76 Athletes Are At UNC On Grants

By BILL CORPENING

D. D. Carroll, chairman of the University Scholarship Committee, has announced that 76 athletes are now attending the University on athletic scholarships.

The scholarships, according to Dean of Admissions Roy Armstrong, are awarded by a special subcommittee of the University Scholarship Committee and are classified as "Grants-in-Aid" to athletes. Funds for the scholarships are endowed completely by alumni and friends of the University, according to Armstrong.

Six sports are included by the scholarships, said Armstrong and Mr. Carroll. They are football, basketball, baseball, tennis, track and swimming. The bulk of the scholarships, said Armstrong, is awarded to football and basketball athletes. No official tabulation of the number of scholarships for each sport could be obtained yesterday.

Armstrong declined to reveal the names of the scholarship holders for this year. He said it is the policy of the University Scholarship Committee not to publish the names of holders of University scholarships. He added that a partial reason for this policy is to avoid promoting "bad feeling" among those students who do not have such scholarships.

The sizes of the scholarships, said Armstrong, range from partial coverage ($100-$400) to full coverage (up to $1,000). A National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) regulation states that no athletic scholarship may cover more than the necessary college expenses. The size of each scholarship, said Mr. Carroll, depends upon the need and qualifications of the recipient.

Armstrong pointed out that contribution by alumni to athletic scholarship funds is a "good thing" for the University. He said as a result the University is free to award more scholastic scholarships.

Armstrong pointed out particularly, however, that University athletes were far from possessing "all brawn and no brain." He said an estimated 80 percent of all athletes graduated, as contrasted with only 30 percent of the regular student body. He remarked that the high scholastic standing of University athletes was due chiefly to more stringent scholastic requirements than those maintained by other colleges. Every University athlete must pass 24 semester hours with a grade of C or better in half his subjects to be academically eligible to participate in his sport, said Armstrong.

No athletic scholarship will be awarded unless the applicant meets the following requirements, according to Mr. Carroll and Armstrong:

(1) Every applicant must have the qualifications necessary for entrance to the University;

(2) Every applicant must be recommended by his high school principal as expected to fulfill his obligations under the Honor Code;

(3) Applicants must be recommended by the University coach of their prospected sport.

After applicants have been approved by the Grant-in-Aid Committee, final selections are made by the University Scholarship Committee. Although most scholarships are awarded only for one year, some are renewable for four full years, according to Armstrong.

N. C. Patriots Group Gives Its Objectives

A resolution of the Patriots of North Carolina, Inc. was released yesterday by Executive Secretary Allison James, in which the objects and purposes of the organization were stated.

Dr. W. C. George, member of the University Medical School faculty, is president of the Patriots.

The resolution stated the aims of the organization are "to promote the value of maintaining the existing social structure in North Carolina in which two distinct races heretofore have lived as separate groups, and the value of educating the different races in separate schools," and "to cooperate with and support our state and local civil authorities, agencies and committees, including state and local school boards and officials, to the extent that they are favorable to the objects and purposes herein set forth."

The report read that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and its "white collaborators" have as their announced purpose the breaking down of all racial lines. It said the NAACP has already demanded North Carolina laws against mixed marriages be repealed.

"It is believed . . . that we will be in for many decades of bad race feeling and strife unless something is done to counteract the leadership of such organizations and leaders."

They called upon the Governor, the Council of State, the Attorney General, the state Board of Education and all school authorities, the state Legislature and other public officials and agencies of the state, county and local government to use governmental powers and all resources to accomplish these aims.

ON HIKE YESTERDAY

Fifteen members of Carrboro Scout Troop 45 took an afternoon hike to Winslow William's cabin near Calvander on Saturday afternoon. Leaders were Ray Puckett, Sandy Morton, and Scoutmaster Ralph Howard. The boys participated in three scoutcraft contests—string burning, tent peg making, and wood chopping.
