JUDGE ARMOND SCOTT ADDRESSES ELKS

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. — Approximately 500 people gathered in the local BTW high school auditorium Sunday, April 20th to see and hear Honorable Armond W. Scott, judge of Municipal Court in Dee Cee as he delivered a masterful address on the occasion of the State Education Day program of the IBPOE (Elks) of the World with State President K. P. Battle in charge, assisted by David Coleman exalted ruler of Twin County Elks No. 247 and Dt. Ruler Adu Dunn of the local Temple. Music was by the BTW High Glee Club with a solo by Miss Marie Terry, 1951 State and Regional winner of the Elks $1000 scholarship oratorical contest.

Judge Scott, himself a native of Wilmington, N. C., in his factual message pointed up the outstanding accomplishments of Negroes in all walks of life and through the making of the hisory of our country, form Crispus Attucks at Boston Comomns, who spilled the first blood for liberty to our present-day leaders. Scott reminded his listeners that Negroes were in all wars and three from Mass., N. J. and N. C. voted to ratify our constitution. He urged youth to use every opportunity for personal advance, saying, "There is no escape from our personal responsibility to achieve . . . we must be honest, industrious and of a pleasing disposition to succeed."

W. Marshall Spears, H. H. Strandberg and Secretary Chambers of the local BPOE (white) Elks were present and brought greetings.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

Sunday night four contestants thered here for the division No. 3 elimination contest leading to the state finals. Winner of the contest was Miss Edith Wilson, local BTW student, coached by Mrs. Sadie R. Hawkins who coached the regional winner last year (Miss Terry). John Bias of Scotland Neck is Commissioner of Education for North Carolina.

CAPE FEAR PRESBYTERY CONVENES AT LUMBERTON

LUMBERTON, N. C. — The sixty-sixth annual (Spring) meeting of Cape Fear Presbytery, Presbyterian Church, USA, met here the Bethany Presbyterian Church April 16th and 17th as guests of Reverend J. H. Haywood, pastor. Reverend B. H. Baskerville was retiring moderator.

Baskerville delivered the opening message and Reverend R. C. Scriven, Sr., was chosen as new moderator after the enrollment of commissioners. A welcome program by the host church included several musical numbers by the 33-voice Hayswood High School Choral Group directed by Mrs. E. C. Marioneaux who served as pianist.

MODEL TOWN

J. E. Treadway, Mayor's representative on the program, extended greetings on behalf of First Presbyterian Church (white) and the Chamber of Commerce and pointed to Lumberton's unusual observance of Sunday with no commercial activity being carried on whatever. He exalted the venerable Dr. Hayswood for his extraordinary religious influence over the community and during his approximately fifty years here as preacher - teacher and general community leader who as Dean of ministers in Cape Fear Presbytery and Catawba Synod has seen a new High School named after him. Incidentally, the school was the result of a fight on the part of local citizens and a strike by the students several years ago. Macro Kemp and G. H. Young spoke greetings for the church and school. Reverend Oscar W. Burwick, Methodist minister, represented the ministerial alliance. Burwick came here last November from Hickory.

Highlights of the second day's sessions were the election of Commissioners to the 164th General Assembly Presbyterian Church USA which meets in New York City on June 26th. Chosen as ministerial commissioners — principal and alternate — were Revs. R. E. Stith of Lillington and O. J. Hawkins, Wilson, North Carolina. Lay commissioner is R. W. Kornegay, Kinston and J. W. Edwards of Snow Hill as alternate. Another highlight was the appearance of Miss Flossie Heinize, Field Representative, Publications Division, Board of Christian Education, Presbyterians USA, who is giving instruction in use of church literature throughout the South this summer. She will be in Rocky Mount April 27th at Mount Pisgah Church.

PAUL CADE LICENSED

Sponsored by the Bethany Church of which he is a product, Paul Cade, a theological student at J. C. Smith University and a veteran of three years in Korea who is continuing his studies was presented for examination for license and passed.

Elder J. B. Harren, Rocky Mount, led devotion. Thursday and Reverend O. E. Sanders was appointed vice moderator. Reverend R. R. Richardson gave the report on New Life Movement and Dr. A. H. Prince spoke on Evangelism. Dr. J. H. Moore, Baptist leader of Wilmington, was guest along with Dr. A. H. George of J. C. Smith; L. R. West and H. W. Givens, F. C. Shirley, J. W. Smith, Sr., H. L. Counts and J. T. Jones. Entertainment by the local church women was superb with an abundance of food for all. Mrs. Hayswood said, "The ladies just love to serve visitors and feel it a Christian duty."

Among the laymen present were: H. M. McKoy, A. Smith, James Allen, A. L. Ridley, A. H. Ridley, Mrs. N. T. Bailey, Lloyd Spaulding, E. C. Grega, J. O. Scipio, A. L. Williams, M. D. Williams, S. D. McGill, W. J. McLean, W. B. Smith, L. R. Smith, William Hines and J. E. King.

