THE TRIAL OF GUITEAU.

Fifteenth Day—Court Room Crowded as Usual—Guiteau on the Witness Stand—He Tells About the Oneida Community and How he Received the Inspiration to Kill the President.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The court room was packed this morning as usual. Guiteau resumed the stand and identified several papers. He was questioned as to the religious tenents of the Oneida Community, and said he had the same belief as was entertained at the Community, and also stated what was the belief of the Community. He then gave his experience for the past four years; how he tramped around trying to lecture and sell his book. He also gave an account of his visit to the White House and the State Department, in search of a consulship, and related how he received the inspiration to remove the President. At 12 o'clock a recess was taken for one hour.

After the recess the prisoner again took the stand, and was questioned by Mr. Scoville as to his experience with special providences.

Prisoner—"I have always believed most decidedly in special providences. There are four distinct times in my life when I claim special inspiration. First, when I went to the Oneida Community; second, when I left the Community to go to New York to establish a theocratic paper, to be the organ of the Deity in this world; third, when I left a good law business in Chicago to go out lecturing and working for the Lord; fourth, I claim special divine authority when I attempted to remove the President. These are the four distinct times when I claim inspiration."

Mr. Scoville—"I mean a special providence for your protection."

Prisoner—"I had abundant evidence of the Lord's protection all the time I was lecturing around the country. Two or three times I came near meeting with serious accidents, but the Lord spared me. Since I have been in jail I have been shot at three times and missed."

Mr. Scoville—"What special occasion before you were arrested were you protected by special providence?"

Prisoner—"I think the preservation of my life at Newark was one, when I jumped from the train which was going thirty-five miles an hour. Another was when I was on the Stonington, when we were all in momentary expectation of going down. I remember saying to the Lord that he might spare my life, but I felt perfectly willing to leave it to the Lord. I felt happy that I had been a faithful servant of his by trying to teach the Gospel. I remember that I thought if my time had come I could go with a good heart. Since my arrest it has been my constant feeling, all the way through; when I was shot at and missed, and when last summer a mob was hunting for me, I had no anxiety for myself; (excitedly) I have no anxiety as to the result of this trial. (To Scoville who attempted to stop him) Don't interrupt me. I feel that the whole matter is with the Lord and I am willing to leave it with him."

Mr. Scoville—"When you talk about a mob, to what time do you refer?"

Prisoner—"Last summer, when everybody wanted to shoot me or hang me. It did not disturb my equilibrium any. I thought that the Government and the Lord would take care of me. I want to say right here, that my idea is this—the first thing is, if the Deity will protect my idea, that he is using these men, soldiers, jury, experts, counsel and court, to serve him and to protect me; that is my theory about Divine protection. The Lord is no fool, and when he has anything to do he uses the best means to carry out his purposes. I say that he is using all these men to serve him and to protect me."

During this speech the prisoner showed much excitement, and pounded the rail of the witness stand vigorously with his hand, while he spoke with great rapidity of utterance.

Mr. Scoville—What was the first instance of Divine interposition after you went to jail?

Prisoner—When that keeper attempted to shoot me and put his pistol within eight inches of my head. He denied the whole thing, but I am satisfied I am right. Gen. Crocker said that it was all a mistake, and he hushed it up. I do not care to discuss it, but the fact is that the man came into my cell deliberately to shoot me, and the only reason he did not was that I happened to be awake.

The witness here described in detail the manner in which he had seized the keeper and pinioned his arms.

In like manner the prisoner considered the failure of Jones as providential. He added, "I say in relation to this whole business, the Lord inspired the removal of the President; that he has taken care of me so far, and he will continue to do so. If I had not the absolute certainty that the Deity inspired the act, I never should have shot the President."

Report and Recommendations of the Naval Advisory Board—Government Receipts and Expenditures.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

WASHINGTON, November 30.—The report of the Naval Advisory Board was made public by the Secretary of the Navy to-day. It recommends the construction of thirty-eight unarmored cruising vessels, and a number of rams, torpedo gunboats and torpedo boats. The numbers and types of vessels that will be available for service in the Navy at the expiration of eight years if the programme desired by the Advisory Board is adopted, will be as follows: Twenty-one iron-clads, seventy unarmored cruisers, five rams, five torpedo gunboats, and twenty torpedo boats.

The Government receipts during the month of November will fall a little short of thirty millions. The expenditures will aggregate more than sixteen millions. It is estimated that the public debt statement, to be issued to-morrow, will show a reduction of between seven and eight million dollars.

P. V. Denster, Democratic member of the United States House of Representatives, from Wisconsin, is a passenger on the steamer Lessing, which was compelled to return to Plymouth, England. In consequence of the detention he will be unable to be present at the opening of the next session.

