Lockhart School News

BY MARY FRANCES BRYANT

The first grade A class is back in school after a holiday on Thanksgiving and is looking forward to the Christmas parade and Santa Claus.

The third and fourth grades in room 201 had charge of the chapel period on Nov. 17. They had two choral readings, "The First Psalm" and "My Books and I" and a short playlet, "The Books Revel." The Junior High School Glee Club sang two selections.

James Henry Watkins went to the circus. He told about the many animals he saw.

The third grade of room 111B is very proud to have Willie Holden back in school. He has been out with the whooping cough.

The second graders are making plans for an outstanding Christmas frieze for room decoration.

The fourth grade presented a Thanksgiving program Wednesday. The program included a choral reading, an Indian dance and a play — The Mysterious Seeds. Some of the participants were: Claretta Bass, Willie Richardson, Charles Lucas, Emma Evans, Joel Privette, Sadie Kenner, Lawrence Lane, Eddie Lane, Frances Jules, Dorothy Primous, Mary Dunn, James Stewart, William and Jimmy Bumpers and Elvira Mial.

[illegible] A class reports that two students spent Thanks- [illegible] in Durham and Hillsboro respectively. They are weaving some very beautiful mats. They hope to have them ready for presents for Christmas. Honor roll: Ida Mial, Mary Robertson, Lula Pencock, Joseph Goodson and Carolyn Sanders.

The fifth grade B class reports that they are planning a trip to the post office to get their Christmas cards in the mail before the rush.

Method News

CLASS HONORS PRINCIPAL, FACULTY

METHOD — On Tuesday, Nov. 23, the seniors of the Berry O'Kelly School, Method, gave their principal and faculty members a surprise banquet. Mr. W. D. Moore, principal, was given a beautifully decorated cake with the inscription: "To Our Principal," with candles on it, representing his years of service as principal. Ralph Justice made the presentation.

Toasts were made to Mr. Moore by Margaret Evans; to Miss D. V. Morris, one of the sponsors of the senior class, by Hazel Lockley; to Mrs. B. B. Wright, a sponsor, by Pearl Pervis. A toast to Mrs. Lytle, by Flonnie Keith; Mrs. M. G. Carter, by Louise Hinton; Mrs. V. C. Moore, by Delores Pennington; Mr. Laws, by Lather Powell; to Mr. D. Spaugh, by Laura High; and to Mr. J. Dickerson, by Myrtle Chavis.

The following menu was served: grapefruit halves, baked ham, buttered peas, candied sweets, iced tea, ice cream and cake.

Soft music was played throughout the banquet-dinner. Mrs. Georgia Fields helped to prepare the food. Other gifts were also presented to Mr. Moore, the sponsors, Miss D. V. Morris and Mrs. B. B. Wright.

WILLING WORKERS MEET

The Willing Workers Club of St. James AME Church met at the home of Mrs. Allie Wright Smalls on Wednesday night, November 9. After an interesting business session, Thanksgiving baskets were prepared for the sick and aged.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Ida Harris on December 7, at which time a Christmas program will be rendered and gifts will be exchanged.

The sixth graders didn't have to worry about a turkey for Thanksgiving. They made their own turkey. Are you wondering how they made it? Well — I'll tell you — they took a white potato, some cardboard and some kitchen and made it. I guess it