The Thursday evening session was taken over by the Men's Council of the Presbytery whose officers were W. J. McLean, Nashville; Dr. Malcolm Williams Wilson and Elder R. W. Kornegay, Kinston. (Incidentally, Kornegay has filed as candidate for the post of county commissioner of Lenoir County, being one of the few colored to so apply in Eastern North Carolina.)

BOULWARE AND SEARS SPEAK

Speakers for the Men's Council program were E. Ellwood Boulware, professor at North Carolina College, who urged that Christians be concerned about the moral decency of our communities and A. E. Spears, Sr., insurance executive of Charlotte, both of whom are prominent Presbyterian laymen. Spears is the colored member on the National Council of Presbyterian Men and Dr. Boulware is active on all levels of the church and is being groomed to succeed Spears on the National Council when his (Spear's) term ends in 1953.

The Presbytery adjourned to meet in September with the Lillington Church, Reverend R. E. Stitt, pastor.

BETHANY WOMEN SUPERB ENTERTAINERS

Under the guidance of Mrs. Hayswood, the Women's Missionary Society of Bethany Church were most generous with food and table delicacies despite high prices, all of which was given freely. Listed as participants on the hostess committee were: Mesdames Johnnie Suggs, Louise Washington, Geneva Love, Brookchial Bethea, Rachel Reed, Caroline Williams, Elizabeth Kemp, A. B. Lewis, Mae Bethea, Virginia Sammons, Annie Stewart, Maggie McQueen, Miss Grace McQueen and Miss Barbara Bethea. PHILA. CHURCH OBSERVES 50TH ANNIVERSARY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — A week of "Golden Jubilee" services were observed here at the Wayland Temple Baptist Church 2500 W. Columbia Avenue, where Reverend C. M. Smith has served as pastor since 1937.

Starting with Easter Sunday services the church took in 43 new members to add to the 57 who joined the previous Sunday. The edifice was replendent in its sixtone decoration and the three choirs combined their voices (84 in all) to render beautiful music of meditation for personal silent prayers. More than a thousand worshippers crowded the aisles as every available seat was taken with the annual outpouring of Easter finery, many of whom were fervent worshippers.

The Rev. Smith's theme was: "You Have A Home for Your Life, Why Not Have a Home for Your Soul?" Ministers taking part on the 50th anniversary week program were: Revs. William B. Toland, W. C. Williamson, D. Manning Jackson, R. C. Lamb and J. Lake Jones.

BOUGHT $91,000 STRUCTURE

Organized in 1902 after a split from Crest Zion Baptist Church, a group named their church after Reverend Horace B. Wayland, a great preacher of the period, and moved to many locations with alternate success and disappointments, until in 1949 they were finally able to purchase the present grey stone edifice built in 1893 by a white Methodist congregation for $91,500 cash. Building has been repaired extensively and the congregation does not owe a cent to date. Hobson R. Reynolds, noted Elks leader and mortician, has been chairman of trustees since 1921.

TAR HEELS VISIT HERE

Visiting here Easter from North Carolina were Mesdames Causie H. Shelly, Rose D. Williams, Annie H. Harren and J. B. Harren of Tarboro and Rocky Mount. All were guests of their relatives, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Haughton, 1831 No. Van Pelt Street, and Mrs. Mary H. Walker, 1725 N. 23rd Street. On Easter Sunday Mesdames Haughton and Walker were joint hostesses to their relatives and friends at a family dinner. Joining them were David M. Burton, Miss Margaret Brown and Miss S. Marie Harrison of New York City. Others in the group, almost all of them were native Tar Heels, were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marshall and daughter, Tawanda; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haughton, Jr. and Carol and Kenneth Haughton; Mrs. Ernestine Simmons, Joseph Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin and Maggie (Williams) Bass, John Banks, Mrs. Rose Covington, Jas. Glover, Mrs. Queenie Johnson and daughter, Ethel Mae Johnson, Eddie Talley, Mrs. Rosetta Barnes, Ernest Haughton, Sr. and Mrs. Hattie Braswell Barnes.

Returning via Norfolk, Va., the motor party visited a sister, Mrs. Jesse (Lilian H.) Jones and family Easter Monday.

MAN RUNS AMUCK

WILMINGTON, N. C. —

James E. Stanley of Masonboro Sound ran amuck in New Hanover County Jail Sunday morning, and before he was stopped the following happened:

A highway patrolman was [illegible] Sowbar. Stanley was shot six times. Bedlam reigned supreme for awhile.

Stanley was housed with other prisoners who complained of his "peculiar" actions. It is alleged he was booked for the State Hospital in Goldsboro.

The jailer and trustees were effecting the transfer to another cell, when Stanley grabbed a wrench and a crowbar.

