CHRISTMAS ADDRESS

[illegible] Patrons of the Raleigh Star:

[illegible] for [illegible] ?

[illegible] the [illegible] year I would, [illegible] and [illegible] my [illegible]

[illegible] year, long time, past, near, [illegible] and the to fifty years [illegible] with all their various thoughts, [illegible] joys and sorrows which clustered round [illegible] to view, [illegible] to my familiar grave, [illegible] the mighty fellow! how came the [illegible] Gods, with me present, [illegible] among these twenty I travel [illegible] glorious and hopeless race. [illegible] they then, how did they downward fall! [illegible] their glory—what prostrate [illegible] splendour and their great re[illegible] [illegible] headlong, level to the ground? [illegible] how came they stripped of liberty? [illegible] on their hands the chains of slavery? [illegible] them of the unalienable rights of [illegible] despotic power throughout the land? [illegible] in serious, solemn mood I thought, [illegible] the mind imagination brought [illegible] of kings, of Emperors, and of Chiefs; [illegible] warriors, sovereigns of human grief; [illegible] and peers joined the throng, [illegible] whose voice did lead the strong [illegible] of these I sought in vain to find [illegible] wretches who had caused mankind [illegible] and commotion, strife and war, [illegible] the strength of crest-fallen [illegible] mute as if by equal guilt [illegible] warts the mutual condemnation felt. [illegible] a spirit, bold and daring, rose, [illegible] he dared his hidden thoughts disclose—[illegible] the scourges that ever cursed the land, [illegible] Military Ambition is the man [illegible] dreadful influence, spreading far and wide, [illegible] desolation its colossean stride, [illegible] down the necks of millions to the yoke—[illegible] Greece's glory at one stroke, [illegible] tumbled her renown." While thus he spoke, [illegible] Just by his side, all meagre, stared [illegible] lank and lean, who seemed prepared, [illegible] Pharaoh's greedy kine, to swallow down [illegible] of all the land and seek for more. [illegible] joined the witness here, and loudly said, "The nations of the earth should learn to dread [illegible] The fatal goal on which all nations fell, [illegible] And listen to the tale which history will tell! [illegible] dare entrust thy country's safety there, [illegible] where military glory spreads its glare, [illegible] Wars, pestilence and famine will attend [illegible] when once the war-worn chieftain doth ascend [illegible] The seat of power. Beware the aspiring chief [illegible] who gives his country moments of relief [illegible] from foreign usurpation and from war; [illegible] sword will one day be his country's law."

[illegible] had he time to close his artless tale, [illegible] manifest his well instructed zeal [illegible] public good; when by his side, appeared, [illegible] of the train, who, being inspired [illegible] Goddess, thus his sentiments expressed: [illegible] his hand upon his hollow breast, [illegible] he turned to Heaven, as to invoke [illegible] kindness of the Gods to what he spoke:—[illegible] the peace and welfare of mankind; [illegible] beside, I pray let my name stand [illegible] indelibly inscribed with infamy and disgrace [illegible] future history, and in every place [illegible] conspicuous to the view, let it appear, [illegible] that hateful perjury it may fear to fear [illegible] would not pluck one laurel from the brow [illegible] him who saved his country by the sword; [illegible] like which faithful witness who appears [illegible] to sneaked out, I must express my fears [illegible] future nations should their ruin find [illegible] some aspiring military mind. [illegible] by the war-worn warrior Greece fell; [illegible] lost her greatness by the enchanting spell [illegible] military glory threw around [illegible] chiefs. They brought her prostrate to the [illegible] [illegible] of military chiefs, beware, [illegible] trust them with the national welfare."

[illegible] section, as the sunbeam brightness clear, [illegible] on the mind, and I began to fear [illegible] fatal day, which now seemed [illegible] nigh, [illegible] some proud chief should be exalted high, [illegible] bring my country to the dreadful fate [illegible] ruined Greece and the Roman State. [illegible] lo!! with garments pure, transparent, [illegible] bright, [illegible] appeared, all glorious to the sight. [illegible] not," she said, "thy country shall be [illegible] blessed. [illegible] refuge is in me, be not distressed [illegible] what Ambition here hath dared to name, [illegible] what devouring Avarice hath proclaimed. [illegible] tell thee that which shall their falsehood [illegible] proves; [illegible] will they dare their treacherous tongues to move [illegible] when I do speak.

