M.A.M. — It's been a long time. He's not going to make a regular bride out of you but when I get change right now I'll be the maid in trouble. Honey, just wait for me — plan [illegible] for tender hope. It seems to me that I [illegible]

[illegible] friendless. I don't have a friend in the world, am broke, no job and [illegible] met a girl [illegible] the net much courage left. Several times I started [illegible] but I couldn't collect enough for [illegible] I want to do. When I had a job I learned to live [illegible] disturbed other money, but now I'm depressed [illegible] I think are right and [illegible] so off of me. One has only [illegible] he does. In fact, people won't even come [illegible] I'm thinking [illegible] around me at all.

Ans. Tripe! Stay away from [illegible]. Ans. He's [illegible] advice [illegible] to make a "touch" [illegible] seen and give up [illegible] different to distinguish between a decent [illegible] professional mooch and a person [illegible] needs a little assistance to [illegible] young [illegible] help [illegible] over a tight spot. Don't take [illegible] feel [illegible] toward your friends [illegible] They will take a different attitude [illegible] when you get on your feet [illegible] S. — Stop sympathizing with yourself and look for work. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope for my instrucions on Job Finding. It will show you how to go about finding work.

R.C.—I have been going with this man for eleven years and I have thought all along that he would mention marriage but he neve does. If I mention it, he gets in a hurry and has to see a man on business. I want to know if he means to marry me?

Ans. No — he has no intentions of getting involved. In fact, if you plan to wear orange blossoms anytime soon, you had better begin looking elsewhere for a partner. Your present friends isn't the "marrying type" — he prefers his independence so that he can come and go at will.

S.T.—I am a young wife and love my husband very much but we can't get along. You see before we married, he didn't like parties, dances and social fun like I did so to hide his love, I put all of that down. Now that we are married he goes all the time to these things and won't let me go. With him and if I protest, he jumps me and tells me to go home. What must I do?

Ans. If you love him well enough to live with him under these circumstances, stay on. However, refrain from fussing with him about his actions as he will get around.

T.C.M. — I am graduating from college this month with a wonderful group of friends. We have had a marvelous time this year. Many of the kids are having house parties at their home immediately following the close of school. I plan to attend some of these parties but my "heart-beat" hasn't accepted a single invitation and that is what's making me unhappy. I know he loves me but he won't discuss it or give any reason for not joining us.

Ans. His reason is a financial one. He feels compelled to return home and get started on a job as soon as possible. He's definitely carrying the torch for you and just as soon as he can earn some money he will begin visiting you on weekends. Plan your house-party over the 4th of July. He'll attend.

Farm debt in dollars owed on January 1, 1949, stood at about 4.8 billion dollars, compared to an average of around three billions during the war years. Farm cash, bank deposits and savings bonds held by farmers are at a record level of 20 billion dollars.

The penalty for flue-cured tobacco produced in excess of the farm acreage allotment for 1949 will be 20 cents per pound.

Longer Life for Your Paint Brushes

PITTSBURGH, PA. — It's a well-known fact that amateur painters destroy or waste more paint brushes through negligence than they wear out through service. This is either due to characteristic American extravagance, or lack of knowledge regarding proper care. Pittsburgh Plate Glass company's brush division has reduced brush care to the few simple steps listed below, and illustrated in the panels above. (1) Buy the necessary Gold Stripe brushes of various sizes to do a good job. Don't use a two-inch brush to cover a large surface, nor a large brush for sash or trim work. (2) Immediately after using, clean your brush with the proper thinner. Don't let the paint harden in the brush. (3) Wash gently with mild soap suds and water and rinse in clear water. Don't ever leave a brush in water. (4) Then comb or brush the bristle straight, wrap carefully in jacket and permit it to dry without disturbing or bending the bristle. Don't stand a brush on the bristle end. These are the fundamentals of brush preservation. More detailed instructions may be picked up at your paint dealer when you purchase your brushes.

Graduation Held At Richard B. Harrison

Rev. A. G. Cerey, director of Religious Education of North Carolina State Baptist Convention, preached the annual graduation sermon at Richard B. Harrison School, Sunday, June 5, with his subject, "Whither Are You Bound?"

To the graduates he directed the question: Is it your purpose to party [illegible] others around [illegible] pleasure, [illegible] and the [illegible] above other [illegible] purpose is [illegible] your [illegible] in the right direction?"

From the scripture he gave the flight of the Dolphins out on the sandy and stormy sea in a ship which were afloat while the Master slept. They awakening the Master who calmed the sea and cast away fear.

The point he made, that if one has the Master aboard the ship of life, success is assured. Jesus is a friend to everyone, and in order to carry out any work great or small Jesus should be in one's life.

Souls fail in life because of the lack of spiritual guidance. One must have faith in hope of and put in God to bring him through the troubles of life which are sure to come at some time and in some degree.

Dr. J. W. Scarborough, president of Fayetteville State Teachers College of Fayetteville, North Carolina delivered the commencement address Monday, June 6, speaking on the subject "What Education Is Not For and What Education Is For."

"Education is not to enable one to make a living without working. An educated man ought to work harder than any dog because he ought to know what he ought to do and has the ability to do what he ought to do," he declared.

Diplomas were presented to the graduates by L. B. Johnson, chairman of the Selma School Board.

The following awards and prizes were presented by M. L. Wilson, the principal:

The Shaw University Scholarship Mercedes Barnes; The Helen Mariam Scholarship Award, Joan Warwick; The Dorothy Elliot Science Award, Doris Richardson; The Elizabeth Hawkins Award To Best All-Round Girl, Easter Eatmon.

