PREPARING FOR A CHANGE OF FRONT.

In the last Charlotte Democrat we find the following:—

THE GATEWAY.—We publish an account of the debate between Gov. Ellis and Mr. Pool at Elizabeth City. It is not an unfair and one-sided report like that of the Ellis discussion published by the Murfreesborough Southron, and copied by all the opposition papers. The Southron did not report Gov. Ellis obviously, and we have good authority for saying that the report of the Murfreesborough Citizen (a Democratic paper) is inaccurate.

We have heretofore called attention to the fact that the Democratic papers have failed to copy either the Whig or the Democratic accounts of the discussion at Gateesville. We have published both. The Eastern Democratic papers have given their own accounts of the discussions, for circulation in the East exclusively. Not one of the detailed accounts has been copied into a Democratic paper in the middle or Western part of the State. But, instead of this, other and very different accounts of these discussions are written down there in the East, and sent off to the Standard for circulation in the West. Such is the account which the Democrat copies from the Standard, and lands as "not an unfair and one-sided report." It was written at Elizabeth City, where there is a Democratic paper, which Democratic paper gave its own account of the discussion. That was for the East. The writer for the Standard prepares one for the West. In this last account, there is not a word about the West being "the horse-leech, crying give! give!" not a word about the West "having its hand all the time in the pockets of the Eastern people," or about "the East being the goose to lay the golden egg for the West." That was all for the East—the Standard's account is for the West, and ignores all this.

The Democrat says that "the Southron did not report Gov. Ellis correctly." Indeed! How does the Democrat know that? We have nowhere seen such a charge made on the spot. It is left to a Western paper, two or three hundred miles from the scene of the discussion, to deny the correctness of the Southron's account. But the fact is that the Citizen, the Democratic paper published at the same place, gives substantially the same account of Gov. Ellis's Gateesville speech, in some essential particulars giving the very words of the Southron's account. Seeing this, the Democrat feels bound to go on and add, "We have good authority for saying that the report of the Murfreesboroug Citizen (a Democratic paper) is inaccurate."

We suppose that Gov. Ellis is this "good authority"? Now it may be remarked that Gov. Ellis is stopped from making this plea as to any but one point. On the 17th inst., just a fortnight after the Gateesville discussion, Gov. Ellis had the following inserted in the Raleigh Press:—

Is as follows.—In an article which appeared in our weekly issue of the 16th, copying from the Murfreesboro' Citizen, Gov. Ellis is made to say "that between himself and Mr. Pool no difference upon national politics existed." The Governor requests us to state that he was misunderstood. What he said was this: "Between Mr. Pool and himself no personal difference existed, yet on a question of State policy, as well as on Federal affairs they stood widely asunder." This correction comports with the account given of the discussion by the Southron.—Ral. Press, 17th instant.

This is fairly an admission that there were no other material errors in either the Citizen's or the Southron's accounts of Gov. Ellis's speech. He took the trouble to correct one error, in the Democratic account, and to admit the correctness of the Whig account in that particular. What more natural, if there had been other errors in either account, than to correct them at the same time, or at least to refer to them—to say that there were others errors? But the Governor did nothing of the kind. The only error he had detected in the accounts of his speech, was one in the Democratic account, and by correcting that, he tacitly admitted that there were no others to correct.

To the West, however, a different story must be told. Not only are Eastern accounts of the discussions—that tacitly admitted to be correct,—suppressed, but the Western Democrat is furnished with "good authority" for denouncing the one as "unfair and one-sided" and the other as "inaccurate."

This foreshadows the game which Gov. Ellis is playing. We do not think it a respectable game, nor do we believe it will be a winning game. It looks to a deception of both sections, East and West, and we think it will lose the Governor the confidence of both.

If these versions of Gov. Ellis's speech in the East, written and published by his own party friends in the East, are to be repudiated in the West, by his friends and himself, it strikes us that it is due to truth and to decency that the Governor should first require his organs in the East to correct them, and to give such a version as he is willing to stand by all over the State. It is true that that might now be a hazardous business, for the Eastern people hold him and have assented to the correctness of the reports of his speeches. But it would be more honest than to have one story for the East and a different story for the West.—Fayetteville Observer.

From the Fayetteville Observer.

Random Statements.—We prefer to think that it is ignorance, and not a wish to deceive, that causes so many unfounded statements to be put forth as facts by some of the Democratic papers in this State. Yet it is hard to believe this, since they scarcely ever correct one of their errors when plainly exposed. We have taken the trouble lately to correct several such mis statements of facts; but, while they do not pretend to answer or deny our corrections, they carefully refrain from any allusions to them, leaving their readers in the state of blissful ignorance into which they had been led by these "enlighteners of the public mind."

