Champ Alligator Killer Bags 800-Pounder

ABBEVILLE, La. (UP) — Rene John Gaspard is south Louisiana's newest king of alligator killers.

Gaspard returned to Abbeville with the largest 'gator ever killed in Louisiana's cypress - studded bayous. It measured 58 inches around the girth and weighed more than 800 pound.

A week earlier Gaspard had killed another gator almost as large in the same spot near White Lake.

Thirsty Students Ignore Spirit of Confederacy

LEXINGTON, Va. (UP) — The highly cosmopolitan student body of Washington and Lee University descended upon a state liquor store on Jefferson Davis' birthday. To their annoyance, the store was closed.

On the door was a tiny Confederate flag and a sign:
"We've got the spirit."

Not to be outdone, the students drove to West Virginia. When they returned, they altered the sign to read:
"We've got the spirits."

Given Bridal Shower On Commuter Train

NEW YORK (UP) — Miss Marian Zarembo of Glen Cove, N. Y., was given a bridal shower by friends at the last car of a Long Island railroad commuter train on the way to work. Refreshments were served.

Fiddles were not invented until the middle ages, hence the instrument on which Nero played while Rome burned, if he played on that occasion, was not a fiddle.

Newport Socialites Cherish Memories

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP) — Once a $9,000,000 Vanderbilt show place, "The Breakers" has been given to the Preservation Society of Newport County to become a sort of museum of high society.

The big stone mansion overlooking the Atlantic once was staffed by some 60 servants. It has been unoccupied in recent years.

It contains many valuable paintings and a famed mosaic of Pompeii.

Countess Lazlo Szechenyi, widow of a Hungarian diplomat and niece of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, gave it to the society.

The national park system of this country contains more than 21.5 million acres.
