OFFICIAL PAPER OF NEW BERN AND CRAVEN COUNTY.

New Bern, N. C., August 14, 1907.

THE COST OF LIVING.

New York World.

What can be done about the cost of living? Are the present conditions to continue? Will they grow worse? Can government help solve the problems of the housewife? If high prices have come to stay, how can plain people best meet them?

A million housekeepers in New York were moved to anger by Supt. Reichmann's revelation of the extent to which false weights and measures add to their difficulties. It is bad enough to pay high prices without paying for the butcher's little finger resting on the scale pan or getting fourteen ounces of sugar for a pound.

The Times, in comment upon Mr. Reichmann's statement says that "the average cost of living is less than the index figure showed forty years ago." That is true, but forty years ago the country was still using the inflated currency of the war; gold was a premium; it was then the housewife who used false measure. She paid for groceries with a short dollar.

A fairer comparison is with the census year 1890, seventeen years ago. In just half a generation the cost of living, at least for people who have New York rents to pay, has risen faster than wages have increased. The increase is beyond reason; it is for some almost beyond endurance.

Part of the increase is inevitable. Wages still never go back to the 1890 standard, nor should they; and they enter into the cost of living. Lumber will never again be so cheap. In 1890 a small house could be built in an American cheaper than in an English village. Today the advantage is the other way. Such an exhibition as that in Letchworth, England, of model cottages costing $800 would be impossible here. The difference in the cost of brick, lumber, hardware, and labor, means everywhere more rent.

There is a reason for a part of the rise in the cost of provisions. One would not wish the American farmer to be as badly off as in 1890-95. But price-raising by the beef trust is another matter. Government can deal with that; the power to do so carries with it the duty.

It does the consumer of kerosene at 11 to 15 cents a gallon no good to know that it can be exported wholesale for seven cents. But the breaking up of the Standard Oil Trust would bring competitive prices. Railroads can be compelled to bring produce to market at reasonable rates. The establishment of three-cent fares on street railroads would save many dollars a year to every city family, and indirectly reduce rent by making the suburbs possible. An immediate lowering of the tariff would help every household.

The problem is to reduce the cost of living without reducing wages or lowering the returns of the farmer. It can be done in these ways:

1 By lowering the tariff.

2. By further development of machine production and farming science.

3. By the graduated income tax and graduated inheritance tax to shift a part of the burden of taxation from weak shoulders to strong ones, and by local tax reform in cities;

4. By enforcing the "square deal" against monopolistic trusts.

5. By economical government, especially in cities;

6. By waging relentless war on "graft" in politics;

7. By enforcing honest measure upon retailers;

8. By a broad and intelligent forestry policy;

9. By enforcing the law upon railroads;

10. By better and cheaper rapid transit in cities.

Some of these reforms would produce an immediate effect in cheaper living expenses; some would operate slowly. All are worthy the best thought of American statesmen. To all of them The World proposes to devote attention.

WOMAN AND FASHION

For Afternoon Wear.

The smart little suit on the left is of striped voile. The skirt has the double box plait let in at each of the side seams, and also a seam up the center front. Bands of the goods cut crosswise outline the seams of the skirt and also of the coat, which is cut in scallops at the lower edge. The points are also trimmed with braid hoops and tiny buttons. There is a narrow vest of cloth and a turnover collar of linen embroidery. This coat is sleeveless and finished around the armholes merely with a fold of the suit material, which gives it the effect of a waist rather than a coat.

The other costume is of Panama cloth. The skirt has three double box plaits down the center front, with two narrow plaits at either side. A shaped piece simulating three flounces is finished with groups of cloth covered buttons. The bolero-like jacket has three inturned plaits at either side of the front and back and is edged all around with fancy braid. In lieu of fastenings there are silk frogs from which hang long ribbon coils knotted at the ends. Bands of the suit material finish the lace waist.

These drawings are reproduced from Dress, the beautiful and artistic fashion magazine.

The New Tailor Mades.

The very newest and quite the smartest tailor made of the season is the cutaway. The coat is tight fitting in the back, darted in the front and cuts away from the bust line rather sharply, extending some fifteen inches below the waist line in the back. The material of the suit described is a gray and white half inch striped mohair, with trimmings of black satin. There is a narrow roll collar and revers of the mohair. The collar is inset with the satin, and the sleeves and coat edges are trimmed with the same. A smart touch is the four in hand white silk tie, which knots just above the bust. The skirt is very full and plaited, finished with a deep hem and a simulated tuck half way between the knees and the braid binding. Accessories to this costume are golden brown gloves and shoes and a fetching toque of golden brown straw, trimmed with brown satin ribbon and a white marabou feather.

Embroidered Voiles Modish.

Embroidered voiles and chiffons are much in vogue for a rather elaborate style of afternoon dress, and at present embroidery is used so much on every kind and condition of dress that it is not considered inappropriate even for a shirt waist dress which is fashioned with the sole end of simplicity. For a house gown, therefore, that may be fashioned in any way that most pleases the wearer any amount of embroidery may be used, provided the dress does not turn out to be insufferably handsome.

A Simple Dressing Sack.

This dressing sack is simplicity itself, and it shows grace and utility as well. Shoulder and underarm seams shape the garment, which hangs loose from the shoulders, and it is fastened at the neck in front and across the bust, ribbon ties affording a dainty finish. The wide circular collar lies flat over the shoulders, leaving the neck and throat unhampered. The full sleeves hang free from the shoulders with the lower edge finished similar to that of the neck.

The soft French challis, china, India and other wash silks, lawn dimity in dainty flowered designs, mercerized batists, embroidered swiss or lace and sheer lawns are suitable for development.

Passed Examination Successfully.

James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a right examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Cure cures backaches and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Davis Pharmacy.

Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free Book. A VALUABLE PRESCRIPTION.

The average person does not realize how much the bodily health depends upon the proper action of the kidneys and bladder, nor how widespread disorders of those organs are. It is quite safe to say that they give physicians as many sleepless nights on account of their patients as do any of the others, and perhaps it would not be too much to say that, directly and indirectly, they are chargeable with as much sickness as all the other organs of the human body combined. As a result of a vast amount of careful study, many physicians are now using with great success in the treatment of disorders traceable to the kidneys and bladder a prescription composed of ¼ oz. Fluid Extract of Uva Ursi, 1 oz. Amet Cordial, ¼ oz. Fluid Extract of Liverwort and 15 ozs, water. This is administered in doses of a tablespoonful three times a day and while the treatment is continued, which, in order that all impurities may be eliminated from the system should be for a month, the patient is advised to drink large quantities of water. The materials called for by the prescription are carried in stock by every first-class pharmacy.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Davis Pharmacy.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong.

He neglected to take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first signs of kidney trouble, hoping it would wear away, and he was soon a victim of Bright's disease. There is danger in delay, but if Foley's Kidney Cure is taken at once the symptoms will disappear, the kidneys are strengthened and you are soon sound and well. A. R. Bass of Morgantown, Ind., had to get up 10 to 12 times in the night, and had a severe backache and pains in the kidneys, and was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure.
