From the Mississippi Statesman.

MISCELLANEOUS A. ANONYMOUS.

[illegible]

Fair Friends! time! the golden days
Of the chivalrous are over;
And Minstrels have sung enough for boys;
Yet I love a Lover.
[illegible]
Yet amongst Poetry numbers the chief,
What Love found words in flowery
When [illegible] were troubled in sheets
And [illegible] in heaven?
Nor, [illegible] other things—
No more of dates of Kings!—
A plain young maiden plain gold ring—
The Cross—and St. George's.

Then every man had a string,
And every heart a history
And making Love was quite the thing,
And making verses better;
And Maidens—hearts were never sore,
And gallant Beaux were plenty;
And Lovers married at sixteen,
And died at one and twenty.

Then hawking was a noble sport,
And then a pretty pastime;
And Foresters knew d to blow a morte,
And Heralds a definition;
And Knights and Squires shivered their knight
And fought hands took wounds;
And hippocras were served at night,
And courses in the morning.

Then plumes and pennons were prepared,
And Patron-Saints were invoked;
And noble deeds were bravely dared,
And noble Dames applauded—
And Beauty played the Lovely part,
And wounds were healed with syrup;
And Warriors sometimes lost a heart,
But never lost a stirrup.

Then was there no such thing as fear,
And no such word as flinches!
And Faith was like a pointed spear,
And Fickleness was treason—
And hearts were soft, though blows were hard;
But when the fight was over,
A beaming goblet cheer'd the Bard,
His Lady's smile the Lover.

Ay, those were glorious days! The moon
Had then her true splendors;
And there were lyres and lutes in tune,
And no such things as snorers—
And Lovers swam and held at nought
Streams broader than the Mersey;
And fifty thousand would have fought
For a smile from Lady Jersey.

Then people wore an iron vest,
And had no use for tailors,
And the artisans who lived the best
Were armourers and nailers;
And steel was measured by the ell,
And trowsers lined with leather—
And jumpers wore a cap and bell,
And Knights a cap and feather.

Then single folks might live at ease,
And married folk might sever;
Occasion Doctors had their fees,
But Doctors Commons never—
Oh! had we in these times been bred,
Fair Cousin, for thy glances,
Instead of breaking Priscian's head,
I had been breaking lances.— P.

Valuable Habit.—One of the most valuable habits of life is that of completing every undertaking. The mental dissipation in which persons of talents often indulge, and to which they are perhaps more prone than others, is destructive beyond what can readily be imagined. A man who has lost the power of procrastinating a task the moment its novelty is gone, or it is become encumbered with difficulty, has reduced his mind into a state of the most lamentable and wretched imbecility. His life will inevitably be one of shred and patches. The consciousness of not having persevered to the end of any single undertaking will hang over him like a spell, and will paralyze all his energies; and he will at last believe that, however fair may be his prospects and however feasible his plans, he is fated never to succeed. The habit of finishing ought to be formed in early youth.

From the Montreal Herald, March 14

On Thursday night, seven dead bodies stolen and carried away from the church yard of St. Therese in the seigniory of Blainville. Some students of this town, who were engaged in this enterprise, as it is said, stopped at the house of one Rodier, a respectable farmer in the neighborhood, to refresh themselves, leaving the train conveying the dead bodies in charge of [illegible]. The latter curiosity led him to raise the covering—when he ascertained the awful contents, and it was discovered that the child of Rodier, with whom the party were then stopping, was amongst the number! The parties were seized, and brought into Montreal yesterday, when they were bound over to appear before the proper tribunal.

The Tallahassee paper contains the following notice:

"We are authorized to announce Achille Murat, Esq. as a candidate to represent the counties of Jefferson, Madison, and Hamilton, in the next Legislative Council."