[illegible] every nation where I do preside, [illegible] happiness and prosperity reside. [illegible] in Greece; she then did prosper well; [illegible] Rome in glory, did the earth excell [illegible] in her senate I did hear the sway, [illegible] drove Ambition, Avarice away. [illegible] these at length confirmed a treacherous [illegible] their base union hath brought forth intrigue. [illegible] three [illegible] did force me from my [illegible] turned me out to wander in the street; [illegible] they usurped each office, station, place [illegible] profit, honor or emolument [illegible] filled them with a hungry, starving herd, [illegible] for base lucre might be bought and sold. [illegible] as then the glory of the world did fade, [illegible] then the chains of slavery were made; [illegible] then juggling politicians ruled the day [illegible] fraud, by art, and bold chicanery.

[illegible] ambition, Avarice, Intrigue stand by, [illegible] while I emphatic, refute the slanderous lie [illegible] which we have uttered with such noble grace [illegible] might become a fallen angel's face,—[illegible] military chief, a nations curse!! [illegible] come forth thou brave Leonidas; [illegible] calls on thee, Aristides the just; [illegible] thou who didst thy country save; [illegible] though banished by ingratitude, how brave, [illegible] purchase freedom, not with glittering gold, [illegible] which Intrigue and Avarice have sold [illegible] sacrest rights of man, but by thy sword. [illegible] Cincinatus, didst forsake the field, [illegible] for thy country didst thy weapon wield; [illegible] Thus, great Washington, a nations boast, [illegible] lead to glorious war a valiant host; [illegible] pledged their lives, their fortunes sacri[illegible] [illegible]dom's cause. Good Marquis De Lafay[illegible] [illegible]ame shall live while memory holds her [illegible] [illegible] one, come all, and save each injured name [illegible] these false witnesses would dare de[illegible] [illegible] noble deeds, unmixed with base designs, [illegible] of you. They are the signs [illegible] never can mislead. Come, speak a[illegible]"

[illegible] thus maintained her injured cause, [illegible] last chieftains like a cloud arose; [illegible] fled; Intrigue, no longer bold, [illegible] his guilt, and did for mercy plead; [illegible] Avarice could scarce be forced away; [illegible] he lingered, still expecting pay.

[illegible], my country, all I ask of thee, [illegible] hands the scales of Justice be, [illegible] the claims of Virtue, and support [illegible] rights: Hail Usurpation down; [illegible] the ORLEANS HERO crown [illegible] of well earned virtuous renown. [illegible] our land be happy and be free; [illegible] triumphs over united Three!

To Parents and Guardians.

The Trustees of the Pinnacle Academy, having engaged the Incomparable Teacher who so much well commended, and who unknowingly [illegible] Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, the English Grammar, Latin, &c. The exercises of this institution will commence on the first Monday in January next, and end the last of December following. The terms of tuition will be 12 dollars per year for the different branches of an English Education, and 21 dollars for the Latin language.

The subscriber will take the students of the above institution to boarding, at the rate of 60 dollars per annum; and he pledges himself to pay strict attention to the morals of those who may be entrusted to his care.

The Pinnacle Academy is situated 14 miles N. W. of Raleigh, and 13 miles S. of Louisburg; and from its known healthy situation, cheapness of board and tuition, the Trustees flatter themselves that the institution will meet with liberal encouragement. As an evidence of the healthiness of the situation of Pinnacle Academy, the subscriber, who lives within ten hundred yards of it, and whose family consists of upwards of 40 persons in number, has not had a death, or a single case of the bilious fever in it for the last ten years past.

Five Cents Reward

Ran away on the 15th instant, my apprentice boy Thomas Selby, about 19 years of age the 20th inst. He is a chunky, well set boy, & very proud. I will give the above reward, without any other expenses, for taking up and delivering said boy to me in this place. This is to caution every person from harbouring or employing him in any way, as the law will be enforced against such offenders.

Notice to the Stockholders of the BANK OF CAPE-FEAR.

"WHEREAS it is the wish of the Directors, in duty to the interests of the Stockholders, and to the just expectation of the public, that the prospects of this Institution be thoroughly examined. And whereas, from the smallness of the debt due to this Bank, and the necessity which demands its still progressive diminution, while the Institution is necessarily encumbered with its own expenses, and weighed down by an onerous State Tax, a curtailment of the profits to the Stockholders becomes unavoidable, & the expediency of continuing its operations rendered doubtful: Therefore, Resolved, that the President of this Bank be directed to call a meeting of the Stockholders to consider the propriety of surrendering the Charter, and to discuss and act upon all other interests connected with the Institution."

In accordance with the above Preamble and Resolution, as taken from the Minutes of the Board of Directors, and by virtue of my office as President of the Bank of Cape-Fear, notice is hereby given to the Stockholders of said Bank, to meet at their Banking House in the town of Wilmington, on the first Monday of January next, then and there to consider of, and to act upon the matters and things as contained in the above Preamble and Resolution.

Witness my hand, this 30th day of November, A. D. 1827.
