THE ROANOKE NEWS

W. W. HALL, J. W. SLEDGE, } PROPRIETORS.

THURSDAY : : JUNE 8, 1882.

The Republicans are getting more independent movements than they want. They started a year or two ago, to divide the Southern Democracy by an independent movement, and they find their own party in the North running into independency with a vengeance.

MR. I. A. BONITZ, of the Messenger declines to allow his name to go before the Convention for Congressman at large. We do not see why he should not be a candidate. He would make a good run and he certainly would have all the support and help we could give him. Do not be so modest brother Bonitz. Let your light shine.

THE Republican leaders admit that they rest their hope for their party entirely upon the disintegration of the Democratic party in the Southern States this year. In this they will be disappointed. Their gains in the South will be slight, while it is perfectly evident that they will have a good many Waterloos to mourn over in the North. The Republican predictions about the success of their party in the Southern States have failed, except in Virginia, where the whole Administration machine was worked in the interests of criminal repudiation of public obligations.

"THE Republican party redeems its pledges," says the Cameron manifesto to the Pennsylvania Republicans. Yet it has neither abolished polygamy nor slavery in the United States, and has put itself forward as the champion repudiator of the continent. It said in Minnesota: "Don't redeem your pledges." It said in Virginia: "Don't redeem your pledges." It said in Massachusetts: "Don't redeem your pledges." It is saying to every Southern States to-day, "Dont redeem your pledges." It pledged itself to give honest and economical government to the country. It has robbed the people, wasted the public money and stolen the Presidency.

The temperance people in Ohio have by their zeal overreached themselves and tied their own hands. One or two years ago they inserted in the State Constitution a clause forbidding the issuing of license to liquor dealers. They thought that would prohibit the sale of liquor. The last Legislature passed a law imposing a tax for selling liquor which of course necessitated the issue of license. The Supreme Court of the State last week decided that the Legislative act was unconstitutional. The result is that while it is not unlawful to sell liquor, no tax can be collected of the dealer and no restrictions can be placed on the sale of it. Selling liquor will in future be profitable in the Buckeye State.

STRIKES of the iron workers and miners have taken place in the North caused by insufficient pay, although the protectionists claim that the laboring class is protected by the tariff and that they are enabled to pay higher wages with the tariff than they would be without it. The strikes this season and for the past four or five years show that this argument in favor of a protective tariff is worthless.

The iron interests are probably the most protected of our industries and yet there is more trouble with the iron workers than with any other operative. Free trade will do more for the working men than for any others. The rich monopolists are increasing their wealth daily by means of this iniquitous law which deprives the people of the ability to buy goods where they can be obtained cheapest.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The proceedings of the Democratic Convention held at Halifax on Monday, which we published elsewhere, show the considerable interest taken in politics by the Democracy of the county. Every township was represented by good men—men who have the interest of the party at heart and are actuated by no other motive except the welfare of the people. The utmost harmony prevailed throughout the entire meeting which argues well for the Democratic party.

The resolution instructing delegates not to vote for any candidate who was in favor of any vital change in the manner of electing Magistrates and County Commissioners received the hearty approval of every Democrat present and was adopted without a dissenting voice. It will be bad for the party in this section of the country if that law is abolished.

A sure cure for impoisoned blood, pimples, and sallow complexion, is Brown's Iron Bitters. It will produce a healthy color, smooth skin, and is absolutely not injurious.

We call attention to the notice published in this issue to the Democrats of Halifax county. The rules require that in every township there shall be elected a Committee of five and those Committees shall elect a County Committee. Here is the rule as laid down by the State Executive Committee:

1. The unit of county organization shall be the township. In each township there shall an Executive Committee consist of five active Democrats, who shall be elected by the Democratic voters of the several townships in meetings called by the county Executive Committee. And said Committee so elected shall elect one of its members as Chairman, who shall preside at all said Committee meetings.

2. The several township Executive Committees shall convene at the meeting of the several county Conventions, or at any time and place that a majority of them may elect, and shall elect a county Executive Committee, to consist of not less than five members, one of whom shall be designated as Chairman, who shall preside at all said Committee meetings.

3. In case there shall be a failure on the part of any township to elect its Executive Committee for the period of thirty days, the county Executive Committee shall appoint said township Committee.

