POETICAL.

From the Concord Mercury.

WRITTEN FOR HELEN'S ALBUM.

As strangers, not long since we met,
As friends [I trust] we soon will part;
I take my leave with much regret—
It fills, with sadness, my fond heart.

In thy dear mother's, fond embrace,
"I leave thee in thy happiness,"
And when I'm gone my soul will bless
Thy form of graceful, gentleness.

When sailing on the briny deep,
Far distant from the land and thee—
When sickened on my berth I lie,
Fair one, will you remember me?

When on Carolina's genial soil,
My youthful footsteps, quickly tread,
When mingling with some happy soul—
When strolling 'long the flowery mead;

When lonely on the mountain's top—
Reclining in the mossy rock,
In all those scenes I'll think of thee,"
Then Helen, save one thought for me.

TASTING OF PUNCH.

Habits of the Nice Young Man.—Attends evening parties and hands the muffins round.

Smile if he burns his fingers with the kettle.

Plays the flute.

Sings "Do you love me now as then?"

Parts his hair in the middle.

Takes an umbrella with him to an evening party.

Wears golashes after dusk.

Has a secret pass on for gruel.

Writes acrostics, and contributes to ladies albums.

Curls his whiskers.

Is the "Hon. Sec." to the "Ladies" Benevolent Mangle Distribution Society."

Keeps a cat, and a regular account of his daily expenses.

His greatest pleasure is to attend a meeting at Exeter Hall, and his next greatest pleasure is to have his name mentioned amongst those whom we observed on the platform." &c. &c.

His fondest tie, next to an aged grand mother, is that of his white neckcloth.

Can hum the overture to Der Freischutz.

Carries a pincushion and acidulated drops about with him, and is never unprovided with a scent bottle, for fear of accidents.

Goes out in the rain to fetch a cap.

Doesn't smoke.

Helps mamma's shawl on with the grace of one of Holmes's shopmen.

Has his hair and handkerchief full of scents, and it is a pity the same connot be said of his head.

Holds a skein of silk with exemplary patience—turns over the leaves of music with great digital skill—reads novels in a clear secretary like voice—laughs af fetuoso—lisps moderato jokes with the old maids allegro—quotes poetry penseroso—runs ladies' errands prestissimo and makes himself generallo usefulo.

Such are the habits of the nice young man.

A HINT FOR THE BOYS.

Boys, truth is one of the richest jewels you can ever find, and one you should cherish as of priceless value. Many of your class have been lost to honor and greatness by disregarding its sublime precepts and have failed to become what they might have been, men of renown, by foolishly casting it from their bosoms. All have this gem in the begining, boys, but it may be lost by wickedness and carelessness; if you have not lost it, and we hope you have not, let nothing cheat you out of it; for its equal is hardly to be found when lost.

Profane language, boys, is a sure index of a wicked heart and low breeding. Do you know a man or a boy who commands respect from his neighbors? You never hear them swear—no oath ever trembles off their lips—emulate their bright example. Will you read the catalogue of sin and crime? You will find the disgraced actors to have been profane. Reflect on this, boys, and let no word of profanity escape your lips.

Beware of the company of such as haunt the Tavern; they may induce, over persuade you to partake of the cup of shame and poison, beware of them—the tempting wine cup shun; it will lead you to every sin, and disgrace you forever—our word for it, boys; we are dealing in facts with you. Touch not a drop; for you may become a drunkard in the end, and you know how pitiful an object the poor drunkard is.

Be honest, be generous, be frank, be sober, be virtuous, abounding in truth, my boys, and you need not fear the consequences. Life is just opening her fitful path before you, but armed with these blessed traits you may rush fearlessly to the battle of life and fear no evil. You may be orphans, but if you have these as your jewels you will meet with friends and encouragement in every lane of life. Men of business and wealth have their eyes upon you—watching you; they want clerks for their stores and apprentices for their workshops—if you have the virtues we have mentioned they will not ask a better recommendation, but will choose you at once, taking you to their confidence and make men of you and when they sleep in their graves, as all must, you may fill their places with honor and renown, as they that have passed away. Boys, will you think of what we have been saying and thinking. ACT?

To Fatten Poultry.—Shut them up in the dark—give them a little light two or three times a day, long enough to fill themselves with food, and then shut them up quite dark, and keep them ten or twelve days at farthest.

Two hundred and forty six persons have been run over, during the past twelve months, in N. York City.

BALKY HORSES.

