

Purim Blast '85

Yehoshua Chaiton, emcee, conducting a Purim quiz with volunteers from the audience.

Lined up for the hot dogs, knishes and Hamantaschen.

On Sunday, February 24, a fantastic Purim Blast was felt in Charlotte. It was the annual Purim party sponsored by Lubavitch of North Carolina.

Over 400 children and adults packed into the Children's Theatre on E. Morehead St., to see Purim spieler from New York and a magician from Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Before the show began, the children and parents enjoyed delicious kosher hot dogs and steaming hot knishes with real sour pickles from New York. Fresh baked Hamantaschen with fruit-filling decorated the tables. While eating, they were entertained by funny clowns.

The Purim spieler put on a fantastic show with lots of songs and dancing and funny prizes with lots of Purim humor.

The children were introduced to Tzivos Hashen, the largest Jewish children's organization in the world. Colorful balloons with the TH emblem were flying all over the theatre.

Then came the magic show. It was a fantastic comedy presentation. Parents and children were rolling from their seats as Carl Skenes was performing amazing events in a most humorous manner. Children were often called up to the stage to participate in the show.

All the participants received a special Purim kit which contained "misloach manot" and coins for the poor with a fresh Hamantasch. The Purim kits were distributed to children in both Carolinas as part of Lubavitch mizvah campaign.