Mathematics, Robert Raford; music, Edythe Eatmon; English, Joan Warwick; dramatics, Barbara Kelly; dramatics, Doris Richardson; athletics, Leroy O'Neal; citizenship, Easter Eatmon; salutorian, Joan Warwick; valedictorian, Mercedes Barnes, and Worley Safety Award, Percell Watson.

3,500 AT OPENING OF 4-H CLUB PROJECT

ORANGEBURG, S. C. — Camp Harry Daniel, $60,000 encampment project for colored 4-H club boys and girls of South Carolina, was formally opened here Wednesday before a crowd of 3,500 rural people.

Principal speaker for the occasion was Dr. Roscoe C. Brown, health education specialist of the U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

Other speakers on the program were B. W. Watkins, State Director of Extension Service; M. L. Gressette, State senator; Marshall Williams, State representative; Miss Juanita Neely, State home demonstration agent, and Dr. L. W. Long, E. N. Williams, State supervisor of Negro agricultural Extension work, presided and the Wilkinson high school band furnished music for the event.

The camp, which now consists of 12 beautiful cement-block buildings with green shutters is named in memory of the late Harry Daniels, who was for more than 25 years State supervisor of Negro agricultural Extension work. It is situated on 267 acres near Lake Marion, and can accomodate 240 clubbers at a time.

The buildings are arranged in a horse-shoe pattern, separated from the lake by a five acre lawn dotted with trees and shrubbery. An acre is reserved for a recreation hall, and out-door theatre, four croquet courts, and two softball diamonds, four baseball diamonds and volley ball courts.

Near the dining hall, which accomodates 300, is a barbecue pit on which as many as a half-dozen pigs may be barbecued at a time. Part of the food for the summer camping season has been supplied through the price-support program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Over each summer, about 2,000 of the State's 17,000 colored 4-H'ers will vacation at the camp. Each of the 33 counties in which Negro 4-H Clubs are organized will send 70 farm boys and girls, who have outstanding 4-H records, to the camp for a week. The first group for this year's camping season arrived from three counties and numbered 210.

THE POETS SPEAK

"FORWARD TO PRESENT-DAY NEGRO YOUTH"

By John Henrik Clarke For ANP

Forward, always forward, forward
is the command;
Look not on dead yesterday,
At present battle is at hand.
Raise your voice in splendid tones,
So sleeping men can hear;
Don't be a backslider in the ranks,
Be a pioneer.
Don't hold behind your lips,
Words that you wish to say;
Rip your torch in the oils of courage,
Light it and lead the way.

I know your burden is heavy
And our goal seems not in sight.
Travel on with your heavy burden
And your weary road will lead to light.
Forward along life's rugged road,
Believing that right is might;
When the road seems dark ahead of you,
Self-confidence will be your light.

Even if it seems that your weary path
Is hidden from the sun,
Never lay down your weapon
Until the battle is won.
Again, I say, forward,
Forward like fighting men;
Though life's mountains are steep and rugged
With courage you can ascend.
Forward with courage and confidence;
Other men will rise with eagerness,
To follow your fearless trail.

The index of farm real estate values continues to rise in North Carolina. On March 1 it had reached 341 per cent of the 1912-14 base period, as compared with 324 per cent on March 1, 1948. The North Carolina index is the highest of any State in the Union.

A total of 17 North Carolina counties are growing Turkish tobacco this year as compared with five counties in 1948. About 40 per cent of the Turkish crop is in Wilkes County.

Baker's Cherry Pie

While we always seem to pair up George Washington and Cherry Pie this traditional dessert dish is certainly one that is enjoyed most any time of the year.

A luscious cherry pie from the baker makes a fine topper for a particularly elegant dinner, and your kitchen remains cool these sweltry summer days. When you think that one with a flaky, tender crust and juicy red cherries in the center can be served by merely calling on your baker for the ready-made dessert, it becomes a double treat.

For an extra special treat, serve your baker's Cherry Pie with creamy scoops of vanilla ice cream. But, whether you enjoy your cherry pie a la mode or unadorned, you know you're getting a perfectly prepared dessert, one made with the same ingredients you'd use, when you bake it baked.

Rev. Faulkner Says 'God Against Louis'

BY VERNON JARRETT

CHICAGO (ANP) — "Go is against on Joe Louis' side in this battle." Thus spoke Rev. Matthew C. Faulkner, who is forcing the retired champion to fight the same man in two different court rings at the same time.

Shortly after Superior Judge Benjamin Epstein ordered Louis to prevent whether he had presented pretty model Carolle Drake Faulkner thousands of dollars in cash and gifts, the Baptist minister filed suit for a divorce, charging Louis and Mrs. Faulkner with adultery in three cities. He charges they were together in New York, Detroit and Chicago.

The Reverend already has a $500,000 alienation of affection suit pending against the Brown Bomber, and in the divorce suit, Rev. Faulkner charges that Louis did more damage in wrecking his home than he ever did in the prize ring.

Louis and Atty. Truman K. Gibson, his counsel, have vigorously denied these charges. Last week Gibson told this writer that the Reverend is trying to win a "newspaper decision because he is sure to lose in court." Louis says the "Reverend is sadly mistaken. I just knew his wife, that's all."

In suit number one, the Georgia minister charged that he has suffered mental anguish because of Louis, and in suit number two he is demanding custody of his two children, Matthew, Jr., 6, and Ora, 4, now with his wife.

"My wife was a beautiful model," said the reverend, "but she was not a model wife after Louis took over." Faulkner charges his wife with deserting him Jan. 13, 19[illegible]

In an interview last week, the reverend declared, "During the war, I respected Louis when he went around the world saying 'God is on our side.' But this time," Faulkner added, "God is not with Joe Louis."

Louis must appear in Friedman's office June 24 and affirm or deny charges that he has given money and gifts to Carolle and the divorce suit is expected to come up near the end of the month or the first of July.
