SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By JAMES H. GRIFFIN, Soil Conservationist

The annual meeting of the State Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors will be held in Asheville, N. C., this week, January 9-11. Attending from Chowan County will be Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bunch, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Byrum, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winborne, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Griffin and J. A. Webb, Jr.

The Albemarle Soil Conservation District will be well represented with about three-fourths of the district supervisors attending.

District Supervisor Grady Stevens of Camden County will be on the program as chairman of the state education committee.

Conservation Poster Contest

The annual conservation poster contest will be sponsored in the district again by the Elizabeth City Chamber of Commerce. The contest is open to students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the public schools within the soil conservation district. Local prizes will be given by district supervisors of the county. County winners will enter the district-wide contest at Elizabeth City, March 10, 1961, at 1:30 P. M.

A change this year is that students will prepare their posters during February rather than March. County contests will be held the first week of March with the district contest March 10th.

Schools eligible to enter this contest will be notified immediately by the county boards of district supervisors.

Conservation Farm Planning

J. E. Brabble, Yeopim Community, has a basic conservation farm plan. He planned his crop rotations to get a four year rotation for peanuts. Cover crops are included plus small grain for harvest.

He planned a complete drainage system starting with one open ditch this year, one in 1962, 1963 and 1964. Surface drains will be used, too. Tile drainage will be installed in the wetter spots of the field.

He planned woodland practices to bring into production a woods that was heavily cut two years ago. Pine seedlings will be set in open areas and in areas where "wolf-trees" are poisoned.

Mr. Brabble is in the Burnt Mill Creek watershed and is using Lateral No. 3 for his drainage outlet. Before the watershed project he did not have a drainage outlet and couldn't get one.

Pollock Swamp Watershed

Landowners met Friday, January 6 at the Chowan County Court House, Edenton. A report of the watershed planning party was read to them. Landowners decided where the spoil (dirt) would be placed in construction. They decided that pipe overfalls would be used under the spoil bank for drawing water into the canal. The spoil will be spread, limed, fertilized and seeded through the wooded area of the canal. This will protect the channel and assist the local people in maintaining the structure.

Assistance

District cooperators who desire technical assistance this year are asked to come by the local work unit office now and schedule the assistance needed. Technical assistance offered includes conservation farm planning, engineering and planning on structural practices, woodland practices, wildlife and other assistance. The plan of operation for 1961 is being prepared now. If you need and want technical assistance ,get your name in the plan for 1961.
