Charlotte Chapter

Amblyopia

On Oct. 23, Cheryl Simons, publicity chairwoman of Charlotte Chapter BBW, made a TV appearance on WBTV's "Top O' The Day." Barbara Stutts interviewed her concerning the amblyopia screening in the Charlotte preschools.

Amblyopia (lazy eye) screening began Oct. 24-25 at Covenant Presbyterian preschool with approximately 60 children screened. To date, seven preschools have been scheduled with an estimated 600 children to be screened this school year.

Pumpkins

On Oct. 26, BBW members "dressed up" for Halloween and presented stories and poems on tape and decorated pumpkins to the children's unit at Memorial Hospital. Susan Coen flitted around as "Tweeie Bird" while Linda Binnick, as the evil "cat," chased her. Meryle Elko was positively frightening as a "witch."

The group visited the children's floor at Presbyterian Hospital on Oct. 29. Beth Linderman ruffled her feathers as "Tweeie Bird" with Linda as the cat and Meryle as the witch again.

The evening's theme will revolve around the chapter's many community volunteer service projects and activities. Committee chairwomen will present a fashion show and "model" and explain the various functions of their committees. The dinner is open to all who are interested. RSVP to Lynn Sheffer, 365-8790.

Child Find

On Oct. 25 and 26, members of Ha Lailah were stationed at a booth in Eastland Mall to promote Child Find, a nationwide program, the purpose of which is to register children for a national data bank that will serve to locate these children should they become lost or missing. Brenda Manes, Wendy Rosen and their committee organized and planned the project, which included the booth which featured the Child Find kit, safety information and coloring books from the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Dept.
