The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 10 bales.

British brig Blackwood, Phillips, hence, arrived at Queenstown March 26.

The sun, which has been obscured since Sunday, made its appearance to-day and it was a welcome sight.

Norwegian barque Hjemmet, Ingmundsen, entered for loading at Liverpool March 11th, for this port.

Beautify your homes by using the N Y. Enamel Paint, ready mixed and warranted. Sold only at JACOBI'S. †

Water color paintings are becoming very popular in this country. But a certain class of men still cling to the old fashion of coloring their frontispieces with whiskey. They take no stock in water coloring.

We are glad to notice that the street brigade are taking steps towards repairing the condition of Rock Spring, on Chestnut street, just opposite this office, which has been in a very bad condition since the storm commenced, rendering the water utterly unfit for drinking purposes.

Freshwater Perch, Trout and Black fish Hooks and Lines. A full assortment and lowest prices at JACOBI'S. †

Petitions are being circulated to-day to have the line of pipe from the Water Works laid upon all the streets running parallel with the river, up to and including Eighth street. The petitions are receiving many signatures, especially from citizens owning property or residing in that section of the city.

The Oleander.

All parts of the oleander are deadly. A very small quantity of the leaves has been known to kill a horse. The flowers have produced death in those persons who have carelessly picked and ate them. The branches, divested of their bark and used as skewers, have poisoned the meat roasted on them, and killed seven out of twelve people who partook of it.

A gentleman in Warren, Pa., Mr. F. Baltzinger, suffered so with rheumatism that he was unable to put his feet to the floor. A friend recommended St. Jacobs Oil, and twenty minutes after applying it, all pain had vanished. The use of less than two bottles performed a perfect cure. He says he would as soon be without bread as St. Jacobs Oil.

The steamship Gulf Stream, Captain Ingram, arrived here from New York at 4 o'clock this afternoon, but as her usual wharf was occupied by the Regulator, which is not yet loaded, she was compelled to make fast on the other side of the river. The Regulator is taking in cargo very rapidly, and will probably leave early to-morrow morning, when the Gulf Stream will take her place at the wharf of the Company, on this side of the river.

Almost a Disaster.

The British schooner Edwin Janet, Capt. Roberts, which arrived here yesterday, from Harbor Island, laden with fruit, when about 10 miles from the bar, at the mouth of the river, on Monday last, was struck by a tornado which came near causing a very serious disaster, if not the loss of the vessel and crew. Captain Roberts saw the gale approaching and hastened to shorten sail, and had succeeded in stowing his fore and main sails when the vessel was struck. He had not time to take in his jib, and that sail was torn into ribbons in an instant. Had the schooner been carrying all sail at the time, the probabilities are that she would have been capsized and some, if not all, of her crew lost. Captain Roberts states that the tornado was fearful in its violence, blowing from the Southwest, and that for a few moments he thought the vessel would certainly capsize, notwithstanding, after the loss of his jib, he had not an inch of canvass spread.

We consider it one of the best of its class, and that is saying a good deal. Nearly all the reading matter is of interest to the "grown folk" as well as to the juveniles, and may be read with pleasure, instruction and profit by all classes of people. Four Lives saved

Dr, Bull's Cough Syrup relieved four of my children of a most alarming attack of Whooping Cough, form which their throats and necks became so swollen as to prevent them form swallowing. Nothin would give them even temporary relief, until this Syrup wns tried. One bottle, in one night, saved their lives, I verily believe

Notes from the Country.

From a gentlemen who arrived in this city this morning, from Chinquepin, in Duplin county, we learn that the rain storm with which we have been visited, extended inland as far as the place named, and that an immense quantity of rain fell, flooding the lowlands and swelling the streams to an unusual height. At one creek, the name of which we have forgotten, he was compelled to stand up on the seat of the buggy and his horse had to swim a considerable distance.

He also informed us that there are large quantities of tar in the country ready for shipment, besides which a great many kilns are being put up, some of which are ready for burinng off.

Farming operations, which had been vigorously commenced, are of necessity entirely suspended and will continue so for several days, or until the waters have subsided.

A Treat in Store.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Tabernacle, has been engaged to deliver a lecture before the Library Association of this city. He is one of the best lecturers as well as one of the most distinguished divines in the country, and his oratory, whether in the pulpit or upon the rostrum, is surpassed by but few. Mr. Talmage is one of the few Northern ministers who have had only kindly words for the South. We have read much that he has said concerning this section, and know that his great big Christian heart throbs with sympathy and love for our land, and that, in consequence, he will receive a cordial welcome from our people. His lecture will be delivered on the evening of the 13th proximo, and will be for the benefit of the Library Association. The latter is to be congratulated upon the success of its efforts in securing the services of this accomplished and eloquent speaker.

The Sutherland Sisters.

These ladies, seven in number, are now giving entertainments on Market street, and they are certainly objects of curiosity and wonder, on account of the abundance and remarkable length of the hair with which they are adorned. We visited them for a few moments yesterday, and found them frank, though modest; polite, though dignified; courteous, though reserved, and each crowned with a luxuriant mass of hair, such as we never saw on human heads before. One of them has a head of hair seven feet in length, and as she stands erect, with a height of 5 feet 8 inches, it descends to the floor and extends out upon the platform more than a foot. Among them is a quartette club of vocalists who discourse very sweet music, one of the ladies singing a melodious bass.

