"And The Walls Go Rumbling Up"

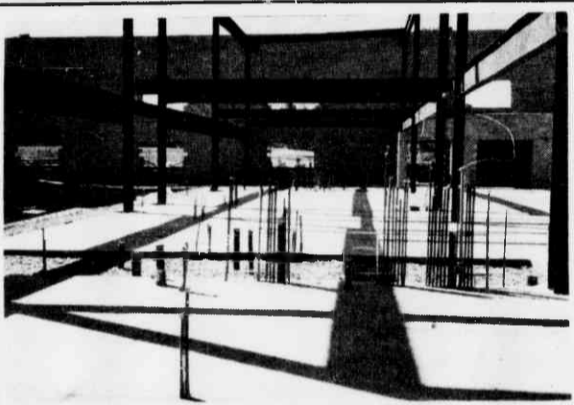

Masons starting at bottom of Athletic Center's wall and working their way up.

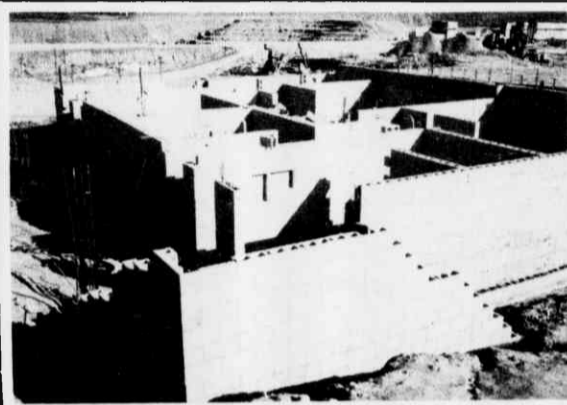

The first long braces in place over the gym.

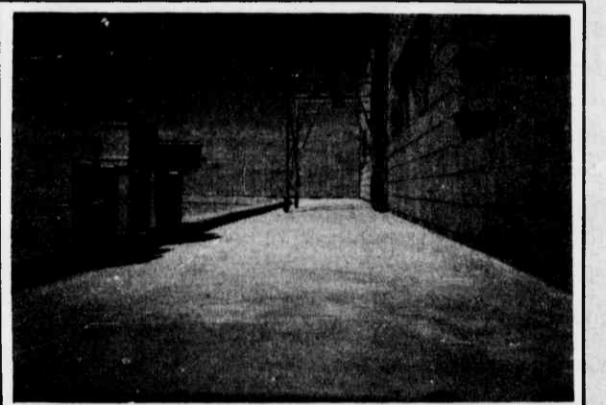

Raising roof on Fitness Center portion of building. This section is over gym.

Looking like a spring garden about to flower, Athletic Center's locker rooms await their dividing walls.

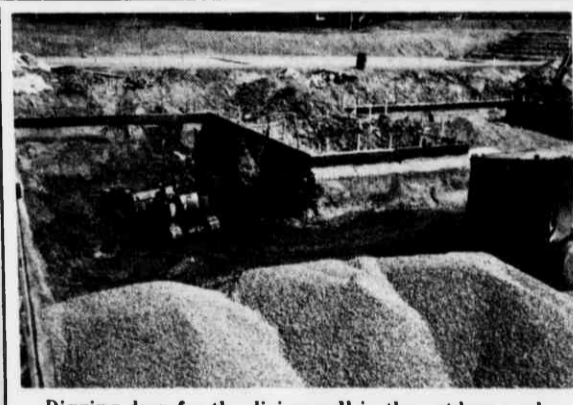

Bath house, standing with all its compartments showing, awaits its brick veneer.

Floor of running track above, circling gym. Final running surface to be laid on cement base.

While buildings go up, outdoor pools are going down.

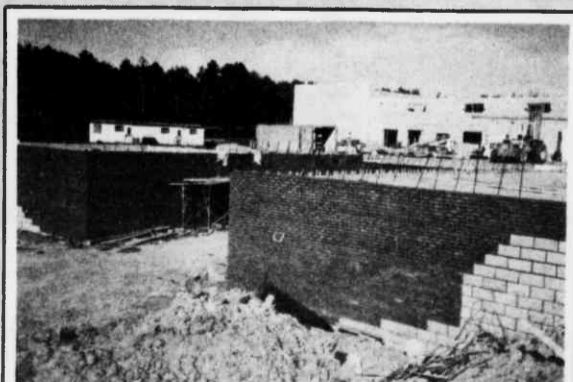

Digging deep for the diving well in the outdoor pools.

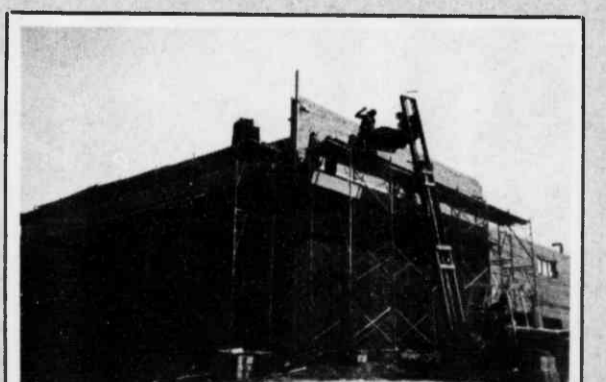

Getting ready to pour concrete for Education Center classrooms.

Now it looks like field of gravel, but plumbing and electrical work lie buried beneath. Soon cement will be poured for floor of Education Center.

What began at bottom is nearing completion at top. Result: a beautifully textured brick surface covering Athletic Center.

Brickwork completed at one of two major entrances to facility. Entrance faces future Temple Israel site. On ground (L & R) will rise Education Center, joined by a bridge over this entrance.
