Temple Israel and Temple Beth El V'Shalom to be held at Temple Beth El beginning at 8 p.m. He will speak again at Temple Israel's Shabbat morning service.

On Sunday morning at 11 a.m., Mr. Siegel will conduct the dedication ceremonies for the religious schools of the two temples, for the Hebrew Academy and for the newly formed Consolidated High School For Jewish Studies. The dedication will take place in the Blumenthal Education Building at Shalom Park. The families and friends of all students in these schools are invited to attend and participate.

Danny Siegel received a B. S. in Comparative Literature from Columbia University and a B. H. L. (Bachelor of Hebrew Literature) in Bible and Talmud from the Jewish Theological Seminary from which he also received a M. H. L. through the Rabbinical School.

He has lectured and taught all over the U. S. and Canada. Wherever he has been, he has touched everyone within the range of his voice.

centers throughout the Southeast. They are five singers and four instrumentalists: Marsha Colbert-Smith, Rebecca Fleming, Pam Simpson, Tommy Coker and Jerry Colbert, vocalists; Stanley Colbert and Kathy Sipe are comusical directors and keyboard players; Bruce Dailey is percussionist and Phil Brown is base guitarist. Separately, they have ties to musical theater productions at CPCC, dinner theatre, regional jazz clubs and dramatic theater. Stanley Colbert has been guest conductor with the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra and assistant conductor of the Oratorio Singers; besides composing and arranging for the Cabaret Company, he is on the UNCC faculty and is Tarradiddle Players musical director. Their program has been specially composed for this special evening.

The evening's invited guests will include: Governor and Mrs. James Martin, Mayor and Mrs. Harvey Gantt and Congressman and Mrs. Alex McMillan. Also appearing on the program and a guest for the evening is Ms. Esther Leah Ritz, immediate past president of the Jewish Welfare Board, the parent organization of all Jewish Community Centers.

A tremendous amount of thoughtful planning has been generated by the chairwomen of this event, Bobbi (Mrs. Don) Bernstein, Anita (Mrs. Herman) Blumenthal, Sandra (Mrs. Leon) Levine and Jill (Mrs. Ed) Newman. They and the following have given generously of their time, talents and creative energies to this premier event: Louise Bernstein (invitations); Sue Applebaum, Lee Blumenthal, Rhoda Gleiberman, Fay Green, (mailings); Barbara Levin and Barbara Zelikson (reservations); Baila Pransky (publicity); Mimi Feibus and Mary Wojnowich (decorations); Mattye Silverman and Marcia Simon (souvenir program); Evelyn Berger, Margie Goldstein and Morris Speizman (entertainment coordinators), with staff assistance from Marvin Bienstock, executive director of Federation.

Invitations were mailed to all Foundation donors. Any donor who did not receive an invitation and would like to attend, please contact the Foundation office, 366-5007.
