WITH THE BOXERS

The war has cost Tony Ross a bout with Bomb. Wells. A promoter of Hull, England, was willing to put up a $20,000 purse for the pair.

Young Saylor received the decision in a 20-round bout with Joe Shugrue at Sydney, Australia, a short time ago.

Joe Fox, the Brooklyn boxer, has sprung a new one on the boxing world. He gets his fighting inspiration from encouraging words spoken by his father and mother who sit at the ringside at every bout in which he takes part.

BASEBALL CHATTER

Bill Phillips' Indianapolis team has recovered from a bad slum and is again climbing in the Federal league.

With six men batting for .300 or better the Providence Grays are well equipped to make a real fight for the International league title.

The New York Yankees have purchased Pitcher Watkins, the leading twirler of Hugh Duffy's Portland team of the New England league.

Playing regularly with the Phillies has improved the stick work of Beals Becker. He now leads the Phils in batting with a mark of .325.

Manager George Stallings figures that his Boston Braves will return home with victories enough to land them up there.

Pete Falsey, the Yale outfielder, has been released by the Pittsburg Pirates. Pete failed to show sufficient big league stuff.

Pitcher "Babe" Ruth, the former Baltimore star, is again in the International league, having been shiped to Providence by the Boston Red Sox.

After the Brooklyn Superbas asked waivers on Ed Reulbach the big pitcher settled down and has now become a consistent winner.

Mike Mitchell of the Washington team and "Hobby" Hoblitzell of the Red Sox, both former National leaguers, have displayed fine wares since joining the American league.

"Big Bill" James, the Braves' pitcher, has realized a life's ambition. After many futile attempts he succeeded in hanging one on the New York Giants.

Bert Daniels is hitting at a lively clip with the Cincinnati Reds, but his throwing is weak. The former Yankee-Oriole performers has a bum whip that hinders the long tosses from the outfield.

Catcher Rondtau, the Minneapolis backstop recently purchased by the Washington club, has a batting average of .293 in the American associaiotn. He was turned over to the Millers by the Detroit Tigers last season.

Battling Levinsky has started his Fall campaign, which probably means that Bat intends to fight six or eight times a week.

Chauncey Olcott is to be seen this season in a new play written for him by Rachel Crothers, called "The Heart of Paddy Whack."

Mollie King is to play the leading role in support of Sam Barnard in "The Belle of Bond Street," which is to begin its season in Pittsburg soon.

"It pays to advertise," a farce by Roi Cooper Meghrue and Walter Hackett, will be presented in New York on Labor Day.

Announcement is made that Elsie Furguson will be seen this season in a new play by Austin Strong called "The Dragon's Claw."

COLLEGES FIGHT TYPHOID.

College Presidents From All Over the State Rally to Offer Free Anti-Typhoid Treatment.

An open letter has just gone out to all the college presidents in the State calling attention to the increased danger from typhoid at this time of the year and to the value of the anti-typhoid vaccine now furnished free by the State. The college authorities were quick to see the importance of this preventive measure and by return mail over 20 replies were received, while others are arriving in every mail. Without exception every college president thus far has agreed to arrange to offer the treatment free of charge in their respective colleges this fall to all students who can be induced to thus protect themselves.

President E. K. Graham of the University writes: "We all be glad to avail ourselves of this opportunity to secure anti-typhoid vaccine for University students next year. Last year I think half the students took the treatment and during the past summer several hundred Summer School teachers were vaccinated."

President D. H. Hill of A. & M. writes: "Our institution arranged nearly a month ago to have everything in readiness to offer to all new students the anti-typhoid treatment and to do this free of all charge. The college physician will administer the treatment as part of his official duty. We thank you for your kind interest in the matter."

Rev. George W. Lay of St. Mary's School says: "I shall take pleasure in offering this treatment to our students and urging it upon them. I am both grieved and angered when I hear from time to time of the death of some person in the prime of life and vigor with promise for a useful future being taken away so unnecessarily by typhoid when the sure means of prevention without pain or sickness is so easily at hand."

President R. H. Wright of the East Carolina Training School writes: "I will not only be glad to have every student take it but I will talk to them about the importance of it and insist upon their taking it. I feel that the students should take this treatment and that they should spread the news throughout our State."

President W. A. Harper of Elon College says: "I thank you for the offer to furnish us anti-typhoid vaccine for our student body free of charge. I will appreciate your sending the vaccine to our college physician."

President Julius I. Foust of the Stat Normal and Industrial College writes: "I am sure our college physician will be glad to offer anti-typhoid treatment free of charge to all our students."

This represents the general tone of all the replies received thus far in regard to the State's offer. No one appreciates more than these men the responsibility of having under their direction the young people of our State nor do any class of people except physicians and health officers, have a keener sense of the danger and utter needlessness of this preventable filth disease, than these college presidents.

Parents sending their sons and daughters to college should if possible have them take the anti-typhoid treatment before they go or at least know that they will receive the treatment after reaching college.