The Winston Sentinel, whose statements in regard to Trustees of the University we had occasion recently to correct, has another batch in a later issue. It asserts:—

"That the capital in North Carolina, invested in Bank Stock, Merchandise, Money loaned at interest, and that invested in schemes of general speculation for profit and pleasure, is infinitely larger than that of the slave property in the State."

Can this be true? Let us see. The capital of all the Banks, (exclusive of that invested by the State itself, which of course is not subject to taxation,) is about $6,000,000. Merchant's capital paid last year $65,365, which, at ½ per cent, shows that there is $13,073,000 of capital thus invested. In negro and other trading, $470,200. Interest and Dividends represent about $37,000,000, of which deduct $6,000,000 already counted in Bank Stock leaves $31,000,000. In all, $50,608,365. To this may be added a million or two, perhaps several millions, of small matters, such as Watches, Pianos, Carriages, Plate, Patent Medicines, Billiard Tables, Canes, Pistols, Liquor Traffic, &c.; for all of which, and for the accuracy of our calculations above, we refer to the 163d page of the Comptroller's Report for September 30, 1859.

And this fifty-odd millions is magnified into a sum "infinitely larger than the value of slave property in the State," which is, at a reasonable calculation, at least two hundred millions of dollars.

Again: The Sentinel says:

"Up to 1850, when the Democratic party first got in power, we believe, the interest of the capitalists had never paid a single dollar in taxes to the State. From that time to the present, each successive Legislature has laid it upon them, heavier and still heavier," &c., &c.

How easy it would have been for the Editor to have looked at the act of 1848–9, before he expressed such a belief, so calculated to deceive his readers. He would there have found, that interest and dividends and various articles of luxury were then for the first time taxed. The Legislature of 1848–9 was a Whig Legislature.

Truly the blind lead the blind in this State!

One of the late discoveries in the application of the Daguerrean art, is that of the transfer of photographic portraits to porcelain surfaces.—The inventor of this new method is a German residing in this country where, he has been very successful in the practice of the art.

Miraculous Escape.—On Tuesday last, Ex-Gov. McMullen, of Washington county, Va., came near being killed in consequence of the mail train on the Va. and Tennessee Railroad coming in collision with a horse which he was riding, and was killed instantly. The Lynchburg Republican says:

It seems that near Marion, in Smythe county, Gov. McMullen had crossed the railroad track on horseback, about 100 yards ahead of the train, which was running at the rate of 20 miles an hour, but the horse becoming frightened, was ungovernable, and managed to get on the track just as the train came up. The consequence was that the cow-catcher struck the horse, instantly killing him, but with great presence of mind Gov. McMullen, at the time of the accident, jumped from the horse's back on to the cow-catcher, where, securing a hold, he maintained a position until the train was stopped and he was rescued from his perilous position. The escape of the Governor from instant death is certainly most remarkable and is attributed solely to his great calmness in the moment of danger; all who witnessed the accident testifying that he was as composed and unmoved as if an actor in the most trivial occurrence.

PAPERING ROOMS.

The Scientific American remarks that many lives have been lost from the laziness or ignorance of the paper hangers who have laid one paper above another instead of tearing off the old before hanging the new. There was a very handsome house near one of our best provincial towns, which could never keep its tenants. A ready-witted observer promised the owner to find out the cause. He traced the mischief to one room, and presently conjectured what was the matter there. He let a slip of glass into the wall, and found it next day dimmed with fœtid, condemned vapor. He tore down a strip of paper, and found abundant cause for any amount of fever. For generations the walls had been papered afresh without the removal of anything underneath.—And there was the putrid size and the fermenting old paper inches deep! A thorough clearance, scraping and clearing put an end to the fever, and restored the value of the house.

NEW YORK POLITICS—MR. SEWARD.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 19.

The Republican Convention of this State, to nominate delegates to Chicago, met yesterday. The attendance was very large. A resolution was reported presenting the name of William Seward to the Chicago Convention for the nomination to the Presidency. The resolution was adopted unanimously with the greatest enthusiasm. William M. Evarts, Preston King, John L. Schoolcraft, and Henry R. Selden were chosen delegates at large.

TROY, N. Y., April 19.—The National Union State Convention met here yesterday. Fifty-two counties were represented, and a full delegation was appointed to the Baltimore Convention. Washington Hunt and Erastus Brooks are the delegates at large.

MORE COMPLIMENTS TO THE WEST.

We learn from the Tarboro' Mercury that Gov. Ellis said in his speech at that town, that

"The basis would give the control o both houses of the Legislature to the West. It is from the East that the money comes and he believes that the people of the West conscientiously would spend one hundred millions of dollars in building up their railroads, cutting down their mountains, and filling up their valleys, and it is the Eastern people that must furnish the money. The mischief resulting from this would be incalculable."