Who would have thought that the heir apparent to the throne of Naples, and who made several triumphant entries into that capital with his father, would have been pleased to be a member of the Legislative Council in Florida. [illegible] in the orange groves of that beautiful and free country, he may enjoy more happiness and retirement than in the splendor of the Neapolitan palace, which is always in danger of being destroyed by the fires of some political Vesuvius.—N. Y. Eng.

Resurrection from the dead.—A preacher by the name of ——, formerly a resident of —— county in Virginia, by occupation a merchant, became very much embarrassed with debt; sometime in the summer of 1828, he was taken very sick, and after a short illness, was laid out in the house, the coffin or shell was deposited, the grave was made, the sermon was preached—and he finally went home accordingly. The sale of his property being over, his family moved to the State of Alabama. A respectable gentleman recently from Alabama, arrived a short time since at Richmond, stated that he was well acquainted with —— and saw him in Alabama; he conversed with him & felt him quite well. It appears that ——'s illness was feigned to blind his creditors—his death and burial contrived and executed for the same purpose. The coffin in which his remains were supposed to have been interred, has been taken up since the arrival of the gentleman who saw him, and found to contain a log of wood! It is thought that he carried off with him money to a considerable amount, to the prejudice of his creditors. (This is a more ingenious piece of rascality, involving more moral turpitude and impiety than any act with which the English Banker Stephenson stands charged.)—Milledge. States.

Ran away from the subscriber on the 20th of March, 1829, a negro man named SAM, between 30 and 35 years of age, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high, stout built, very sensible, and of a yellow complexion. Sam was raised in Franklin county, North Carolina, he Benjamin Brickle, deceased, and was purchased at his sale by my father, Shadrick Collins—his wife was carried away by the Hatton family, and it is probable he is making his way on to Alabama, or lurking in the neighbourhood of Tarborough or Raleigh. A liberal reward will be given for the apprehension of said negro, if confined in any jail so that I get him again.

Jailor's Notice.

Was taken up and committed to the Jail of Edgecombe county, N. C. a negro man who has been passing as a free man, and says his name is CALVIN BENSON, and that he was raised in Johnston county, in the neighbourhood of Mr. George Wimberly. The said negro is about six feet high, tolerably spare built, and about twenty years of age. His owner (if he has any) is requested to come forward, prove his property, pay charges, and take said negro away; otherwise he will be dealt with as the law directs.

50 Dollars Reward.

Stop the runaways, who have absconded from my plantation a little while since, two Negro Fellows, named HENRY and ZANGO, brothers. Henry is a black fellow, very seldom talks, has a down look at times, very artful and cunning. He is large, weighing about 180 lbs. has been shot through the wrist and back part of his shoulders very badly. These wounds he got when runaway, and has a little bald place on his forehead, that lets the hair fall over it; which latter was received in jail by a hot shovel. At that time he was gone nearly two years from me, and states that he went to the Great Dismal Swamp, between Edenton and Norfolk, and there was shot. He has connexions there, and from which place he travelled by Richmond and Salem on to Tennessee, and was caught in a canoe going down Tennessee River. There is no doubt but he is [illegible] North Carolina Dismal Swamp. He said when he was in jail in Tennessee, that he belonged to one J. C. Davis, in North Carolina. He has taken his brother off, who is large, black, of yellowish complexion, with a very bad countenance, eyes very large, and when a little scared and vexed [illegible] distended. Zango is not quite so tall as Henry; they may obtain a pass from some person. I will give twenty-five dollars for each one delivered to me, or lodged in any jail so that I can get them again.

SIR ARCHIE

Will stand the ensuing season at my Stable, in Northampton county, North Carolina, about 3 miles from the Courthouse, six miles from the town of Halifax, and 21 from Belfield, Va. He will cover mares at $75 the season, payable on the first of January next, with one dollar to the groom in all cases. Such of Sir Archie's friends as live at a distance will send their notes with the mares, payable on the first of January—Also, the feeding of the mares to be paid for when taken away. The season commenced on the 1st February, and will terminate on the first of August next. Extensive fields of small grain and clover are sowed for the benefit of mares that may be left with the horse, with the addition of grain feeding at 25 per day. Separate enclosures are provided for mares with colts. No pains will be spared in taking the best possible care of mares, &c. that may be left, but no responsibility for escapes or accidents.