4. The members of the townships Committees shall elect to any vacancy occurring in said Committees.

We hope there will be a full attendance at the township meetings as it is most important that every Democrat should have a voice in the management of the party in the county. Give one day to the party. Nothing will be lost by it.

THE following extract from a sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Talmage about Decoration day does credit to the heart of the eloquent Divine. How much better if the sentiments he uttered were entertained by the whole Northern people. How soon would then pass away the feelings engendered by the war.

Such sermons would do more good than all the politicians in the country could they be preached from every pulpit every Sunday. Here is the extract:

This annual decoration of graves finds us in more thorough peace than in any previous year. This last week the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church South has made over tures to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church North, and this closes the last gap ecclesiastical and at the last gap national. This year the graves of Northern and Southern dead are alike covered and without any protest. Time has come to cover up all the scars of battle. The dead are at peace. Why not the living? They suffered more than we. Cannot we, who suffered less, be at peace? The boys in blue and those in grey went down in the same tent for the night. They put their heads on the same pillow of dust. They have stacked arms. They have ended their march. They have fought their last battle. Sleep on, great host of Federals and Confederates, till the morning light shall break through the rents of the tents and the trumpets shall sound the reveille of the resurrection. It seems to me very much like this: Two brothers get into an awful fight and they are both slain. The mother hears about it. She comes down and she sees them stretched on the grass. She kneels between them. She puts one arm around George and the other arm around Thomas. She does not stop to think which was right or which was wrong; she kisses them both. And so our Northern and Southern brothers went forth into the conflict, and they fell. Now, this week, let the United States Government, the mother of us all, come down to the field, and putting one arm over the grave of the Northern men, and the other arm over the grave of the Southern men, pronounce her benediction upon them all.

It seems to me that there has been enough suffering on both sides to satisfy the worst man on earth and the worst devil in hell. At Arlington Heights ten years ago a Southern woman put a wreath on the grave of her fallen husband. A Northern man, with epaulets, came up, took that wreath, tore it to pieces and then threw it to the winds. He had the epaulets of a soldier, but he had no soldier's heart. I would that all the garlands that have ever been laid on the graves of Northern and Southern men, were lifted and linked together, each garland a link, and with that long, bright, beautiful chain this whole land might be bound together in peace and amity. That is the only kind of chain an American will ever consent to wear, and the sooner we put that on the better.

HALL'S STANDARD

FIRE AND BURGLAR PROOF

SAFES.

Read the following from N. C. Snyder, Banker at Grenada, Miss. Thousands of similar letters on file from all parts of the Union.

BANKING HOUSE OF N. C. SNYDER,
GRENADA, MISS., March 20th, 1880.

HALL'S SAFE AND LOCK CO., Louisville, Ky.

GENTS:—I can myself take in writing to you of the merits of the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe you sold me about three years ago, and which was so severely tested in the fire of November, which consumed here then twenty five buildings on one street of this city. My Banking house, frame building was fifty six feet long, the back room rolled with pine plank. In attempting to get the safe out of the house, from its great weight, it broke through the floor near the front door, and was immovable. The combined flames of a house near the rear of, and the back room of the bank were concentrated upon the safe, forming a kind of compound blow-pipe. No one acquainted with the qualities of iron, and will acknowledge that no severer test could have been especially devised to burn a safe than this. But on opening it, when it was still hot. The entire contents of the Burglar Box were uninjured. The Ledger stand. Some of the backs of small and slightly bound books, where glue was used, melted off, while the leaves of some of the cases and pocket books was from the intensity of the heat crisped up. I was away from home when the fire occurred and when advised by telegram I left for the fire to Scotland, where was learned over a frightful prophet, was asked if he was not scared. His reply was, "no, my father built the safe." (The proof.) So with me, I had a Hall safe, and I felt sure its contents were safe and valuable—such being my confidence to far entire security your Fire and Burglar Proof Safe offered. I have the pleasure to say to you that the new Fire and Burglar Proof Safe you have specially made for me has been for some weeks in position in my new quarters, and the skill of the workmanship and the beauty of its appearance are greatly admired. I should not be satisfied with any other Safe than yours.

Yours very truly,
N. C. SNYDER.
