A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

THE CARRIERS ADDRESS

TO THE

PATRONS AND FRIENDS

OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA WHIG.

JANUARY 1, 1862.

Hail Muse and thy spirits sway,
To guide me on my happy way,
Once more to greet my patron friends
And for the past to make amends
Wishing you my kind patrons a happy New Year
Peace, happiness, contentment, everything most dear,
The wish of the carrier boy is that all may enjoy
A pleasant merry New Year without a moments alloy
He prays every pleasure mortal man may know,
To enjoy every blessing earth has to bestow
That Omnipotent providence protect you from every evil,
Excepting the power of the printers devil
The newspapers influence I can't share
Must every enlightened mind secure
To the path of interest it readily pursues
Each day progressing the course of news
On every subject does it treat
How to sell, to buy and where to eat,
It tells you scenes of woe, plans of mirth
Of politics, matrimony, of produce worth,
The price of stocks, and obituary notices'
Each and every article has its office
To unfold with despatch every report
Is but our duty however remote
Gossip, scandal, vice, virtue, all combined,
A lesson well worth, being conned by every mind
Honest deeds, truth a glorious name,
Is our pleasure, our province to proclaim
Fiction a pleasing fancy obtains,
With enticing interest from reason reigns
The sway wisdom must eschew
And naked truth more welcome to be reviewed
Battles strife, all claim a share
For its heroes glory undying fame
In our columns must appear
All affairs that concern a nations welfare
One and all united must regret the strife
That rob our country of her heroes life
To protect and defend the blessed land of our birth
From the invasion of Yankees, from the land of the North,
Willingly our soldiers, yield life their country's cause to save
Soon by their bravery, to end the strife
Seek amends for their privilege do they crave
Revenge for their country's wrongs
Freedom and liberty, which by rights to her belongs
Oh! much would we say in praise,
Of the brave soldier whose dearest aim,
Is peace, liberty for the Southern Confederacy
Deeming life health nor strength too dear for her prosperity
May the God of battles, forever bless,
The soldier who hastens to his country's distress
Much longer could I on such an interesting subject dwell
But I must for the present my feelings quell
And beseech you kind patrons take heed
Of the Carrier boy who strives to furnish news with speed
Foregoing every pleasure to earn a living,
From your worldly means and competency giving
A fatherless boy identally begging what assistance
With this claim to your kindness and what to him is due
Remember neither inclemency of weather, heat or cold
Protects him not from your anger, if it happens to be old
Forget not that hard times are still harder with the poor
Great sum, with cheering smiles send him happy from your door
With the pleasant thought, the cost of a dime
The Carrier boy prays God's blessing upon all who are kind.

EDWIN J. HOLTON,
Carrier of the Whig.

IRISH WIT.

A couple of Irishmen, who had not been long in this country, met at an inn and called for dinner. As it happened there was a dish of horseradish grated for dinner.—Pat, thinking it was something to be eaten with a spoon, put a large spoonful in his mouth. The tears immediately filled his eyes and rolled down his cheeks. His companion saw it and said:

"Pat, what is the matter?"

"I was just thinking of my poor father, that was hanged in sweet Ireland," answered Pat.

But Jemmy soon filled his mouth with the same, and as the tears gushed from his eyes also, Pat said:

"What's the matter—what has happened to ye?"

"Ah!" says Jemmy, "I was just thinking what a pity it was that you were hanged when your father was."

WALTZING.

What! the girl I adore by another embraced!
What! the twin of her lip shall another mark taste!
What! touches in the twirl by another made free!
What! pouting, retired on another than me!
Sir, she's yours—from the grape you have pressed the cull blue,
From the rose you have shaken the tremulous dew;
What you've touched you may take—pretty waiter, adieu.