We should like to be present when the Governor gets to the West.

Public Sale of Bank and Rail Road Stock.—On Tuesday last, 30 shares of Cape Fear Bank Stock were sold in this town, at $126 50 per share—5 shares of Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road Stock sold at $75 30 per share—and 60 shares Tarboro' Branch of said Road sold at $65 10 per share.—Tarboro' Southerner.

TIME.—Time wears slippers of lint, and his tread is noiseless. The days come softly dawning, one after another; they creep in at the windows; their morning air is perfumed as the lips that pant for it; their music is sent to the ear that listens to it—until, before we know it, a whole life of days has possession of the citadel, and time has taken us for its own.

Scrofula or King's Evil.

As a constitutional disease, it manifests itself in the form of tumors, in the glands, swellings of the joints, and external deformities, breaking out on the skin, liver complaint, dropsy, pimples, pustules, blotches, blains and boils, tumors, tetter and salt rheum, scald head, ringworm, rheumatism, syphilitic and mercurial diseases, dropsy, dyspepsia, debility, and, indeed, all complaints arising from vitiated or impure blood. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible to contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the purposes of Family Physic,

are so compounded that disease within the range of this section can rarely withstand or resist them. Possessing properties search and scourge, they penetrate every portion of the human organism, expelling its diseased action, and restoring healthy functions. As a consequence of their purgative action, invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health and energy restored by a remedy so pure so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is prepared to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache, arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the Disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cures of its curing, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained ground on its merits, which, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

BLACK HAWK is widely known. In himself and his progeny, he has acquired a name from Canada to Texas. To give his biography is not the object of this article; but some general facts in regard to his origin and character will not be out of place in this connection. He was bred by the late Wingate Twombly, Greenland N. H.; was by the horse known as "Sherman Morgan;" his dam (owned by Mr. Twombly) was said to have been in part of English blood, and from New Brunswick. "Sherman Morgan" was by the first, or "Justin Morgan," so called. Black Hawk was for several years well known as a trotter. His full speed was never surpassed; but in several instances he trotted a mile in two minutes and forty-two seconds. But he is most remarkable for a combination of speed with strength and power of endurance. At the Cambridge Course, in 1842, he won a match of $1000, by trotting five miles in sixteen minutes, and has performed other feats equally as extraordinary. He was never beaten.

His progeny partake of his properties in a high degree. No horse of which we have any account has left his impress more strikingly, and his future rank will be among those most distinguished for the improvement of their species. The reputation of Black Hawk's stock is such that they command a ready sale, and a large proportion of them bring very high prices. It would be desirable to know the whole amount of money which has been received for the sale of his progeny that have been sold, but this is impracticable. We have before us a list containing a portion of those who have been bred and sold in the town of Ridgeport, Vermont, where he has been kept since 1844. From this it appears that 30 colts and up towards 30 in the 30th, have brought the sum of $[illegible] $500 (and a fraction) each; [illegible] six months to six years. Most of [illegible] (entire,) but some were geldings and some fillies. This is wholly from actual sales in this town, and has no reference to stock on hand. It shows in a favorable light, the estimation in which the stock is held where it is best known.

RAVEN

Will stand for Mares in Salisbury. Mares sent from a distance will be boarded at one of the best Livery Stables in the State, and will receive the very best attention.

The Prices that Black Hawk Colts command, East and elsewhere, are enormously high; the stock is held in high estimation and daily improving.

THE NORTH CAROLINA

White Sulphur Springs,

WILL be opened for visitors by the 1st of June next; they are situated in a most healthy mountainous country, near the beautiful Catawba River, within [illegible] miles of the present terminus of the Western N. C. Rail Road with which daily lines of Conveyances and Stage Coaches connect the Springs. Pleasure Vehicles and superior Saddle Horses will be at the call of guests. Bowling Alleys and a Billiard Saloon will be neatly fitted up. A fine Band of Musicians engaged for the season—Quadrille and Cotillion Parties each evening free of extra charge.

The Buildings are new and spacious, the pleasure grounds extensive, and in fine every thing wished for, as at the best watering places, will be found here to refresh the inner man and cheer the spirit. The extended reputation and the medical properties of the Waters (almost inaccessible before the completion of the Western N. C. Rail Road) now hail the sick and afflicted with a cordial welcome.

The experience of the Proprietor justifies the seeker of health or pleasure in anticipating a good time coming. The Proprietor has been at great expense in fitting up a watering place commensurate with the wants of the Carolinians and confidently rely on their generosity for encouragement.