BURNETT'S COCOAINE, UNLIKE ALL OTHER HAIR DRESSINGS, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the Hair, and rendering it dark and glossy. The COCOAINE holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

The superiority of BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS consists in their perfect purity and great strength. †

The National Tariff Convention—Tariff Commission Discussed.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The second day's session of the National Tariff Convention was called to order at 10.30. The subject for discussion was the tariff commission. The first speaker was John Thompson, Vice President of the Chase National Bank.

Mr. Thompson argued in favor of a protective tariff, and recommended the removal of all restrictions on silver coinage, and the making of silver dollars not only for the United States but for all silver-using nations. "Let us have a paper currency based on the precious metals for domestic use, and American currency for the outside world. The sooner silver and silver certificates constitute the major part of our money, the further off will be panic and revulsion." He also suggested that the people have the privilege of taking greenbacks from the Treasury in exchange for interest bearing bonds—the bonds to be given back on the return of the greenbacks—the Treasury saving interest while the currency is out. This measure would surely ward off a panic, and it would also effectually bar stock and grain gamblers from locking up money. For this purpose three per cent. bonds would be a proper rate of interest, so that currency would flow out when much needed, and return when not required for legitimate business.

The next speaker introduced was Joseph Wharton, who spoke at great length upon the expediency of basing our tariff legislation upon the report of the commission appointed for the purpose of investigating the needs of all industries. In his remarks Mr. Wharton said it was the settled will of the American people that our tariff laws shall protect our industries as well as produce revenue.

John Jarrett, President of the Association of Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers, a representative workingman, was allowed the privilege of the floor for a long period in order that the views of the working men on the tariff question might be made known. Mr. Jarrett, in his remarks, said he represented a body of about 600,000 workingmen, which he said was a solid phalanx of Protectionists. Fair wages made the workingman a Protectionist, and the reason that English and other working men preferred to live in this country is not solely on account of the high wages paid, but also owing to the fact that in America the workingman is recognized as a man and a freeman.

Col. Scriven, of Ga., as a representative of the rice industry, said that the rice crop of 1860 and 1861 was 11,600,000 pounds, and of 1880 and 1881 17,766,000 pounds. Only 150,000 pounds of the American crop were reported in the last year. Take away the duty on foreign rice, and it will result in the same monopoly that brought seven hundred million pounds of foreign rice into this country during the war. The average price of rice in the United States is 5½ cents per pound. This he considered was the result of a protective tariff.

The general farming industry was treated by ex-Gov. Gunnell, of Iowa. In conclusion Gov. Gunnell offered a resolution inviting all public men to take into consideration the question coming up before the Convention.

SAVANNAH.

American Public Health Association—Large Attendance—List of Papers Read—Reception and Entertainment.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

SAVANNAH, Nov. 30.—The ninth annual session of the American Public Health Association convened yesterday at the Masonic Temple. There was a large attendance. The meeting was called to order by the President, Dr. Chester B. White, and was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Axson, of Savannah.

The following papers were read at the morning session: "Contagious Diseases of Domestic Animals," by Dr. E. M. Hunt, of New Jersey; "Diseases among Texas Cattle," a continuation of the report made to the Association at the New Orleans meeting, December, 1880, by Dr. J. R. Smith, U. S. Army; "Report of the Examination of Hogs at the New Orleans Abbattoir during the Summer of 1881," submitted by the New Orleans Sanitary Auxiliary Association; "Trichina Spiralis," by Dr. J. M. Partridge, of Indiana; "Trichina Spiralis in American Hogs," by Dr. F. S. Billings, Veterinary Surgeon of Massachusetts.

At the afternoon session there were read "Kankakee, a Sanitary Problem in Indiana," by Prof. John L. Campbell, of Indiana; "Comparative Vital Movements of the White and Colored Races in the United States," Dr. S. S. Herrick, of Louisiana; "Disposal of the Dead," Dr. W. W. Curters, of Illinois; "Relation of Alimentation to Infantile Development and Diseases," Dr. T. C. Duncan, of Illinois.

In the evening a grand reception was given at the Temple. The meeting was presided over by the Mayor, and an address of welcome was delivered on the part of the city authorities by Hon. Geo. H. Mercer, and on behalf of the Georgia Medical Society by Dr. R. J. Dunn. President White read his annual address. The meeting then adjourned until 10 A. M. to-day.

The Association was afterwards handsomely entertained at the residence of Dr. L. A. Tallyant.

The programme to-day embraces, among the important papers, one on "Color Blindness and Railroad Sanitation," by Dr. Joyce.