They are indeed a wonderful family, and are well worth the trifling expense incident to a visit to the exhibition. See advertisement in another column for price and hours of admission.

The True Story of a Hatter's Fate.

He was a hatter living at No. 366 Kent Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. He was out of work for the nonce, having been with Dunlap, the Broadway hatter, for years. His name was Michael Doyle. He had a friend who bought for him half of a ticket No. 95,785 in the February drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery by communicating with M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., and he received $15,000 cash. He had bought tickets for four years before. At last luck came to his door. He was at home. Who is the next to do likewise before April 11th, the day of the next drawing?

Celery.

Celery requires a great deal of moisture, and if the soil is not naturally moist it may be necessary to furnish some water. After transplanting, cultivvate often enough to keep the soil loose and free from weeds. About the middle of August the process of "earthing up" should begin, when the soil should be drawn up to the plants enough to keep the leaves upright, and when cool weather comes the blanching may be finished by taking soil from the space between rows and banking up to the tops of the plants on each side of the row. The "earthing up" should be done when the plants are dry. Be careful to get you seed from reliable sources, as old seed or that grown from inferior stock will be sure to disappoint you.

The Little World.

Such is the name applied to a series of 52 mechanical wonders which are now on exhibition in this city. They consist of men who have the perfect use of all their limbs, with none of the awkward and grotesque movements which usually accompany automatic figures; steamboats plying upon a lake; railroad trains; woman running a sewing machine, and other curious and interesting evidences of a wonderful mechanical skill and ingenuity which appear lifelike, natural and real. The "Little World" is the result of years of untiring toil and marvellous ingenuity, and is the handicraft of Mr. W. H. Robertson, a native of Fifeshire, in Scotland. It has been visited and admired by many thousand people in different parts of the world, and has been but a short time in this country. It was seen by thousands at the Atlanta Exposition, where it was exhibited by the inventor. While it was at Atlanta a young gentleman of the South, seeing and appreciating its astonishing beauty and financial possibilities, entered into negotiations with the proprietor and finally became its purchaser.

It is, as we have already stated, on exhibition in this city, on the West side of Front, between Market and Dock streets, where it may be seen for the trifling sum of 10 cents. There will be a special matinee for the benefit of ladies and children, commencing at 1:30 and closing at 6 o'clock p. m., every day. It is well worth seeing.

Literary Club.

The inclement weather prevented a large attendance of visitors at the meeting of the Club last night, but there was a full attendance of members.

Mr. E. A. Oldham, who is well known to our community as a young man of literary culture, delivered an oration on "War," which was well received.

The declamation, by Mr. B. G. Empie, of an extract from the speech of William Wirt upon the trial of Aaron Burr, was admirably done. The energy, fire and brilliancy of the language of Mr. Wirt upon that occasion, found their full expression in Mr. Empie's delivery.

Mr. G. P. Macindoe, formerly a Charlestonian, but now a resident here, rendered, upon special request, "My Uncle's Story" with striking dramatic force, and, upon its conclusion, received the hearty applause of the audience and a vote of thanks for the pleasure he contributed to the entertainment of the evening.

The following appointments were made for the second regular meeting, in April: Orator, Dr. Thos. F. Wood; Declaimer, R. D. Jewett; Reader, Geo. R. Dyer.

We are asked to state that membership in the Library Association is pre-requisite to membership in the Club, but persons, when admitted in the Club are admitted into the Library Association without payment of initiation fee, or further application. There are no expenses attached to membership in the Club. These are paid by the Library Association.

Contentment.

"He is well paid that is well satisfied." Contentment is a precious jewel, hard to find, but harder still to be won. No art can counterfeit it; no friendship borrow, and no riches purchase it. It may be stolen, but it is of no use to the stealer. It is poor in riches, but rich in poverty. Having nothing, it lacks nothing. It comes from being and not having. It supplies wants by enjoying possessions. It fears not the future, nor weeps over the past. It drowns the ills of life by remembering the good. It gratifies desires by subduing passions. It increases wealth by diminishing wants In every affliction mercy is reflected.

It dwells not with the rich, nor yet often with the poor. Its companions are health and innocence. It is not small-hearted, but roomy—room for every joy. It is not good for nothing—"the busy man ne'er wanted woe." It performs duties, and accepts Providences. It is the Saviour's command, and Heaven's greatest blessing.

Fashion Notes.

Little silver cats on slides are the latest fancy in lace pins.

Plaided and striped white mull muslins will be much worn.

Tinted mulls will not be so fashionable as cream and white.

Shirrings will be used on new light woollen and cotton good.

Poufs in the backs of dresses grow smaller and less bouffant.

Dotted and plain mulls are both brought out again this season.

Feather hats and bonnets are moribund. Paris has condemned them.

Evening dresses are trimmed with embroidered ruffles and tabliers.

Cloth and cheviot costumes are rarely made of two materials combined.

Tan, chaudron or copper shades, and buff are the leading colors in gentlemen's kid, goat skin, and chevretto gloves.

In spring costumes there is a tendency to use lengthwise tucks in clusters in the place of kilt plaitings and shirrings.

Embroidery in bands come on many of the nuns' veilings, batistes, and solid colored ginghams.