Sir Archie's blood, great size, performance on the turf and celebrity as a foal getter, are sufficient recommendations.

$25 Reward.

I will give the above reward to any person who will apprehend and deliver to Col. Jas. J. Williams, of Martin county, or secure in any jail in this State so that I get him, a negro fellow by the name of BILLY, who absconded from me the 4th instant, near Peden river, Stanback's ferry. Said negro is about forty years of age, yellow complected, and has lost one of his thumbs, I believe off of his left hand, by the bursting of a gun. He is inclined to be dim, and is about five feet ten or eleven inches high. I expect he will try to get back to Halifax county, Scotland Neck, where I lately bought him, and was on my way to the State of Louisiana, where I was about to carry him. Said negro is a keen, artful fellow, and is tolerably intelligent for a negro, and can read print, he having been in his youth a servant or waiterman to his master, and has been much in the company of white people; and, unless those who meet with him, are particular in their examination, he will be very apt to deceive them. Should he return, I expect he will pass through Raleigh, where I expect he may be taken, if any person will take pains to do so.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

Ran away from Wm. Barnes, of Wayne county, a negro man named MOSES, about 35 or 40 years old, weighing about 160 lbs. large beard, with a scar on his chin, caused by a whip saw, the lower part of one ear bit off, large scars on his belly occasioned by a burn, another scar on his leg by a cut with a broad axe. The said negro went off about 6 years ago, and carried off with him his wife, Phebe, belonging to me. The said negro Phebe is a small yellow woman about 35 years of age; no particular marks recollected. I expect the said negroes are passing about the State as free negroes. The above reward will be given for the apprehension and delivery of said negroes to me, or lodging them in any Jail in the State so that I get them, or twenty-five dollars for either of them.

LOOK AT THIS!!

Being resolved to retire to the country, I offer for sale that valuable lot in the centre of Fayetteville and Hargett streets, in which my Hat and Drug Store, and now occupied by Messrs. W. Hinton & Jas. Wood, and Dr. B. Chamberlain, is distinguished by three Lots, two stories high, a genteel dry cellar of the entire size, two wells, the lower one good, with sufficient room in the rear for a large family; one house fronting Hargett Street, now occupied as a Grocery Store, a two story store house, kitchen, smoke house, with every proper for a family. This property is in the centre of business. The two tenements are so contracted, that by a small alteration a person may be made sufficiently spacious for the most extensive business. To those who are unacquainted, it may be said there are but few better stands, if any, in the State.

The lot on Hillsborough street, now occupied by the subscriber. This property is beautifully situated, about one hundred yards out of the limits of the corporation. Having the advantage of town and country, it is well worth the attention of those wishing a pleasant and a little retired from the bustle of business. It has on it a two story dwelling house, with four rooms below and four above stairs, and six fire places, with a large fertile garden, and a well of water in the yard, convenient to none in the vicinity of Raleigh.

Also a two acre vacant lot, lying within one hundred and fifty yards of the eastern boundary of the corporation, directly on the Newbern road.

143 acres of good land on Buckhorn creek, 20 miles south west of Raleigh, on which there is a grist mill, with a bolting cloth; a cotton gin to go by water, and a house with the running gear for one to go by horse, all new; a new frame dwelling with all other out houses proper for a family. At the mill, is a house fitted up, and formerly occupied as a store, and it may be truly said there is not a better stand in the country. The creek is nearly a never failing stream, and when the mills were quite out of repair, the property rented for $150 per year.

The whole of the above valuable property will be sold on very accommodating terms, and at prices suitable to the present hard times.
