brown and beige — that these Germans, Czechs, Russians, Turks, Armenians, and French might easily be mistaken for a group of Negroes in any U. S. town. Even these so-called down-trodden Europeans regard Americans as being politically naive and poorly oriented in social values. Inconsistencies of American doctrines and practices are continually pointed out to us, an UNRRA workers says.

Many Americans here still are noted to become hysterical when they see the darker occupation soldiers or workers in comradeship with whites.

American headlines about starving German children are read with suprise and compared with the healthy appearing youngsters and the well filled windows of meat and fish markets, green grocers, and bakeries. Berlin is described as "sort of rationed." However fresh meat can be purchased with a few cigarettes, and many German business men are entertaining from larders while their homes are run with servants, and they operate large automobiles.

This is in complete contrast to the situation as seen in France, Belgium, Poland and other countries bordering Germany.

In Berchtesgaden and Garmisch near Much, Germany civilians appear in metropolitan clothing of fine workmanship and cut, and in almost any German town first class leather goods, fine sports clothing and precision instruments may be purchased. To the casual observer, it would appear that Germany from most viewpoints is much better off after the destruction of the war than are the countries she pillaged.

J. C. Smith Celebrates 70th Birthday In Historic Chapel

CHARLOTTE — The 79th Anniversary of the founding of Johnson C. Smith University was celebrated at the University church on the campus here last Sunday with the principal address being delivered by Judge Armond W. Scott, judge of the municipal court of the District of Columbia.

Dr. Scott is a distinguished alumnus of the University, a native of Wilmington and has been appointed three times to the municipal bench by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate. He was last appointed in 1944 for a 10 year term.

Dr. Scott paid high tribute to Dr. McCrorey's administration of the school, after tracing the history of the school from its organization here in 1867 under the auspices of the Presbyterian Board of Missions as the Biddle Memorial Institute, at that time only an elementary school with two full time instructors.

In 1870 it acquired its first president, Dr. Stephen Matoon, and soon afterward expanded into a college and theological seminary. Dr. Matoon was white, and the first Negro president of the University, (by that time it had secured a charter from the state legislature as a University), was Dr. Daniel J. Sanders, who came from the Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church in Wilmington, and brought with him Dr. Scott as a student, from his parochial school in Wilmington.

Dr. Sanders served as president from 1891 to 1897 when Dr. McCrorey, who had been a student and then a teacher in the school took the position of president, which he has held since.

Dr. Scott told of Dr. McCrorey's efforts that induced the late Mrs. Johnson C. Smith to give hundreds of thousands of dollars to the institution, and to interest the late James B. Duke in the affairs of the University, "as the result of which this great benefactor, born in North Carolina gave the institution an endowment of approximately one million three hundred thousand dollars."

Judge Scott also paid high tribute to Judge John J. Parker, presiding judge of the United States circuit court of apepals for the Fourth circuit, who with his associates reversruled that all teachers in the state of North Carolina whether they are white or black, were entitled to equal salaries according to their respective abilities and the service they are able to render. Following which, the legislature of this state was not only the first, but the only southern state to pass and put into law the equalization of the salaries of all teachers, without regard to race, color or creed."

Also on the program were Dr. H. L. McCrorey, president of Smith, who presided and delivered brief remarks, and Rev. J. W. Heritage, rector of St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church, representing the Ministerial Alliance.
