HOME PENCILINGS.

The umbrella can now be folded up and laid away until the next rain.

The wheat and oat fields look green and beautiful, and the farmer's spirits rise in the hope of good crops.

Dr. Thos. Anderson, of Statesville, a day or two ago, while out hunting, had one of his fingers shot off.

They do say that the "game of fifteen" is a terrible "sell," and we rise to remark that this is just what the lunatic who invented it made it for.

Don't forget the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-night, and let each old member try and bring in a new name for membership.

THE OBSERVER is requested to announce that a regular meeting of the Gounod Club will take place at Mrs. Dewey's this evening at 8 o'clock.

The River Bend tournament takes place to-day, and the coronation ball to-night at the hospitable residence of Mr. A. R. Henderson.

As we stated yesterday, our true hearted Irishman celebrated St. Patrick's day by refraining from labor and displaying his green badge.

The executive committee of the King's Mountain Centennial Association meet in Charlotte, in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce next Wednesday—24th.

Rarely does the sidewalks dry off after a rain more rapidly than they did yesterday. The sharp, crisp March wind did its work well, and we expect to be crying out for the street sprinkler within a week.

We are requested to state that the announcement in the Evening Press yesterday that Mr. Bixby, President of the Independents, would not allow his name to enter into the voting for the trumpet to-morrow night at the Pioneer's entertainment, is incorrect.

Mrs. Gardner, of Baltimore, has opened a fashionable millinery establishment, near the court house, in the store lately occupied by the Singer sewing machine company, next to Harty's china store, on North Trade street.

The announcement of the consolidation of the bands of The Hornets Nest Riflemen and The Grays was premature. Committees have been appointed for the purpose of arranging a consolidation if possible. If they unite they will be trained by Messrs Andrews and Wilson jointly.

Mr. N. H. Bennett, an agent for the Knabe Piano Company, is in the city, and has on exhibition at the Singer Sewing Machine office an elegant instrument, which is a beautiful specimen of art. Let all musical people go to see it. The reputation of the Knabe instruments is firmly established.

Squire Stowe re-married a couple from South Carolina yesterday, in the court house. The woman insisted that the man had brought her up here from South Carolina and refused to marry her, but the man said that they had already been married in South Carolina. The 'squire's ceremony, however, settled the dispute.

Our Jewish friends contemplate holding a fair on the 6th, 7th and 8th of April, which they promise the people of Charlotte will be the grandest affair of the kind ever seen here. It will probably be held at Oates' Hall, but this has not been decided yet. We will announce the full particulars when the plans have been more fully decided upon.

Barn Burned.

The barn belonging to Mr. Rufus Overcash, who resides four or five miles west of China Grove, in Rowan county, was burned last Friday night. The structure was totally destroyed, together with three horses, cattle, forage, and all his wheat. The loss is a severe one, and will be seriously felt by Mr. Overcash, who is a hard-working and industrious farmer. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Pioneer Entertainment.

The entertainment of the Pioneers was again very well attended last night. Business and pleasure, which generally do not go together well, went hand in hand. The sale of tickets for the trumpet and organ was brisk.

The raffle for the organ and the voting of the triumpet to the most popular officer of the Fire Department will both take place to-morrow night, it having been concluded to continue the entertainment until then. The sale of votes for the trumpet will be closed to-morrow night at 11 o'clock. Tickets for the raffle of the organ will be on sale to-day and to-morrow at the McSmith music house.

Telephones.

Yesterday the work of erecting the necessary frames for the telephone wires to be stretched upon was going on briskly. Two frames were erected on the top of the Central Hotel, one on the Metropolitan, one on the roof of the granite row, as the building on the northeast corner of Trade and Tryon streets is known, and one on the roof of the old Spring's building on the southeast corner of the same streets. This work will be continued to-morrow and the stretching of the wires will not be begun until everything is ready, when it will be an easy task. The clearing up of the weather will facilitate the work greatly.

If you feel that everything is going wrong, if you do not want to get up early in the morning, if you have a pain in the stomach; take a dose of Dr. Bull's Baltimore Pills. Price only 25 cents.

THE STAGE.

A Successful Dramatic Season.

The performance of "Dr. Clyde" by Ford's comedy company at the opera house, Tuesday night, probably closes, with one exception—Powell's Juvenile opera company, which is booked for Charlotte on the 19th and 20th of April—the theatrical season, which has been the finest by long odds with which Charlotte has ever been favored. Mr. John T. Ford said, when here Tuesday, that Charlotte was decidedly the best show town in the State, and that in spite of the distance by which it was removed from other eligible stopping points, it paid him very well to come here. From this source this is quite a compliment. Although there have not been a great many "bright particular stars" of the first magnitude, the most marked improvement in the constellations is observable, and this indicates a permanent reputation as a good show town, for the starring companies generally calculate on a good house for one night wherever they go, while the well selected companies only visit those places at which they are confident of an audience.

