Three Special Functions Draw Participation and Dollars

Sunday, November 18, was a banner day for the Men's Federation/UJA Campaign. Three special events took place on that day involving upwards of 100 people. By late that evening the '85 Campaign was $46,635 richer.

Goldman, Marshall Rosenfeld, David Swimmer and Joe Cohen. Bernard Elias and Hy Spectorman made appointments and were seen later in the week.

LAWYER'S BRUNCH

The Ramada Inn on Independence was the setting for the 2nd annual Lawyer's Brunch. It began at 10 a.m. when Superior Sunday was already two hours under way. The gathering was convened by Marshall Karro, Mark Bernstein, Jon Wallas and Hal Levinson. Coordinator for the morning was Ron Katz, Men's Campaign Chairman.

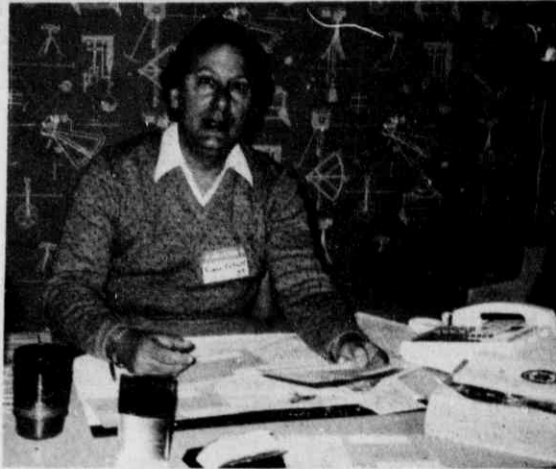

Featured speaker was Professor Sherman Cohen of Georgetown University where he teaches, among other courses, about the relationship between Jewish law and American civil law. Professor Cohen is also the President of the American Section of the International Association of Jewish Lawyers and Journalists with 7000 members worldwide.

In the two hours of the morning, Professor Cohen fascinated the group as he discussed aspects of modern legal practice and their origins in Jewish religious law. Plans are under way to bring Professor Cohen back to Charlotte for a much more extensive opportunity to meet with our legal community.

Among those attending that day were: Ed Bograd, Deborah Foster, Michael Jaffa, Moses Luski, Stan Kornfeld and Lawrence Margolis.

DOCTOR'S DINNER

The evening of Nov. 18 saw 22 doctors and their spouses or escorts gather at Valentino's for their 2nd Annual Medical/Dental/Health Professional Federation event. Superior Sunday was into its closing hours, and the lawyers were settled in their homes, as this third segment of this busy day got under way.

Larry Gerber (l) and Richard A. Klein also on Superior Sunday.

During conversation over cocktails, the participants had an opportunity to open the envelopes they had received on entering. Inside they found a note of welcome from the four conveners: Dr. Paul Putterman, Dr. Sandy Benjamin, Dr. Joe Steiner and Dr. Jessica Schorr. Also in the envelope was a 1985 pledge card with a reminder of their last year's pledge and a requested amount to consider for '85.

After dinner, Dr. Putterman presented the case for local needs and then introduced Dr. Julius Levy, general surgeon and one of the National Co-chairs of the United Jewish Appeal Campaign Cabinet. Dr. Levy spoke about his recent mission to Israel and about the relationship of Jews worldwide. At the conclusion of his talk, those present were invited to turn in their '85 pledge cards and 21 of 22 responded for a whopping 45% increase over their 1984 pledges. The remaining card was mailed in during the following week.

Among those attending were: Gerson Asrael, James Bedrick, Ira Bomze, David Citron, Lance Deutsch, Lenore

Deutsch, Alan Goldberg, Trevor Goldberg, Scott Goodman, Mark Katz, Mark Kirsch, Donald Schumacher, James Shearer, David Somersstein, Selwyn Spangenthal, Gary Waldman, Alan Resnick and Alex Kordes.

Plans are under way to bring these related professionals together during the year for appropriate, non-campaign, programs.