Police Sgt. L. B. Rourke came when an alarm for extra help was sounded. Rourke told Stanley he did not want to kill him but ordered him to lay down his weapons. This was in reply to a query by Stanley, who asked the officer, "Do you want to kill me?"

After winging Stanley in the arm and shoulder, Rourke fired four other shots before the crazed man was stopped.

ELLA J. SMITH CIVIC CLUB

Inspirational talks were presented by B. F. Ferguson, Reverend C. R. Coleman, pastor of Evans' Metropolitan AMEZ Church, Rev. I. J. Miller, pastor of St. Luke AME Church; Rev. Charles Johnson, rector of St. Joseph Episcopal Church; Dr. William P. DeVane, city councilman, and Dr. J. W. Seabrook, president of Fayetteville State Teachers College, at the third meeting of the Urban and Suburban Civic Club as they reviewed the garments made by the members to be distributed to underprivileged children in this area.

These garments had been given to members at previous meetings to be made by them and returned at this meeting.

The meeting was opened by prayer by Mrs. Julia A. Simmons, club chaplain. History of the club from 1924 to 1952 was reviewed by Mrs. Alice Henderson.

The club reported 291 garments made for underprivileged children. These included dresses, skirts, trousers, shirts ,gowns, pillowcases, slips, aprons, scarfs, overalls, bloomers, sweaters, rompers, blouses, pajamas and two quilts.

The club expressed its appreciation to a number of agencies and individuals for their cooperation with and contributions to the program for underprivileged children.

These include the Salvation Army, merchants of Fayetteville; the Ministerial Alliance, Dr. Seabrook, Dr. DeVane, Fred Allen, Dr. Watson Fowler, Mrs. B. H. Walker, Principal of North Street Elementary School, E. E. Miller Principal of E. E. Smith High School; Miss Selma Melvin, Principal of Edward Evans Elementary School, Edward W. Murphy, Principal of Anne Chestnut High School. Miss Helen Hucles, Principal of Newbold Elementary School, Mrs. D. H. Williams, Supervisor of Cumberland County Schools Mrs. Beatrice C. Watkins, director of USO-NCUS Club, Dr. M. T. Perry and Mrs. Lillie B. Moore, manager of Modiste Beauty Parlor.

At the suggestion of Dr. Seabrook, and unanimous vote of the club the club changed its name from the Urban-Suburban Club to the "Ella J. Smith Civic Club," honoring its founder and president.

The meeting was held at James Walker Hood library with Mrs. Julia M. Ferguson as hostess. Mrs. Ella J. Smith presided.

The Fayetteville City Council of PTA celebrated the 25th anniversary of the PTA work in the state, with a program at E. E. Smith High School. Several selections were rendered by the high school band.

Lift Every Voice and Sing, was sung by the audience and invocation was given by Reverend C. M. Johnson, rector of Saint Joseph's Episcopal Church. A pageant Home, Church School and Community was given by members of the various PTA groups, after which a solo, Without a Song, was rendered by Miss Bessie R. Pridgeon.

Mr. B. F. Ferguson, president of the Fayetteville City Council of PTA presided, and introduced the guest speaker, Dr. J. Ward Seabrook, president of Fayetteville State Teachers College, whose subject: Who Can Foresee The Result of An Act, kept the audience spellbound for more than half an hour with his informative discussion.

He paid homage to Mrs. Anne Holland and her co-workers in charting a better course in good citizenship for every child. He gave seven principal objectives to achieve these ends:

1. Every child a sound mind and healthy body.
2. Home life happy, unselfish and democratic.
3. Ability to read, write, think and act.
4. Knowledge and skill necessary to make a good living.
5. Free time for worthy activities.
6. Informal citizenship, devoted to the common good.
7. A fine, spiritual character that is trusted and admired.

The founders laid the foundation, charted the course, with one thought in mind, better homes, churches, schools and better communities for every child regardless of race, color or creed.

He appealed to the parents to work unceasingly for a home for rebele-minded children. To keep children in school and see that they attend regularly, and for parents and teachers alike to take a more active part in the community, civic and political life, by registering and voting in every primary and election, seek out your candidates and look up their past records.

Music was furnished by the Orange Street Junior High School Choral Club.

Mr. Ferguson presented to the Newbold Elementary School a loving cup, received last year at the N. C. State PTA convention held at Durham N. C. for having the largest membership in the state. Miss Helen Hucles, principal of Newbold, and Mr. James Alexander McNeill, President of the General PTA, receveid the cup on behalf of the school.

This is the second consecutive year that this cup has been won by Newbold. If they are successful in receiving it for one more year it becomes the permanent property of Newbold School.

The plaque won by the Fayetteville Council was received by Prof. Joseph Drake, principal of Orange Street Junior High School. All joined in singing the North Carolina PTA song. After which Rev. Johnson announced the benediction.