Since the 15th of September Charlotte has been favored with no less than twenty first rate dramatic companies. Four of these gave from two to five performances to houses ranging from $150 to $500. One of the twenty, Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty company, had a house worth $750. Barney Macaulay, on January 8th, played to a $300 house and returning March the 3rd, just after Jos. Murphy had played a two days, engagement to fair houses, was greeted with a $350 audience. The average house of the season for a legitimate dramatic performance has been worth, as nearly as can be calculated, slightly over $300. Four of the twenty troupes have shown their appreciation by returning. The management of the opera house have leased it both on percentage and stated sums, and the receipts since the first day of December, 1879, have been over $1,000. They calculate that the whole season has been worth double as much to them as any previous one. This, for a city of 10,000 inhabitants is, we think, a first rate showing.

Among the more noted of these companies comes first, Mr. Ford's comedy company, which in their three appearances here played "The Galley Slave," a new and popular play, "Fun on the Pacific," and "Dr. Clyde." Belle Mackenzie and Geo. Denham were the favorites, in this troupe. Next, Barney Macauley, as Uucle Dan'l in A "Messenger from Jarvis Section," met with the most enthusiastic appreciation, although Joe Murphy as the Kerry Gow was almost as popular. Although Paulding, the new Hamlet, was not favored with a very large house, yet those who saw him admired his acting much, and fancied they saw the outcrop of extraordinary talents. Additional interest is enlisted for this young actor, whose family name is Dodge, from the fact of his North Carolina derivation.

In the historical drama "Queen Elizabeth" by the Bowers Thompson troupe, we presume to think Miss Charlotte Thompson as Lady Jane Grey did not have a role which suited her peculiar style, but the superb acting of Mrs. Bowers as the "Bloody Mary" was universally admired. In opera, Alice Oates was the most distinguished singer we have had. She is somewhat less attractive than when she was younger. Black cork has been at a sad discount, and Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty is the only thing like "varieties" that has drawn the old men to the orchestra chairs, but from the house he had there is no danger that Charlotte will forget this delightful feature of the foot lights, before Mabel Santley is allowed to return.

Two Women.

Alderman Dowd presided yesterday morning in the absence of the mayor. Austin Lane and wife, colored, and another woman a little less colored, appeared. Austin's wife and the other woman had been fighting over Austin. The other woman was fined $10 and costs. She couldn't pay it and went to the guard house. Austin's wife was fined $1 and costs.

A white man named Hoyle, who, from his representation, was "a citizen of the world," was fined a penny and cost for being drunk and disorderly.

The Mint Money.

It is learned from Col. Cowles, Superintendent of the Mint, that the sum unaccounted for by the Mint in this city to the United States government, and included among the sums due to the government at the outbreak of the war, is $23,000 instead of $32,000 as published. This sum was seized at the beginning of the war by the Charlotte Grays in the name of the Confederate States. It was sent to Charleston and, being in gold and silver, was used in the outfit of Mason and Slidell. Suit was brought in the United States Circuit Court at Raleigh, about 1872, against W. W. Phifer, of this city, the only surviving bondsman of Green Caldwell, who was Superintendent of the mint at the time of the seizure, for the recovery of this amount, but the court decided that as Caldwell was compelled to surrender the money by overpowering force, that the loss should be set down to the exigenscies of war.

Delay in Trains.

The Richmond and Danville train coming South, and due here at 12.30 o'clock a. m. was about three hours behind time Tuesday night. The cause of the detention was the running off the track of a freight train between Greensboro and Morehead, a station about fourteen miles north of Greensboro.

The Air Line northern bound train, due here at 3.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, was delayed by slides on the road and did not get here until about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Owing to the delay of these two trains the southern bound Air Line train, which leaves here at 12.30 o'clock, was discontinued for Wednesday. The Air Line men are very reticent as to their affairs and the extent of the slides is not known, but it is rumored that slides are numerous and heavy on the road, especially in Georgia. The Air Line trains were again behind time yesterday and will probably be so to-day.

"The River of Time."

Mrs. Mary Bayard Clark, in the literary department of Hale's Weekly, of the 16th inst. publishes a letter she has received from S. C. Griggs, a Chicago publisher, who stoutly asserts that the poem, "The River of Time," which Mrs. Clark sent to Miss Mason when the latter was engaged in collecting her "Southern Poems of the War," and had credited in that volume to Philo Henderson, a North Carolinian and a Mecklenburg man, was, to his personal knowledge, written by Benjamin F. Taylor, as part of a new year's address of the Chicago Daily Journal for 1850. Mrs. Clark, on the strength of this letter, abandons Philo Henderson's claims to the authorship of poem, and explains that she had collected several of Henderson's poems in 1854, and published them in her collection of North Carolina poems called "Wood Notes;" that a few years afterwards the friends of Mr. Henderson had sent her "The River of Time," as one of his productions, and that she had sent it to Miss Mason.

It will require more than the simple assertion of Mr. Griggs that he knew that Benjamin F. Taylor wrote the poem to convince the many friends in this country of Henderson and his family that he was guilty of plagiarism. There are scores of people here who can make fully as strong an argument for Henderson.

The Rivers.

RICHMOND, March 17.—The river has stopped rising and fears of a serious flood are dispelled. At Lynchburg last night the water was still 9 feet above high water mark but gradually falling.