The practice of an English friend, who has cured numbers of them, is to hitch a steady horse or team behind them and pull them backwards. It should be done on smooth fair ground. The refractory beast will not relish such treatment, and will soon be glad to go forward at the word of command. The most stubborn will yield and be perfectly true and tractable after three or four such tutorings. The aforementioned friend, tells me he never failed to conquer in a single instance, and that too without the stroke of a whip or otherwise maltreating the animal.

T. E. W.

Rural New Yorker.

The London Times comments upon the fact that in nine cases in ten of wreck or disaster at sea, many lives are lost because the boats provided expressly for such emergencies are either out of order or cannot be used. Sometimes a plug is missing; the irons will not swing readily; the boat is stove by skillful management; rubbish of all sorts is piled upon them; and owing to these or other causes, it is almost invariably the case that one or more of the life boats provided is entirely disabled. The Times suggests, as a remedy for this, that it should be a regular part of duty on board ship to see that every thing about these boats is in perfect order, and to exercise the crew in getting them out and ready for service. The time and labor would be abundantly repaid by the increased efficiency of these protective arrangements in case of danger. And it is manifestly absurd to incur so much expense for life boats, &c., and then want of proper care to allow them to become utterly useless.

AN UNNATURAL MOTHER.

About seven o'clock yesterday evening, on Seventh street, near Walnut, a woman stepped up to a young lad and requested him to hold her infant child for a few minutes remarking that she wished to step into a store near by and make a purchase. The boy took the child and in about half an hour, when the mother not returning, he made search for her but to no purpose. The child soon became fretful and began to scream, which attracted the attention of some persons residing in the vicinity who upon hearing the boy's story, had the infant taken to the Orphan Assylum.

Multicole Rye.—We have been shown by Thomas O. Acree several stalks of Multicole Rye, grown on his farm above town in Bedford. They are eight feet six inches high, with bulk and head in proportion. The yield of this grain, over the Rye usually grown in this country, should make it an object with every farmer to test its value.—Lynchburg Virginian.

Col. Wheelers History.—The following compliment to the merits of this popular production is extracted from a letter from Hon. Thomas Sergeant, President of the "Pennsylvania Historical Society," to a friend, dated Philadelphia, 15th March 1852.—Lincolnton Republican.

"I return you Col. Wheeler's Book with many thanks for your kindness.

It is full of curious and interesting matters about the good old times, and will prove a very valuable addition to that class of our literature which treats of those Spirit stirring events."———

Jew David's Hebrew Plaster,

THE great remedy for Rheumatism, Gout, Pain in the Side, Hip, Back and Joints; Scrofula, King's Evil, White Swellings, Hard Tumors, Stiff Joints, and all fixed pains whatever. Where this Plaster is applied Pain cannot exist.

These Plasters possess the advantages of being put up in air-tight boxes; hence they retain their full virtues in all climates.

This celebrated Pain Extractor has been so extensively used by Physicians and the people in general, both in this country and Europe, that it is almost needless to say any thing about it. Yet there may be some who stand in need of its healing powers who have not yet tried it. For their sakes we will simply state what it has done in thousands of cases, and what it will do for them when tried.

JEW DAVID'S OR HEBREW PLASTER IN NORTH CAROLINA.

MESSRS. SCOVIL & MEAD: I have been troubled with the chronic rheumatism for the last twelve years. On the 1st of July, 1849, I was so bad that I could not turn myself in bed, and the pain so severe that I had not slept a wink for six days. At this time my attending physician prescribed the "Hebrew Plaster," and it acted like a charm; the pain left me, and I slept more than half the night, and in three days I was able to ride out. I consider the "Hebrew Plaster" the best remedy for all sorts of pains now in use. G. W. M'MINN.

TO THE PUBLIC.

I HAVE established a school near Andrew's Mills, in Iredell county, for the education of females.—The plan will be somewhat different from most other schools now in operation in this part of the country: In addition to the usual instruction given in schools, I propose to connect with this Institution various departments in the light branches of the arts, together with a complete system of housekeeping. The object is not only to school the pupils, but to fit them to enter at once, and successfully, upon the active duties of life, fully qualified to maintain themselves in an honorable way. It is proposed to receive into this school (a limited number at present) pauper children, or the children of such persons as are not able to pay the charges. The parents or guardians of those who have means, will be charged $2 50 per session of five months. Board can be had on very favorable terms. If there are those who are pleased with this plan and feel disposed to contribute towards making it more efficient, they are requested to correspond with me at Houstonville, Iredell county, N. C.
